

THAW'S AWYERS GET "GENTLEMAN ROGER" RELEASED ON BONDS

Driver of Car That Took Thaw From Matteawan Is Freed.

Claim of Canadian Citizenship Repeated By Thompson.

Jerome's Next Move to Get Fugitive Out Is Uncertain.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 29.—"Gentleman Roger" Thompson, the New York chauffeur who whisked Harry K. Thaw away from Matteawan in an automobile, walked the streets of Sherbrooke today a free man. Police Magistrate Mulvena admitted him to $300 bail after he had appeared for trial charged with aiding Thaw, a lunatic and therefore an undesirable, to enter the Dominion. F. Campbell, for the Immigration department, announced to the court that he wished to press first the charge of Thompson having entered Canada by stealth.

Thompson's counsel, Louis St. Laurent, acting with the Thaw counsel, objected to proceeding with this charge, and at their request the adjournment was granted until Wednesday, Sept. 3. William Travers Jerome, district attorney of the county of Dutchess, N. Y., who had been in the city since the Thaw case was first heard, was in court today.

With Thaw in jail for an indefinite period, probably until the expiration of the king's bench in October, and the Thompson case still pending, indications were today that there had been a decided lull in matters pertaining to the Thaw case.

Mr. Jerome's unproductive visit to Quebec, where he had hoped to see the premier and attorney general, brought the case back to where it was when Thaw was first committed to the Sherbrooke jail. Messrs. Jerome and Kennedy still were here today, but no move, if any, New York would make next they would not say.

Thompson's bail was supplied by the Thaw family. They have done all in their power to ease his position, following his veiled threat to "squelch" and reveal who was behind the plot that resulted in Thaw's arrest.

"I do not think I shall return to Quebec," said Mr. Jerome. "We did not see the premier; he was not in town. I cannot say now what will be my next step."

"Gentleman Roger," dressed neatly in a gray suit, came into court at 10:05 o'clock. He had told his lawyers that he would plead not guilty and insist that he was a Canadian subject, having been born in Toronto, and therefore not subject to deportation.

Thaw evinced marked interest in the Thompson case today, as he thought might involve a subsequent test as to his own sanity.

Jerome was one of the first to appear in court. Thompson held a conference with his lawyers, Louis St. Laurent, Thaw's lawyers, White and McKewen, who assisted him, and Thaw's brother, Roger, is so interested in Thaw's case that the Thaw counsel were anxious that no false step be made.

CONSUL'S CURIOUS COST HIS LIFE IN FLAMES

Spaniard and Wife Both Die as Result of Fire.

New York, Aug. 29.—Thousands of curious gathered in many lands and stacked high in the apartments of Hipolito Uriarte, for fifty years a Spanish consul, had a fire kindled in lighting a cigar today, and blocked the way of the aged diplomatist and his wife to safety. Uriarte was found dead, leaning against a window sill; his wife, Marie Louise, mistook a window leading to an air shaft for one opening on a fire escape, and plunged four stories to her death.

Uriarte was 82 years old. For fourteen years he was Spanish consul general in New York. His last year was in Canada. During his travels for his government he had accumulated souvenirs and mementoes in every country where he had lived. They crowded every nook and cranny of his apartments, and in the smoke and confusion resulting from the fire he was unable to get out.

The fire was kindled, it is believed, when Uriarte lit a cigar which he intended to smoke before going to bed. The aged couple had been up until a late hour celebrating the homecoming of their son, Louis, an accountant in Cuba.

BULL MOOSERS WANT GAYNOR FOR BENCH

Hope to Simplify Mayoralty Race By Judiciary Ticket.

New York, Aug. 29.—A movement which, if carried out, will eliminate Mayor Gaynor as a factor in the mayoralty race, took form last night with the unofficial announcement that the mayor's name would be presented to the conference committee of the Progressive party in Rochester, Sept. 26, as a candidate for nomination as chief justice of the court of appeals. It is understood the Progressives who favor the mayor, and other parties with judicial office hope that other parties will follow suit and name him for the place.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Denunciation of the Democratic senate caucus, objected to providing for this charge, and at their request the adjournment was granted until Wednesday, Sept. 3. SHIP ABLAZE AT NEW YORK

Oil Steamer Burns Fiercely in Harbor for Hours.

Blazing Blocks Drift About, Endangering Other Vessels.

New York, Aug. 29.—The steamer Burgomaster Hochmann, with 600,000 gallons of crude oil and benzine in her hold, still was a flaming torch in the Buttermilk channel this morning, fourteen hours after her cargo had been freed by a spark created by friction when two tin cases struck violently last night. The 8,000-ton vessel had listed fifteen feet to port at 9 o'clock, and the water was then within a few inches of her deck.

A battery of three fireboats surrounded the craft and pumped water on her all night. Notwithstanding, she burned steadily. Blazing blocks of wood, dislodged from her steel frame, floated down the river menacing other craft. Nine thousand gallons of benzine had not been reached by the flames at 9 o'clock, and fire fighters were hopeful she would sink before the benzine exploded.

With a hiss that sounded blocks away, the vessel sank to the bottom of the channel this afternoon. The channel is shallow there and the superstructure remained above the water. Thousands of persons lining the water-front were swept back by police reserves, and a zone extending a block back from the river was established, through which no spectators were permitted to pass.

SECRETARY OF WAR SEES FORT SNELLING

Twin City Business Men Entertain Garrison on His Visit.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison arrived here from Omaha today for an inspection of Fort Snelling. A program of entertainment was arranged to honor the secretary.

A number of prominent men of the Twin Cities, including National Committee member Fred E. Lynch, met Secretary Garrison at the hotel here from Omaha. He was the guest of local business men at noon luncheon at a local club, and this afternoon is hearing arguments in favor of the enlargement of Fort Snelling.

UNWRITTEN LAW IS ILLINOIS MAN'S PLEA

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 29.—The "unwritten law" will be the defense offered by Everett Buck of Galesburg, Ill., who last night stabbed to death Harry Dalton, because he suspected Dalton, who is 22 years old, visited the Buck home last evening and quarreled with the husband. Buck thrust a knife blade through Dalton's left chest, close to the heart. Dalton staggered from the house and fell dead after walking a few steps. Buck was arrested.

THE INSURGENT DEMOCRATS, who yesterday demanded that the bill be changed to increase the income tax on large fortunes, apparently had gained strength, and insisted that they would force the party conference late today or tomorrow to make substantial increases. Senate leaders were prepared to grant concessions, but the insurgents were not satisfied that their proposals would fully meet their view.

Hitchcock's attack was delivered in connection with his amendment for a heavy penalty tax on trusts or monopolies controlling more than one-fourth of the country's production of any given line. Five per cent would be added to the income of corporations doing one-fourth to one-third of all business in any given line; 10 per cent for doing one-third to one-half, and 20 per cent for those above one-half.

It would apply to all corporations capitalized at less than $500,000. (Continued on page 11, fourth column.)

RUSH TO MARRY WHEN SILK MILLS REOPEN

Romance, Discouraged By Strike, Breaks Out in Paterson.

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 29.—Romance in the silk mills of Paterson has revived with the resumption of work. During the strike practically no licenses were issued.

SICILIANS ALARMED BY QUAKES AND WIND

Several Huts in American Quarter of Messina Are Wrecked.

Messina, Sicily, Aug. 29.—The seismic instruments here have registered during the last twenty-four hours continued earth disturbances. SEEK UNIFORM COURT RULES

Federal and State Judges Will Confer at Montreal Meeting.

Saving of Time and Money in Litigation Is Sought.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Federal and state judges from twenty states will confer tomorrow night at Montreal, Can., at the American Bar association meeting to formulate plans for a complete reform of the rules of pleading and practice on the law side of the supreme court of the United States and all Federal district courts for the purpose of eventually making uniform the practice in all the courts in the United States. The aim is to eliminate delay and reduce the expense of all litigation.

The method to be discussed will be to obtain legislation from congress to permit the supreme court of the United States, on its own motion, to reform its law rules just as it already has its equity rules and soon will make uniform the admiralty and bankruptcy rules.

A memorandum embodying the proposed changes, prepared by W. P. Hughes of the department of justice, is to be the basis for the reforms, which as is the method in England and thus gradually make uniform court procedure is every court in this country.

Follow English Plan. It also is hoped to obtain legislation to give the supreme court superintendency over the rules of pleading when the ship settled, but did not burn. Thousands of persons lining the water-front were swept back by police reserves, and a zone extending a block back from the river was established, through which no spectators were permitted to pass.

THE BUTTERMILK channel lies between the crowded South Brooklyn water-front and Governor's Island, the latter covered along the shore with army storehouses and barracks.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON'S PUZZLED BY REPORTS AS TO LIND'S PLANS AND ACTIONS

NO MOVEMENT BY THE ARMY

Gen. Bliss Has Full Authority Along Mexican Border.

Americans Are Leaving Southern Republic By Thousands.

Washington, Aug. 29.—There was no indication today of additional troop movements. Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the Southern department, which includes most of the troops along the Mexican border, has full authority to move the different organizations under his command without instructions from Washington. He also is authorized to call upon other departments for additional troops if in his opinion the situation warrants such action.

Consul General Hanna at Monterey reports that a supply of medicine has arrived from San Antonio, Tex., and is being taken to Torreon for stamping out the epidemic of smallpox and typhoid ravaging that city. An other supply received from Capt. Oliver of the battleship New Hampshire is being taken to Torreon by automobile.

Consul Holland at Saltillo reports direct telegraphic communications with Mexico City resumed.

Americans in Mexico are heeding President Wilson's warning to get out and state department officials believe that two weeks hence there will hardly be 1,000 of them left in the troubled southern republic.

Although many had refused to consider leaving before the word came of the president's urgent appeal, hundreds have been starting for home or abroad daily, during the last three weeks and it is estimated that nearly 10,000 or about as many as are still in Mexico have gotten away.

Of those now preparing to leave, 4,000 will need help from the government. The $100,000 appropriation asked for by Secretary Bryan some time ago to aid refugees, will be needed immediately.

Since last February, the state department has been receiving, between 4,000 and 5,000 refugees, furnishing money or transportation in some instances, and in others securing special rates of accommodations.

Department officials estimate that there were about 60,000 Americans in Mexico two or three years ago, and Ambassador Wilson places the number as high as 75,000. In aiding American refugees, the American Red Cross has spent about $25,000.

TRAPPERS DENY THE STEFANSSON CLAIMS

Declare They Are the Discoverers of the Blonde Eskimos.

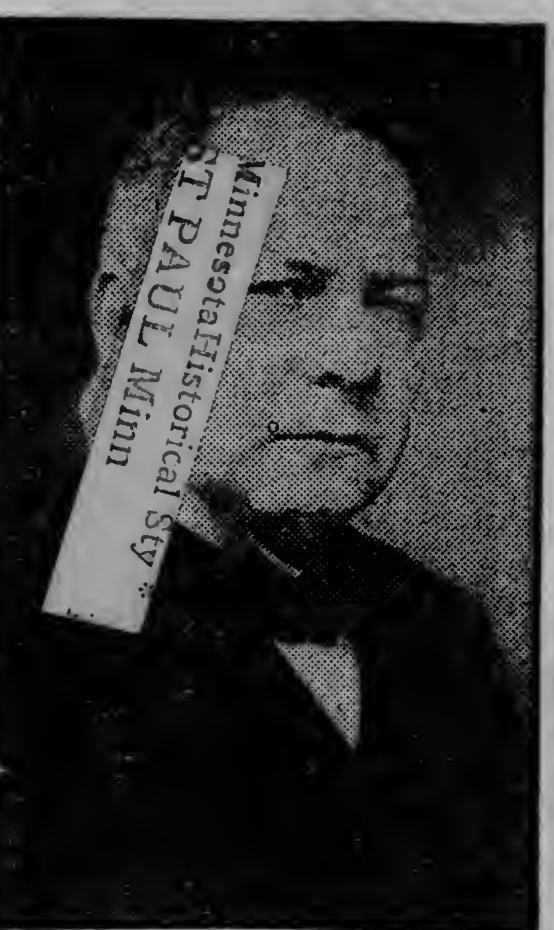

Edmonton, Alta., Aug. 29.—Three Fort Simpson trappers, G. I. Deschamps and Joseph and William Hudson, who have just returned from a long journey to the Far North, deny the claim of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, that he is the discoverer of the tribe of blonde Eskimos.

They declare that in penetrating the wilds of the Far North with an Eskimo guide they heard stories of a tribe of strange Eskimos, and that, guided to the camp of this tribe, they found Eskimos whiter than the white men who have spent years in the cold and winds of the Far North.

They claim they spent three weeks with the strange tribe, which numbered 300, and secured many valuable skins. When Stefansson arrived, they declare, they already were there, and the members of the tribe then told of other and larger tribes dwelling on the shores of the Arctic.

Trappers claim they pushed on northward for some distance, delaying their return to civilization, when they learned Stefansson had claimed the discovery of the tribe.

FAMOUS JURIST ON VISIT TO AMERICA

VISCOUNT HALDANE, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain.

LORD HALDANE IN AMERICA

Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain on Five-Day Visit.

Will Address American Bar Association at Montreal.

New York, Aug. 29.—The steamship Lusitania, bearing Viscount Haldane, the first lord high chancellor of Great Britain to leave his country for 400 years, entered New York harbor this morning. A reception committee, consisting of representatives of the United States government and of the American Bar association, whose guest he will be during a five days' visit in this country and Canada, waited at the pier to welcome the distinguished visitor to the United States.

After a reception aboard ship, Lord Haldane and his party, which included Sir Kenneth Muir-Mackenzie, clerk of the crown, and Miss Elizabeth Haldane, the chancellor's sister, were escorted to the Hotel Plaza, where he received newspaper men for the first interview he has given since the presidential election to his high office.

Guest of C. A. Severance. A sightseeing tour of New York late this afternoon was the first event of the many arranged for his entertainment. Tonight he will be the guest at a dinner given by C. A. Severance of St. Paul, a member of the American Bar association. Tomorrow J. P. Morgan's yacht, Corsair, will take him to West Point to dine with the president.

At midnight the party will leave for Montreal, and Monday afternoon the chancellor will address the annual meeting of the American Bar association in that city and receive the degree of doctor of civil law from McGill university.

His busy five days will end in New York Tuesday, when the chancellor will again board the Lusitania for his onward voyage.

Have Heard of No Cancellation of His Return to Mexico City.

Vera Cruz Tells of Placing of American War Vessels.

Gamboa Resents Warning to Americans to Leave Mexico.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Administration officials were puzzled today by news dispatches saying that John Lind had reconsidered his plans to go to Mexico City, and would remain in Vera Cruz several days. While it has been left entirely to Mr. Lind's discretion to determine his own movements, the understanding had been from official messages received yesterday that he would take an early train today for Mexico City to resume negotiations with the Huerta government.

Early today no word had been received from Mr. Lind indicating any change in plan. Secretary Bryan and President Wilson had an early conference and awaited further dispatches. The president hoped to leave for Cornish, N. H., late today unless developments required his presence in Washington.

Remains in Vera Cruz. Vera Cruz, Aug. 29.—John Lind will remain in Vera Cruz for several days. This announcement was made late last night. Only unexpected happenings or a special request from the Mexican government will cause him to return to Mexico City.

Senator Gamboa, minister of foreign affairs, has not asked Mr. Lind to return to the capital.

William Bayard Hale sailed yesterday afternoon for Havana. He will disembark there and proceed by the Key West route to Washington. He carries with him the originals of the Mexican government's communications.

Mr. Hale had a long conference with Mr. Lind prior to sailing. The communication attaches much importance to Dr. Hale's trip to Washington, where he is to place the whole situation before the president. Towards the end of the conference they were joined by Rear Admiral Fletcher. The steamship was delayed in port for more than two hours waiting for Dr. Hale.

Placing of Warships. The United States gunboat Nashville is expected to reach Vera Cruz today. It is expected that the warships will be distributed as follows:

At Vera Cruz, the Louisiana, Michigan and South Carolina; at Tampico, New Hampshire, Tuscan and Minuteman; at Campeche, Wheeling.

The transport will carry supplies for the fleet and the Nashville will be ordered. All the vessels have instructions to place the whole situation before the president. Towards the end of the conference they were joined by Rear Admiral Fletcher. The steamship was delayed in port for more than two hours waiting for Dr. Hale.

COPPER COUNTRY INQUEST RESUMED

Union Men Claim Deputies Shot Strikers in Cold Blood.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The inquest into the killing of strikers two weeks ago at the Champion mine by deputies and detectives, following an attempt made by the deputies to arrest two strikers for an alleged disturbance of peace, was continued at Houghton this morning.

The Federation of Miners' attorneys introduced the testimony of sixteen more witnesses to show that the strikers did not fire at the deputies, and that the killing was cold blooded and the shooting unnecessary. The defense will also introduce testimony. The six officers held on a technical charge of murder will appear before the inquest, but will not testify.

There were no strike disorders last night or this morning beyond an attack on another mine, at Osceola, which kept nearly everyone indoors.

The state troops here were redeployed again by the departure of 150 men. There are 1,000 militiamen still on duty and it was announced that there will be no further reduction for the present.

Sherbrooke, N. D., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—An appraisal of the estate of Pingal Enger, a prominent Steele county farmer who died Wednesday, reveals that he was the owner of twenty sections of choice steel, trail and Grand Forks county farming lands, the total acreage being 16,400 acres.

of his nine sons should receive a full section of land. Mr. Enger homesteaded in Steele county in 1871, and marketed his first grain at Fargo, seventy-one miles distant. He was the first Scandinavian to settle in Steele county, though it is now one of the strongest Scandinavian counties in North Dakota.

DULUTH IS ENTERTAINING RURAL LETTER CARRIERS

Nearly Every County in Minnesota Represented at Convention.

Congressman Manahan Will Give Chief Address of Meeting.

Duluth is entertaining about 160 rural letter carriers today, delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the Minnesota Rural Letter Carriers' association, which opened at the Commercial clubrooms this morning.

Almost every county in Minnesota is represented at the convention, and the attendance is the best ever recorded at a meeting of the association. Many of the delegates are accompanied by their wives and other members of their families.

The feature address of the convention will be given tomorrow afternoon by Congressman Manahan, congressman-at-large from Minnesota. Mr. Manahan, who is now in Minneapolis, will arrive tomorrow morning.

The convention opened this morning with President J. Drew, Red Wing, in the chair. Postmaster A. P. Cook of Duluth gave the opening address. The assembly sang "America," led by W. W. Schaub of Duluth. Rev. W. F. Hovis, pastor of Endion M. B. church, gave the invocation. Mr. Cook presented the gavel to President Drew, who introduced the speakers.

Mr. Prince commended the efficiency of the postal service in general and that given by the rural letter carriers particularly. He referred to his own work in the postal service as a youth and remarked upon the efficiency developed and the extensions made in the service in the last ten years. He said the establishment of the parcel post and the postal savings bank has made the postoffice department more than ever a great branch of the public service.

Efficient Service. The response was made by Vice President R. H. McKay of Rush City, who commented upon the extent of the rural mail service. He said that one-fourth of the employees of the postoffice department are in the rural service and that branch of the postal work is only in its infancy. He said that responsibilities have increased with the inauguration of the parcel post system, but the rural carrier goes on faithfully performing his duties, certain that reward will come in shape of ample recognition. He said government reports have shown that the rural service ranks highly in efficiency and integrity and he urged upon the organized carriers to maintain that standard.

President Drew's address was a short message on the subject of organization. He said that the carrier should be a member of the association, for his own good and for the good of the service. He said the rural delivery is the most important branch of the postal service and he demanded the serious attention of the carriers to their responsibilities with a proper appreciation of what is required of them.

The roll call of officers, reading of the journal, report of the committee on credentials, appointment of committees and the report of the committee on the program of the convention were taken on the program by Postoffice Inspector W. F. Monroe of Duluth.

Afternoon Session. This afternoon's meeting opened with a vocal solo by H. Leeb of Winnebago. The question box was conducted by the program committee. Mr. Monroe gave a talk on the department's work. E. W. Huntley of Rush City spoke of exceptions to Department Regulations. A roads symposium was participated in by H. F. Hines of Cannon Falls, Harry E. Robie of Albert Lea, and H. H. Lobb of Winnebago. A symposium on organization work was given by H. Wilson of Olivia, J. F. McNally of Little Falls and H. F. Moran of Slayton. This evening the delegates will be entertained at a boat ride around the harbor, leaving the Fifth avenue dock at 8:30. Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock, a boulevard drive will start from the McKay hotel. The early drive is necessary as the meeting will open at 9:30.

Morning Session. 9:30 a. m.—Roll call of delegates. Address—The Problems of a Fraternal Organization, Mrs. Lucy E. Eddy, Duluth. Executive session—Report of secretary, F. H. Hesselroth, Brahm. FARM VALUATIONS RIDICULOUSLY LOW Granger, N. D., Legislators Look Out for Their Property.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cass county lands are listed the heaviest for taxation of any county in the state and still the figures are ridiculously low when the value of the land is taken into consideration. As a result of the large membership of the farmers in the legislature they are the most lightly taxed that amount of any county of the state, not only on realty but on personal property.

Assessed at $7.50 an Acre. Cass county lands are assessed at $7.50. At a 40 per cent valuation, which is the lowest legal rate when the value of the land is taken into consideration, that makes a total value of the land at $10.50. There is probably not a farm in the county that could be purchased for twice that amount of money of every ten in the county could be sold from $50 to $100 per acre.

Trail county was second in valuation at $7.41. Richland third with $6.59. Grant fourth with $6.44. Steele fifth and Walsh sixth. Because of the absence of railroads McKendee and McIntosh are the lowest, the former at $2.03 and the latter at $2.66. Railroads are now under construction in those counties and values will be advanced.

COMMISSIONER CHARTER.

Marquette Is to Vote Upon New Plan Nov. 29.

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 29.—On Nov. 29, if everything moves as now planned, this city will vote on the question of adopting a charter carrying the commission form of government, and if adopted it will go into effect probably the next day or as soon as the city council has a chance to carry the results of the election with the county clerk.

The charter commission finally wound up its work Wednesday evening at a lengthy session held in the council chamber of the city hall. The last resolutions covering the changes in approved sections of new sections of the proposed instrument were read and acted upon, and Commissioner Godwin introduced a resolution by which the adoption of which the commission adopted in its entirety, and provided that the charter be presented to the governor for his approval, in accordance with the provisions of the special election at which the charter will be submitted to the electors. HYGIENISTS TALK OF MAL-NUTRITION

Open Air Exercise Scored By Some Speakers at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The relation of mal-nutrition to mental defectiveness, and the possibilities of the penny lunch in the school, were discussed by the international congress on school hygiene today.

The international committee on school hygiene last night approved the arrangements made by the penny lunch in the school, were discussed by the international congress on school hygiene in Brussels in 1913.

The amount of exercise, mental and physical, that a growing boy or girl should have in the school, were questions upon which the delegates to the congress expressed divergent views.

By some who held that there should be more open air athletics, while others said a vigorous mental life is the greatest source of health and more to be desired than a sturdy body with sluggish mentality.

A few minutes of arm-stretching and finger-twisting cannot be called physical training," said Dr. William Stecher of Philadelphia. "We must demand at least one hour daily of muscular work, adapted to the child according to age and sex."

Oppose Open Air Work. On the other side of the question, Dr. Joseph Lee of Boston said: "The amount of exercise, mental and muscular development with mental fatigue."

In the section devoted to mental hygiene and the hygiene of the mentally abnormal child, Elizabeth Irwin, field worker of the committee on hygiene of school children, New York city, presented a paper on the particular need of mental classification in special schools. This is a subject which many speakers of the country have dwelt upon, and the opinion seems unanimous that immediate steps should be taken to secure classification so that the normal child may not be hampered by the mentally defective, and that the bright child may find its proper level.

SALOONS WILL BE SCARGER

Licenses Which Are Cancelled Will Not Be Again Issued.

Commission Will Try to Get Within Limit Fixed By Law.

The number of saloons in Duluth will ultimately be in accord with the state law, which limits the number to one for each 500 of population, as determined by the state or Federal census.

Several men have come to Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, recently, to ask if saloon licenses would be granted them at certain locations. They have pointed out that a number of licenses have been revoked, making the total under the recent maximum. For that reason they have been under the impression that they could secure licenses. Commissioner Hicken explains that it is the policy of the commission to grant no licenses to replace those which have been revoked. He says that no new licenses will be issued until the number is under the limit fixed by the state law. On a basis of 80,000 population that would mean not to exceed 160 saloons in Duluth. The number is now something less than 150, but the law provided that it should not operate against saloons already licensed at the time. It was passed.

It was believed that the strict law enforcement policy of the commission would compel a number of saloons to go out of existence for lack of business. But thus far, except for those saloons, the licenses of which have been taken away from them, the number is practically unchanged. Many places closed, but one was reopened shortly afterwards and the other will start again next week.

NO STRIKES BY UNIONS

Labor Day Will Mark Close of Most Peaceful Year.

Three Big Strikes of Year Were Among Unorganized Men.

The year that will end on Labor day has been the most peaceful in the history of local labor unions. There has been but one strike involving a labor union, the street car strike, and that was one that was called before a union was organized.

This is considered in labor circles a very remarkable record and one to be proud of. It is believed that much of the credit for this remarkable record is due to the sane and very sensible work that has been accomplished by the labor union leaders of Duluth. Labor men point out that the organization of the wage earners has proved a link between employer and employee, instead of proving a source of continual strife between the man who employs and the man who labors.

The strike of the sawmill men is pointed to as one of the misunderstandings that arose during the year between the employer and the employed, and the labor leaders point out that the employers found it very easy in this case to break the strike of the unorganized wage earners.

Another example alluded to by union leaders is the strike of the ore dock workers. Both of these strikes occurred among laborers that were unorganized, and it is held up as an example by organized labor leaders that the only strikes of the past year were strikes occurring among unorganized labor.

It is pointed out that labor unions are in better shape today than at any time since the lockout of 1907. Some that were not recognized then have completely regained their standing according to the statement of labor leaders. Also it is pointed out, building trades unions are fully 100 per cent stronger at the present time than at any time since 1907. It is further claimed that all of the trades unions are stronger and are being more generally recognized.

Amusement Notes.

Students of penology will find great assistance in their fight for better conditions in state prisons in the dissemination of the brilliant two-part dramatic subject entitled "The Fight for Right," a picture, dealing with the prison labor question, the story of which was written by the well-known author, James Oppenheim, who is said to have made a study of the subject. It is being shown at the Lyceum. The picture depicts the conditions complained of that the National Committee of Prison Labor has given it an unqualified endorsement. The scene of the picture is a prison in the town of which a knitting company is the principal industry. This company is suddenly compelled to close its works because Durand has made a contract with the prison authorities to put in a knitting plant and the company which employs free labor, cannot compete with the prison labor. John and his brother Joe are thrown out of work and hard pressed for money to procure medicine for their mother who is taken ill. In this extremely Joe attempts to rob the safe of Durand, the cause of the trouble, but is caught in the act and sent to prison where he is put to work on the prison machinery. The balance of the story is made up of the brave struggle of his sister and brother to free him from the prison. The picture is a very clever comedy and the scenes as usual are very interesting.

An unpublished manuscript of Mascagni, the famous Italian composer, is in the possession of Mme. Della Rosa, the Italian singer appearing at the Duluth Orpheum this week.

Mme. Della Rosa was a pupil of Mascagni in Naples. The famous composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana" was much taken with the promise of his young pupil, and when she left him made her promise that he would publish it. It is a serenade, and Mme. Rosa and her partner sing it as a duet. The second number in their present act. Many musicians who have heard it have wondered that the selection was, as it has the haunting melody which distinguishes the Italian composer's work, but nobody recognized it.

Mme. Rosa and Marcello are Italians and have spent most of their professional career in France and Spain. They sang in the Opera Comique in Paris and in the Opera in Madrid. Mme. Rosa, singing in the Opera Comique, and Marcello, singing in the Opera Comique, are the only two who have been in the city in which they are appearing. Neither of them speak English, and they know nothing of American vaudeville methods. They are, however, very clever and necessary of preparing a list of their song numbers for the program, and the audience has no knowledge of what they were singing. Their manager, a seafarer from "Il Trovatore," the serenade mentioned above, and a Spanish bolero.

Another interesting road show opened yesterday at the Empress theater for the remainder of the week. Headlining the bill is the clever sketch presented by Mr. and Mrs. Thornton. The sketch introduces a realistic railroad station. The scenery is composed of a small station, alongside the boxcar station, where the station agent fishes, to the siding and tracks running to the rear of the stage.

Mr. Friel plays the old station agent and introduces some very good comedy during his monologue act at the opening. He knows all the names of the neighbors and visitors in the town while he is fishing alongside his station. Mrs. Friel comes in and wants to know when she can get to town. Then she comes in and introduces some very clever tricks.

A good comedy act is presented by Hunt and Ross, who have themselves "500 pounds of comedy." They are both heavyweights and there is a heavy lifting in their act. They tip the scales at a quarter of a ton. But their comedy is light and their singing, the strongest part of the bill this week. "Down Chesapeake Bay" scored a hit, the performers having been on several times at the close of the number yesterday.

A successful man, North of Silver and North takes all laurels and he proved a great asset to the song and dance act presented by the couple yesterday. He plays a country boy, who just come to town and wants to meet a girl who knows a friend of his. Of course he runs right into the girl, but the situation is amusing. "The Bachelor," a comedy film, closes the bill and will continue until tomorrow evening with daily matinees.

The feature entitled "The Child of the Sea," shown at the Tex last evening, was well received by a large and enthusiastic audience. The story is built around the character of the little and is interwoven with a thread of love throughout to make it very interesting. The picture is shown in the light revolving, the waves, the rocks, etc., are realistic and picturesque. The comedy, "Come Seven, Come Seven," is a scream. Another drawn out and funny by Mrs. Runkel. Mr. Runkel and Miss Barry make the program one of exceptional merit. It will continue for the rest of the week.

The Indian feature at the Lyric, the "Snake," received considerable comment, especially the real Indian snake dance with live snakes. Mona Darkfeather shows her ability and display of nerve in this feature that is stirring and wonderful.

The Odium program is well worthy of mention, the headliner being a comedy drama featuring Margaret Fisher in "Sally Scraggs, the Housemaid," a picture story that brings both tears and smiles. It is one of the best Miss Fisher ever appeared in.

MONEY BILL IS APPROVED

Democratic Caucus Agrees to It By Vote of 163 to 9.

Passage By the House Within Ten Days Is Predicted.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The administration currency bill, after nearly three weeks of discussion, was finally approved by the house Democratic caucus last night by a vote of 163 to 9.

The nine dissenters are Representatives Henry, Eagle and Calloway of Texas; Hardwick of Georgia; Lobeck of Nebraska; Buchanan and Fowler of Illinois; Neely of Kansas, and Sisson of Mississippi.

After agreeing to the bill, the caucus adopted a resolution, by an almost unanimous vote, declaring the bill to be a party measure, and that "members of this caucus are pledged for the bill to its final passage, without amendment provided, however, the banking and currency committee may offer amendment in the house."

The feature of the day's session was the adoption of a committee amendment as a substitute for the section on bank reserves, which in effect simply served to clarify the section as originally drawn.

The measure will be introduced in the house by Chairman Glass and referred immediately to the banking and currency committee, which will meet next Tuesday.

It is expected that the bill will at once be reported back to the house, which Mr. Glass predicted would pass it within ten days, many Republicans having indicated their purpose to support it.

There has not been written into the bill from one end to the other a single sentence, except by the initiative of the banking and currency committee itself, which has altered in the remotest degree the essential portions of the bill as originally reported by the committee to the caucus.

"The bill established twelve original reserve banks with a capital of not more than $5,000,000 each, to which the reserve money of member banks, estimated at about $410,000,000 in the aggregate. They also receive the government deposits, estimated at from $150,000,000 to $250,000,000.

"Over the whole system of regional reserve banks is to be a Federal reserve board, consisting of seven members. This board is given extensive powers of supervision, examination and control.

"The measure provides an advisory council of bankers, without actual power, composed of one member from each of the twelve regional reserve districts."

DYNAMITE UNDER FEET.

Milwaukee Police Official Unaware of Danger Menacing Him.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—For two days Col. William Paulus, station keeper at the central police station, rested his feet on a neatly tied package which had been placed beneath his desk. For two days Mr. Paulus lit his pipe and threw the matches beneath his desk and now says that he is the luckiest mortal on earth and that he is through smoking and resting his feet on anything.

This sudden resolution came about when Mr. Paulus investigated the package foot rest and discovered that it contained 800 dynamite caps and eight pounds of dynamite.

A woman entered the station on Monday and handed the package to an officer saying that she had found it. The officer, not wishing to spoil the appearance of the station keeper's desk, placed the package beneath it, but it had been impossible for Mr. Paulus to ascertain which one of the officers was so kind as to place enough dynamite to blow the whole police station off the earth right beneath his desk.

The official is now circulating a petition among his fellows for the construction of a vault for strange packages.

GRAFT IN MEAT DEAL.

Packing House Employee Alleged to Have Tendered Bribe in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—George B. Daly, manager of the Milwaukee branch of the Cudahy Packing company, was caught yesterday in the net of District Attorney Edward J. Yockey, who is making an extensive "graft" investigation among Milwaukee county institutions.

Daly is charged with offering bribes to Dr. William F. Beutler of the Milwaukee county insane asylum and to John Falbe, steward of the asylum. It is alleged in both cases Daly sought to secure the meat trade of the county institutions by offering money to officers in charge of purchasing provisions.

Daly was arrested late yesterday and is out on bail of $2,000.

TOUGH YOUTH IS RETURNED TO PARENTS.

Waukegan, Wis., Aug. 29.—Six-year-old Richard Tuolovsky, Racine, recently sentenced after a career of various crimes to the reform school here to remain until he reaches his majority, has been returned to his parents for the reason that the state is helpless to reform him. Were he two years older the industrial school could receive him, but the law makes no provision for delinquent infants.

—The initial step towards municipal ownership of the electric lighting and water plant was taken when President Wilson of the council, appointed a committee consisting of City Attorney McPartlin, Clerk Fraser and himself to secure options on sites. The one most favorably considered is at the foot of First street.

As soon as the site is obtained, bids will be asked for the construction of the building and for the installation of equipment. It is planned to conduct a city water plant in conjunction with the power plant, and bids will also be asked for pumping machinery.

Aldermen Lits and Koenke and Health Officer Swinnerton were appointed a committee to ascertain the location for an intake pipe for the pumping plant, with reference to the public health.

ROBERT G. MALCOLM.

John F. McDonald, president of the Duluth branch of the National Association of Mail Carriers, and Robert G. Malcolm, chairman of the committee in charge of the local benefit fund, and vice president of the Minnesota branch of the association, left yesterday for San Francisco to attend the annual convention of the national organization.

The convention at San Francisco will assemble tomorrow morning and the sessions will continue daily until the following Saturday evening. There will be delegates present from every branch association in the United States, with a large number of national speakers and government officials from Washington. The local delegates have been instructed to fight for the Hamill retirement bill, which is to be the most important issue to be taken up during the convention. Every delegate to the gathering this year has been instructed to vote for the bill, which provides for retirement on a percentage of salary after twenty-five years of service.

Mr. Malcolm is taking a month's leave of absence and will not return to Duluth until Sept. 24, while Mr. McDonald will return Sept. 14, after spending several days visiting relatives in the West.

SOCIETY ON GOOD BASIS

Associated Charities Will Continue Its Work in Duluth.

Miss Meeker Will Succeed Mr. Dinwiddie Temporarily at Least.

Miss Edna G. Meeker, for the past two years assistant to Courtney Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities, will fill the vacancy caused by his resignation until another successor is appointed. Mr. Dinwiddie's resignation will take effect on Oct. 1, but the society will continue its work, being on a good financial basis.

The position of superintendent of the city's department of public welfare, from which Mr. Dinwiddie is also resigning, will be filled by Frank Hicks, probation officer, according to the announcement made yesterday by Mayor Prince.

Mr. Dinwiddie yesterday declared he was leaving because better opportunities had presented themselves elsewhere. He has two or three positions in sight and as yet has not made definite announcement as to which one he will accept.

After Oct. 1 he will leave for his home in the state of Virginia, where he has a number of personal business affairs awaiting him. After a rest of a few weeks he will take up his new position, which will be along the same line of work.

Mr. Dinwiddie declares that the Associated Charities is now on a sound financial basis and that the new year will start with a balance to its credit. The organization now has an annual income from private subscriptions which nicely takes care of the running expenses, he says.

CAMPFIRE FOR "VETS"

Spanish-American War Soldiers Hold Reunion on Lake Shore.

Enjoy Feast of "Mulligan" Soup and Swap Stories.

Seated around a campfire which cast its glow for miles out on the lake, fifty veterans of the campaign in Cuba and the Philippines during 1898-99 and the Philippine campaign, swapped stories, sang and enjoyed a feast consisting principally of chicken "mulligan" and "canteen" refreshments last evening. The committee in charge had made preparations for entertaining about 200 veterans but threatening weather is believed to have kept many away.

A huge bonfire built of old stumps and driftwood picked up along the shore was started early in the evening and burned brightly late into the night. Hundreds of residents of Lakeside were attracted to the spot by the fire and stood on the banks watching the crowd of men enjoy themselves.

Under the direction of W. J. Louchie, the mulligan stew was started early in the evening. Two huge kettles of the stuff gave the "boys" all they wanted. The men present represented every branch of Uncle Sam's service during the Spanish war and among them were men who had taken part in the Cuban campaign, the Philippine insurrection as well as many who had not left the country.

The campfire was the third of its kind given by local camps of the United War Veterans. Three years ago the campfire was held at Lester park and in July, 1912, another was given on Park Point while local veterans were entertaining the state convention.

THREE TEAMS IN RUNAWAY

Boy Injured and Two Men Have Narrow Escapes.

Automobile Frightens Team Which Starts Series of Dashes.

One person was injured, two had miraculous escapes, one wagon was wrecked, and a horse so badly hurt that he was shot, in a spectacular "progressive" runaway on the central hillside yesterday.

The team of Sam Miller, drawing a heavy load of timbers, was frightened on Ninth street by the snorting of an automobile. The horses dashed around the corner and tore madly down the steep grade of Lake avenue. Pushed by the weight behind them, they plunged rapidly downwards at break-neck speed.

Farmer Hiss Escape. Between Sixth and Fifth streets the crazed horses smashed head on into the farm wagon of Elias Sobczyk, a Green farmer, smashing his outfit into splinters. One of Miller's horses wedged his foot in a wheel and the farmer tumbled completely out of his socket. The other was badly torn but was not hurt.

The farmer was hurled from his seat into the time to be missed by the heavy timbers which shot ahead the next instant to the spot where he had been sitting. Miller was thrown from his perch on top of the load and also sustained nothing worse than minor scratches. Miller's young son, who was on the load with him, did not fare so well as the other two, receiving a couple of bad cuts and some very painful bruises.

Second Relay. The crash fortunately ripped the harness from its fastenings to the farm wagon and his team might have been killed. As it was they leaped from under with one bound the instant the runaway struck their outfit. Miller's team was down and the farmer's horses continued the sensational runaway from the spot they left off. They scooted down the hill and frightened a team hitched to a milk wagon, which

ROUMANIAN FEUD IS FOUGHT OUT IN INDIANA

Five Men Are Dying of Wounds Received From Knives.

Indiana Harbor, Ind., Aug. 29.—A feud born in the mountain of Roumania was fought to a bloody finish in the streets here yesterday, and five men are dying from knife wounds as a result of the battle. The injured are:

John Campan, slashed and stabbed in the abdomen.

Samuel Metes, two knife wounds in the lungs.

Joseph Serbu, slashed all over body and legs.

Samuel Brassa, stabbed in abdomen and head.

Nicholas Georges, stabbed near heart.

The battle was fought in the Roumanian quarter. Nearly all the residents of that section are foreigners, but one or two Americans, alarmed by the cries of the combatants, looked out and saw the knot of men struggling in the street. What their shouts meant none of the Americans could tell.

No firearms were used. The fighters grappled and stabbed each other with their knives. Others probably were seriously injured, as more than one had to be helped away by comrades when the feudists retired from the field, leaving the five probably fatally wounded men lying in the street.

RAILWAY DISASTERS ARE DUE TO DEFECTS

Over 70 Per Cent in Quarter Ending March 30 So Explained.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Defective roadway and defective equipment, jointly, caused more than 70 per cent of all derailments on steam railroads of the United States during the quarter ending March 31, last, according to statistics announced by the interstate commerce commission. Of derailments due to defective roadway, more than 20 per cent were caused by broken rails.

During the quarter 158 persons were killed and 3,028 were injured in train accidents, these figures showing a decrease of 109 killed and 1,157 injured as compared with those for the corresponding period of 1912.

In other than train accidents, including accidents to employees while at work, to passengers getting on or off cars, and to trespassers, 2,086 persons were killed and 17,194 injured, showing a decrease of 30 killed and an increase of 1,480 injured.

METEOR SHAKES TIVERTON, R. I.

Tiverton, R. I., Aug. 29.—A meteor fell into Seacomet river here yesterday, churning up the water in a spectacular manner. Great volumes of steam rose and the accompanying report sounded like the discharge of a twelve-inch gun.

The meteor fell during an electrical storm. The crash, resembling thunder, was heard for twenty miles. Wind gusts were broken and crockery shaken from shelves, while at Island park, nearly two miles away, a merry-go-round was jarred into motion.

Persons who saw the meteor assert that it was of unusual size and traveled so rapidly as to appear from a distance almost like a lightning flash.

MANY LAWS TO SAVE LIVES OF WILD GAME.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Designed for the guidance of those seeking information on the game laws of the various states, the biological survey of the department of agriculture has issued a directory containing the names and addresses of the various state game commissions and wardens, with like information concerning the many associations devoted to the protection of wild animal life. The directory has been brought up to July 15. "The most important changes during the last year," says the foreword of the directory, "were the creation of the office of game and fish commissioner of Florida, the reorganization of the commissions in Connecticut, Montana, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Washington, and the reorganization of the Indiana, Massachusetts and Minnesota Fish and Game leagues.

In forty-five states and territories the enforcement of game laws is entrusted to game commissioners, wardens and other state officers; in Mississippi and Nevada to county wardens; in Virginia to city and magisterial district wardens; in Arkansas to sheriffs and similar local officers; and in the District of Columbia to the metropolitan police.

Comment is made on the growth of societies for the protection of fish and game, such organizations now co-operating in this work in thirty-one states.

MATCHMAKING BY CHURCHES

Religious Leaders Awake to Problem in New City Conditions.

Plan to Enable Young Men and Women to Meet Socially.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—An experiment is being made here by the Young Men's Christian association and the Young Women's Christian association which is attracting widespread attention. The aim is to enable young men and young women to meet socially under proper auspices. A series of receptions and dances is being given on the roof of the Y. M. C. A., with the avowed purpose of helping to bring in a great city to approximate as near as possible the normal conditions of ordinary social life.

This bit of news is chiefly worth noting only as a symptom of the fact that the religious leaders of America are awake to the social question. The scientists may talk eugenics until they die, but unless the right sort of young men have an opportunity to meet the right kind of young women, the whole scheme of eugenics will be as idle as a painted ship upon a painted ocean. The simple fact confronts the men and women who accept a measure of responsibility for the world's moral conditions, that hundreds of thousands of young men and young women are entirely devoid of any normal home life and of any opportunity to meet congenial young people of the opposite sex.

Courting Parlor Idea. Ever and anon some minister breaks into print with a proposition to establish a courting parlor in connection with his church. The idea is sound, but unworkable in such a crass fashion. Young men and young women do not care to be ticketed for purposes of courting, when they are still strangers.

Down in Washington a public-spirited woman opened her parlor for the same avowed purpose and invited people to receptions at her home. This was too heterogeneous and dangerous, as well as being hindered by the same limitation of having been placed too publicly. The purpose of any such aim is defeated when it is advertised.

Lodging-house Problem. The secretary of the Washington Young Men's Christian association recently delivered an address to the young men of the great cities. The old-fashioned boarding house was bad enough in its day, but it has now become a lodging house and restaurant, where there are no social restraints. The working girls in the great cities are to entertain friends, they are obliged, in the absence of their husbands, to entertain them in their rooms, which is most unwholesome and dangerous.

The new conditions are shattering the time-honored restraints and conventionalities. The laxity of moral standards that is giving the present day so much concern is in good part traceable to these conditions.

While there is a frivolous side to the idea of opening parlors where young people may meet, yet the question is really fundamental. Anybody who looks at the multitude of young men and young women who throng city streets is bound to ask himself, "Where are these young men to get husbands who will help to make homes to support the ideals of the republic?" The fact that the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are taking advance steps is calling for the approval of far-seeing persons, although some of the narrower view are horrified at the idea of a dance under Christian auspices. It must be admitted, though, that there are persons who know nothing whatsoever about the dance halls of a great city.

Matchmaking by Churches. One of the old criticisms of the Christian Endeavor movement and the allied young people's societies in the churches was that they were match-making. The criticism was in them the young men and young women became acquainted and proceeded to matrimony. The criticism was rather absurd, and it is no longer heard, for since the war of 1911, men and women have been marrying and giving in marriage and even the oldest fogies have come to see that it is more desirable that young people meet in the atmosphere of a religious organization, and under the auspices of the church, than on the street corners and in dance halls where they meet they certainly will somewhere.

As a matter of fact, these young people's societies are a not inconsiderable agency in providing social relationship and youthfulness for young women. They, with the Sunday school, are the department of the church wherein young people find a social circle. The extent to which the church is used by social boundaries is inconceivable alongside of the normal functions which it fulfills as a factor in which may be broadly called Christian eugenics.

Using Homes to Make Homes. There always has been, and that, too, in the city of Philadelphia.

At times, when it is desired, for the sake of improving the appearance, to quickly clear the skin, to remove redness, an adolescent pimple or other blemish, Poslam will prove itself invaluable. Used at night the improvement is noticeable the next morning. Poslam is unique in possessing this peculiar virtue.

In all skin affections, Poslam produces immediately noticeable results, stopping all itching, and rapidly restoring the skin to normal condition. Eczema, acne, tetter, salt rheum, all forms of itch, scap scale, psoriasis, pimples, rashes, etc., yield to Poslam as to nothing else.

Poslam Soap is without equal for tender skin; the ideal skin preparation. Every mother may rely upon its absolute safety and its effectiveness.

All druggists sell Poslam (price, 50 cents), and Poslam Soap (price, 25 cents). For free samples, write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York City.

KAID M'LEAN IS TO BE MARRIED

Scotchman Who Led the Army of the Sultan of Morocco.

London, Aug. 29.—The announcement of the engagement of Kaid Sir Harry Aubrey MacLean to Miss Ella Pendergast, daughter of the late General Sir Henry Pendergast, recalls the exploits of the Scottish chieftain in the Moorish empire. Soldier of fortune and adventurer of the best type, his career has been as spectacular as that of any of his contemporaries.

Forty years ago Harry Aubrey Vere MacLean was an officer in her majesty's Sixty-ninth regiment of foot. He was too poor to go the pace with his brother officers, so he resigned his commission and went to Tangier. He went to see the sultan of Morocco, Moulay Hassan, a grim old warrior, strong enough for himself, but worried about the suggestion of his heir, a puny, weak boy. There were pretenses to the throne, who were waiting for the old sultan to die to place force behind their claims. MacLean proposed himself as Moulay Hassan as a commander and military adviser. He should be equipped with modern weapons. His proposal was accepted and MacLean soon had under his command fighting men into good shape.

MacLean devoted himself for the next few years in putting down rebellions and preserving order. Then the sultan died and there was an insurrection when the weak son, Moulay Abdel-Aziz, was put on the throne. MacLean put this down sharply, he did several subsequent uprisings.

Meanwhile, Kaid Sir Harry had been in the north-western section of Morocco, and in 1907 MacLean attempted to capture the Italian who had become world famous in 1904, when he captured Ion Perdicaris, a wealthy American, and held him for ransom. Morocco, prodded by the United States, finally raised $500,000 to free Perdicaris. Kaid Sir Harry continued to live with her until 1905 when matters got so bad that he sued for a divorce.

HOG FARM THAT IS RUN BY CITY

Venture, Ridiculed by Farmers, Makes Good After Two Years.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 29.—The municipal hog farm is making money. This is real money, a big place of news, as big as the hog farm itself. It wasn't always thus, either. For months, years, this municipal pork-chop factory has been run at a loss, sometimes severe, other times just mediocre, and once in awhile it came out even—but never did it make any money for the city.

This all comes from education. Elevation of the intellect hasn't been tried on the porkers, but it has on the head of the farm, and since that day things have been different. So now the only municipality for the world is in a paying institution. But it took pork at 8 cents a pound and a University of California degree to do it.

The reason for all this gladness in the city hall is George R. Shuey, M. E. D., a graduate of the University of California engineering school. Shuey admits he scarcely ever saw a hog, other than the end sort variety, before going to the farm, but he also insists that he had some ideas which were valuable, despite the snickerings of the wise ranchers of Lone Pine. He is M. E. D. after his name is said to mean municipal in director, a new degree, conferred by his friends.

Shuey, shortly after he left college, became connected with the construction bureau as civil engineer. The city owns 100,000 acres of land in the Owens valley. Most of this has been leased, but there are 700 acres just south of Lone Pine which were used for various purposes while the aqueduct was being built. The idea of starting a municipal hog farm to enable the poor people to buy pork meat at greatly reduced prices popped into the head of a member of the water commission. A hundred hogs were bought and a man secured to keep the farm. The first thing noticeable about the enterprise was that it didn't pay, and the next was that all of the hogs raised were sold to the trust packers, and the poor people paid just as much as they ever did.

Two years ago Shuey was hired. The first thing he did was to begin putting the place on a self-sustaining basis. "The farmers up there made fun of me," he says, "but I believe, I will pay. I will pay from now on, he added. "In addition, it is my intention to raise a lot of hogs for a season will have a municipal cattle ranch. I have forty head of cattle on the ranch now, and won't be long before the people of Los Angeles will be enjoying municipal beefsteak. Pay? Of course, it will pay. I also have 350 hogs left, which will be marketed in a few weeks. The hogs are just what the packers want. They average 165 pounds. The packers want porkers weighing 160 or 225 pounds. Anything below the former figure or more than the latter brings less money.

"I also think any citizen who hogs at an advantage to his citizens. The hog farm would increase the amount of meat to be sold, thus in a measure holding prices firm. If not actually reducing them, and then again, if run right the profits would be enough to lower the tax-rate somewhat."

BUFFALO BILL

Denver, Colo., Aug. 29.—It is not true that "Buffalo Bill," Col. W. F. Cody, has ridden his last round-up. It is not true that he is "down and out." He has not "handed in his check," nor committed any other of the final things that Eastern writers impose on him in their sorrowful stories of his recent differences with his late partner, Maj. Lillie.

BIG CLAIMS AGAINST

New York, Aug. 29.—Claims of $5,000,000 against the failed United Copper company and its subsidiary, the Montana Ore Purchasing company, were revealed when Federal Judge Holt appointed Henry D. Estabrook a special master to take testimony on claims set up against the copper company by the receiver of the Astoria indemnity company.

The total claims filed against the

BATTLESHIP CRUISE.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Only nine battleships of the Atlantic fleet will make the Mediterranean cruise planned for this fall, and they will not be accompanied by the torpedo boat, as the original program proposed. Secretary Daniels announced that it had been determined that it would be incurring an unnecessary risk to have the destroyers make the return trip across the Atlantic in mid-winter, and that they would be sent to the Mediterranean during a more favorable season.

Demands Trials in Peking.
Peking, China, Aug. 29.—Both houses of the Chinese parliament passed resolutions requiring the government to try the members of parliament who had been placed under arrest before the supreme court in Peking. The government afterward hinted that it would comply with the request, but the deputies representing the southern provinces express their distrust of the government.

DEER RIVERITE
DADLY STABBED

Cut With Sharp Steel Instrument and Condition Critical.

Deer River, Minn., Aug. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Jones, husband of Mrs. Anna Jones, recently refused a new trial after being convicted of selling liquor to "poisoned" people, was perhaps fatally stabbed in front of the Jones saloon here yesterday afternoon by Frank Regelsperger, who is under arrest. Jones was taken to the Bemidji hospital.

Jones was telling the bartender not to sell liquor to a certain posted person when Regelsperger "batted in," angering Jones, who turned to Regelsperger and said: "There's no use in my licking you, for your wife will do that." Regelsperger made a lunge for Jones, and a moment later Jones lay on the sidewalk with a six-inch knife in his left side just below the stomach, and a second slash in his back, on the left side over the kidneys.

Dr. Farrell was called and after a brief examination sent a hurry call to Grand Rapids for medical aid and Dr. C. M. Storch responded, making record time. He examined the man and found that the injuries were very serious, but not necessarily fatal. Jones pleaded to be taken to Bemidji, and after administering first aid treatment the doctors ordered his removal.

Sheriff Riley took a freight train at the Rapids, and nabbed Regelsperger (without trouble). When searched no knife was found on him, and he declared he had a knife in his possession. Dr. Storch said that it was utterly impossible that the wounds could have been made with anything but a sharp steel instrument.

THE GULL IS SAVED.
Boat Reported Lost During Storm Still Floating.

Baudette, Minn., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steam launch Gull, one of the finest plying on local waters, that was reported lost in the harbor at Baudette's point, is safe in the harbor at Baudette's point. The boat struck a rocky reef and stove a large hole in the prow, it is said that one of the regular channel buoys had dried out of its course and this caused the accident.

Those on board were taken off on the Phoenix and the Baudette. Before aid could be secured the boat was struck by the two storms the latter part of last week and blown off the reef and out into the lake, but was not damaged.

The boat was partially insured and is now awaiting the arrival of the insurance adjusters, prior to having it repaired.

FAST TIME IN MEAT PRICES BRIDGE WORK GO HIGHER

City Crew Completes Repairs on Rustic Span at Lester Park.

Defective Timbers Are Replaced and New Planking Laid.

Record time was made by the crew which repaired the rustic bridge in Lester park, just below the dam, under the direction of Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department. Starting Tuesday morning the workmen ripped up the entire top of the bridge, including the planking, replaced defective stringers, sorted the planks and had the structure back in shape yesterday noon. The entire job was done in less than half a day. The bridge is probably used by more people each summer than any other in the city. It is one of the most popular outdoor recreation spots in Duluth and is visited annually by thousands. The structure crosses and recrosses the span over the beautiful stream which divides the grounds.

Some Planks Replaced.
Last year complaint was made that the structure was sagging somewhat and did not appear to be safe. The engineering division made an inspection of the timbers and reported that no present danger existed but recommended that it be given attention as soon as possible. Tuesday morning the repairs were started and rushed through at top speed. The bridge is approximately sixty feet in length. When the top had been stripped the planks were sorted so that those which were sound could be re-laid. About half of them were considered satisfactory. For the remainder new planks were brought to the ground. When the walk was put down the old planks were replaced. The effect, which rivals that of the gayest founder's holiday, will be soon. The bridge has another purpose. Should any of the old planks give way some time in the future, the new ones will be practically impossible for any one to drop through. The structure does not expect anything of that kind, however, as it is intended to last for a long time.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS.
Urges Minnesota People to Observe Labor Day Monday.
St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—A Labor day proclamation by Governor A. O. Eberhart, who is in Colorado Springs, was issued from his office here yesterday. It recommends that all business places in the state be closed Monday, Sept. 1. "That the day be observed by all citizens in a manner which will properly honor the man in the factory, the workshop, the mines and all engaged in any form of industry. In giving this tribute to the men who toil it is well to bear in mind the economic independence of all our people. To the employer and employee these words are especially addressed. The success and prosperity of the one depends upon the prosperity and success of the other."

Washington, Aug. 28.—As punishment for alleged political activity, Norman B. Conger, weather bureau inspector at Washington, has been reduced in grade and pay. After an investigation it was found that Conger had received his promotion in reward for his activities in behalf of Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, who had ambitions to become secretary of agriculture.

There is apparently no relief in sight from the high cost of living or the cost of high living so far as meat, butter and eggs are concerned.

The dealers, at least, hold out no hope. The only word they hand out is that the prices will likely go higher than ever. It will be noticed that the price of pork loins and of lamb have increased this week. Beef is stationary so far, but it is announced that a material advance may be expected before long. The cause, it is said, is that the raising of beef is not nearly adequate any more to meet the demand for the steaks and roasts that people want.

One of the executives connected with the wholesale meat business, was asked as to whether or not the taking off of duty from beef as proposed in the new tariff bill, will have any effect on the price. He shook his head.

It was claimed in a recently printed in The Herald that when Argentine beef begins to come into the United States with the duty off there will be no difference in the scale of prices for the reason that the same interests that control the meat situation here control it there—that is that the Armour, Cudahy and others are kings of the beef business in Argentina.

However that may be, beef is due to ascend soon. It is claimed that the cause of the rise in pork is that hogs in several of the leading communities in the hog-raising part of the world, are being swept by hog-cholera and the ravages of that disease are cutting short the supply of pigs for the market. Southern Michigan and Iowa, in particular, are having a hard time of it.

In the matter of eggs, the supply has shortened up considerably. To paraphrase a famous slogan, "America expects every hen to do her duty" but a lot of them are falling down on the job. Then, also, fewer good eggs are obtained from a case received from the country than formerly because of the hot weather. And of course it is well known among dealers that consumers insist upon pickable eggs. Some may doubt their religion or the reality of their duty but they cannot afford to doubt their eggs.

Butter Hard to Obtain.
Butter is harder to obtain. It is claimed. There is not as good feed as earlier in the year, and also, among farmers, the mountain head, so to speak, of butter—which, however, is not supposed to amount to anything more than a slightly mixed—there is a great deal of attention being paid to the crop just now and the dairy business is being neglected. This, of course, has its effect upon the butter market.

So far as fruits are concerned, preserving is still going on and there is also a world of pickling in progress. As to the latter business in pickling goods was very heavy during the summer. It is claimed that the pickling season will be much shorter than usual this year for the reason that the stuff used in pickling is drying up and there will not be an adequate supply and not to very long.

Duluth has again excelled, but in a new direction. Fitzsimmons-Palmer has secured the Honduras crop of oranges. This is the first time that Honduras oranges have been sold in Duluth and they are said to be most delicious, rather superior to the other company mentioned has purchased the entire crop of Honduras for this season.

In California fruits, plums are scarce and the market is higher than it was. Grapes are higher on account of a shortage of supply, but the quality of the grapes has improved. California peaches are now off the market but their place has been taken by the Washington variety. The crop of peaches is short but at that they are ruling at a cheaper price than they were. California peaches are all through for this season, and the market is now being furnished with peaches from Colorado and Washington.

Apples Are Plentiful.
Apples are more plentiful than they were last week and are therefore offered at much cheaper prices, especially for the early varieties. A great reduction, further than has already taken place, may be looked for.

There are in the market just now some of the most toothsome and attractive looking fancy pink-toned apples that have ever been shown in Michigan. They are from Colorado and are selling at a very low price, for the crop is abundant. Concord grapes are in the market. Their quality is fine. Blackberries and blueberries are off the market for the year. Watermelons are ruling at about the same price as last week, but are getting better in quality, as they come from Iowa and have had a longer time to mature than the former supplies received.

California oranges and lemons are ruling at about the same price. No cantaloupes. Cabbage is in the market next week, and it is claimed that the initial supply will be of excellent quality. It will soon be time to preserve cranberries in Duluth, and it is understood that heavy orders have been sent in with the view of meeting a strong demand for this purpose. Potatoes are slightly cheaper, and the crop is good. It is understood that unless frost hits it, the new crop of potatoes will be

WOMEN ATTACK PREMIER ASQUITH.

Edin., Scotland, Aug. 28.—The British prime minister was the object of an attack yesterday in which his chivalry was called in question by a group of women. The women, who were led by Miss Asquith, were going with their daughter to the Lonsdale Links, two staid suffragettes who had quickly come up to the green suddenly sprang at him. They knocked off his hat, grabbed him by the clothing and dragged him over the ground.

The prime minister bore his rough treatment complacently and refrained from using force to make them desist, while they imparted to him their opinion that he was a scoundrel and a past-master in the arts of Ananias. Miss Asquith, who was a little distance off when the suffragettes pounced on her father, ran to his assistance and applied militant methods to the militants. The battle waged for only a few moments, when two detectives rushed up and with difficulty released Mr. Asquith from the clutches of the suffragettes.

SWEDEN PROTESTS CUSTOMS RULING.

Stockholm, Aug. 28.—The Swedish government has instructed its minister at Washington, W. A. P. Ekengren, to protest to the United States government against the customs interpretation which declares that Swedish wood pulp is entitled to free entry into the United States only when shipped in Swedish bottoms. The newspapers here, comment on the customs order in the case as "not in harmony with Sweden's friendliness toward the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco."

Minneapolis Released.
St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—Frank E. Larson of Minneapolis was released yesterday by the state pardon board after serving eleven months of a year's sentence in the Hennepin county jail for misappropriating funds of a Minneapolis camp, Modern Woodmen of America. Larson's trial caused considerable comment at the time. Larson's father has died during his son's incarceration and the mother is said to be seriously ill.

—THE HOMECROFTERS' CORNER

Conducted by C. E. ROE.

Questions will be answered by Mr. Roe in this column.

The Winter Supply.
Every gardener ought to be planning his winter supply at this season. If there is a surplus of beans, the balance should be canned and stored. Should there be more dry beans than can be stored, the balance can be used for baking during the winter months.

In selecting seed corn the largest, fullest ears should be left to mature. They should be allowed to remain in the stalk until after the first hard frost. When picked, the husk should be stripped back and the ears hung in a warm, dry room for several weeks until the kernels become perfectly hard. It may then be shelled and put away.

Peas also should be allowed to become thoroughly dry before shelling. It is a good plan to pick all ripe pods from the vines and spread them out in a dry room so as to avoid injury from the fall rains or shelling out by the birds.

The cellar should be made clean and dry in readiness for the root crops, but the roots themselves should be allowed to remain in the ground as long as possible. It is well to have ready a good supply of sand with which to cover carrots, beets and parsnips, also for packing celery. Celery will stand a light freeze without injury and should not be carried to the cellar until October. However, celery should not be dug or handled while in the frozen state. If frozen, leave in the ground until the frost is thoroughly out and then move.

It is a very easy matter to have a fresh supply of parsley all winter by potting a plant or two from the open ground for your kitchen window. Flower seeds, such as pansies, asters, nasturtiums and sweet peas should be carefully watched now and gathered, cleaned and labeled as soon as ripe. Or course care should be used to see that these seeds are thoroughly dry before they are put away for the winter.

If you are planning on a hot bed or a storm window garden for next spring, it would be well to provide for some good top soil now. Garden soil well mixed with compost or thoroughly rotted stable manure is the best for this purpose. A box of this can be stored in the cellar where it will be accessible when wanted.

September is the month for moving hardy perennials including peonies and lilies. These plants give better results when planted in September than they do when planted in the spring. There is plenty of time for them to get rooted before the ground freezes, and most of them start to grow as soon as the frost is out in the spring.

Cucumbers.
Those wishing a continuous supply of cucumbers should be careful to keep them cut. Where cucumbers are allowed to ripen on the vines, the vitality of the vine becomes exhausted and new sets cease to form. Slicing cucumbers and dills may be cut for the next three weeks and the smaller pickles just before frost. It is better for the vines to do the picking early in the morning than in the middle of the day. Use a pair of shears or a good sharp knife for this work, so as to disturb the vines as little as possible. Cucumbers need a careful hand at all times.

THE STREET RAILWAY SUIT.

The statement by Mayor Prince that the city proposes to push to the finish the suit to test the street railway franchise should put an end to the rumors of compromise that have been afloat of late.

No compromise would be possible except on the basis of a new franchise, superseding the old legislative franchise, which would put the city in the same relation to the street railway company that it bears to other public utilities, and that most cities nowadays bear to their important public service corporations.

The suit is brought in good faith to determine the validity of the judgment franchise which the legislature enacted over the city's head many years ago, and it is to the interest of the street railway company as well as of the city that the company's rights and the city's rights should be definitely and finally determined in the highest courts.

Even the broadcloth of monarchy has approved the Lindsey-woolsey of American diplomatic policy.

A NEW CURRENCY LAW SUON.

The prediction by Chairman Glass of the house committee on banking and currency that the administration currency bill will be through the house within ten days is highly encouraging, and the conditions that prevail fully warrant the prophecy.

Whipped into final shape after weeks of conference and compromise, during which the banking interests have been conceded everything that could be conceded without infringing on the public rights, the measure now is in excellent shape, and there should be no difficulty in making it a law within a short time.

The tariff bill will soon be out of the way, thus clearing the decks for final action on the currency bill. There has been so thorough a consideration of the measure in committee and caucus that no great delay should attend its passage. The action of the house Democratic caucus last evening in approving the bill by a vote of 163 to 9, and in adopting it as a party measure almost by a unanimous vote, makes it certain that the house will pass it within a few days, and the senate, being thoroughly familiar with its provisions and fully aware of the public demand for prompt action on the currency, should not be far behind the house in its final approval of the measure.

With the tariff and the currency out of the way, a foundation will be laid for many years of financial peace and industrial prosperity, the like of which the country has never experienced.

A couple of the big league teams played a game the other day in which thirty-five hits were made. Evidently a reversion to the original corner-lot type.

THE GRAPE JUICE SPHERE GROWS.

Certain elements in the national press had rich sport over the dinner served to the diplomats at Washington at which Secretary of State Bryan provided grape juice instead of the customary intoxicants. Some of the fan was good-natured, but some of it was decidedly ill-natured. Even the willing acceptance of the change by the guests at that dinner, and the favorable comment that came from abroad, failed to stop the critics.

There is always another side to such affairs, and one wonders, in the light of the criticisms heaped upon him, how Secretary Bryan felt when he learned that Emperor William of Germany had declared in favor of the water wagon. If the Bryan smile did not widen just a trifle, at least, then the secretary of state failed to live up to his reputation for being distinctly human.

Probably there is no other ruler in the world whose decision to abstain from the use of liquor would have exerted so strong an influence as did the kaiser's. Germany has long been known as the land of moderate drinkers, and the German and his stein have been exalted by that class who proudly and independently boast that they "can drink it or leave it alone." It is not in the least likely that the bulk of the people of Germany will follow the example of their emperor in this matter of abstention, but the fact remains that the head of such a nation has determined to "cut out the booze."

Nor, according to reports, was it a matter of sentiment with the emperor, but wholly in the interests of health and efficiency. In other words, he has come to the same conclusion that many men in this and other countries have reached, that unnatural stimulation and proper and dependable physical and mental power cannot exist in the same body.

Although it is probable that the kaiser's action was in no way related to Secretary Bryan and his favorite beverage, the fact is none the less plain that the emperor's decision is another victory for the principle that lay at the back of the secretary's grape juice dinner service. The sphere of influence of the non-intoxicant is growing.

Employees in Superior laundries were given a dinner by their employers the other night. Now there's an occasion when there would seem to be no reasonable ground for objection to the serving of "suds."

ON TO HIBBING!

Chairman Gravel of the trade extension committee of the Duluth Commercial club, in charge of the Duluth day trip to the county fair at Hibbing, said through The Herald last night that he expected three hundred to make the trip tomorrow, and that he would like to see five hundred.

The fair deserves it, Hibbing deserves it, and Duluth owes it. Everybody who can possibly arrange it should join the party tomorrow, and help to let Hibbing realize that Duluth knows enterprise when it sees it, and that it appreciates what the range metropolis has done with a valuable institution which went to seed when Duluth was supposed to be handling it.

There is a different spirit in Duluth now, and if the county fair were still being held here it would be a vastly greater institution than it was the last time it showed in this city. But it is too late now to think of that. Hibbing plucked the fair away when Duluth neglected it, and has most distinctly made good with it. Duluth holds no ill will, and harbors no jealousy. It is proud of what Hibbing has done, and it will be in Hibbing tomorrow in as large numbers as possible to show that it is.

With District Attorney Whitman of New York a candidate for re-election with his name on all four tickets, there is an opportunity to establish a reputation for conservatism by offering even money that he wins.

CORN ON THE COB.

What luxury is there in the whole wide range of things good to eat that even begins to approach corn on the cob? Men rave about the strawberry; and truly its lusciousness entitles it to a high place in men's regard. Yet there are those who prefer purple, and even aside from that, imagine a hungry man getting any real satisfaction out of strawberries. He couldn't do it.

The watermelon finds much favor, but the first part of its name favors so great a proportion of its make-up that when one has eaten half a large melon he is really no better fed than if he had swallowed a gallon or so of pink lemonade.

But corn on the cob—well, nothing else is quite in the same class. The sense of accomplishment, of doing something, which modern educators tell us is inherent in all the race, is satisfied as the teeth crunch their way through the kernels. And if you think anybody is void of that sense, just watch him as he removes the cob from before his mouth and looks with evident satisfaction at the place where he has just gnawed off the seeds.

Furthermore, there is enough substance to it to satisfy the appetite. If you doubt it, try it sometime and see how few cobs you will have to take care of before you begin to get over the feeling of hunger and are ready to heave that first sigh that begins to indicate the satisfaction of appetite.

And above everything else there is the taste of it. Um-m-m! There is where you get the natural sweetness of the products of mother earth. There is where you get away from all the frumpiness and chemistry of the kitchen, and find yourself down to bed rock in the matter of flavor. Close your eyes as you munch and you can see waving cornfields and all the Jolliest scenes of your younger days.

Maybe some of the satisfaction we get out of eating corn on the cob is a kind of harking back to the prehistoric days when our ancestors took bones in their hands and handled them as the small boy of today handles the Thanksgiving drumstick. Or maybe it isn't that at all. This much is certain—that when you tamely cut the corn off and eat it with a spoon you miss not only most of the flavor, but 99 per cent of the satisfaction. And the satisfaction itself is so great that nobody cares how much the butter gets smeared around his mouth, or how long it takes him to get the shells out of his teeth afterwards.

Then hats off—rather manners off—to corn on the cob, the chief delicacy in the menu of the season and the one that not only takes us back the farthest into the history of the race, but raises us nearest childhood's ideal of carelessness of appearance and that satiety of appetite which puts the groughest of us all on the plane of simple-humanity and worldwide brotherhood.

Mayor Gaynor has chosen the shovel as the official emblem of his new party. And here everybody thought that had been pre-empted by Governor Major of Missouri.

THE OPEN COURT

Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column in stating their views about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian topics are not invited. The column is limited to 500 words—the shorter the better. They must be sent in on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

DO NOT APPRECIATE THEIR ADVANTAGES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It seems to me that the people of Minnesota do not appreciate at least one advantage that they seem to have over people in almost any other part of America. They apparently never have a crop failure, and never worry about one. They may have good crops or excellent crops, but they never have a failure. In California they are always worrying for fear frost will hit the oranges. Florida men lie awake at night worrying over the same cause. In the Dakotas they are constantly fearing a drought. In Ohio, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and all those other Midwestern states they have hot winds and terrific heat that dry up the crops and wither them. Every body seems to worry about a crop failure but Minnesota. Here we take it for granted that we will have good crops. There is always plenty of moisture, and the long season and long sunny days to ripen the crops before the early frosts. It is a blessing we do not appreciate.

FARMER.

Duluth, Aug. 28.

Proved He Could Eat It.

Judge: A group of negroes stood in front of a little grocery store in a country town, admiring the display of "watermelons" lying out on the platform. For a while they gazed at the fine points of the different "milyuns," and finally the argument settled into whether or not one man could eat the biggest melon in the melon patch. "What you all disputin' about?" he inquired.

"We's jest argifyin'," replied one, "whether or not one man could eat that there milyn all by hisself."

"Shucks," boasted the newcomer. "I told you that milyn, and it wouldn't be an ax to cut it."

A white man, who had overheard the remarks, turned to the long, lank darky and said:

"Why, you fool nigger," he said, "you know you couldn't eat all that melon at one time. I'll bet you couldn't."

"What you bet?" asked the darky. "I'll tell you what I'll do," proposed the white man. "If you'll eat it all, I'll give you $100; but if you don't you pay for it."

The negro was a little cautious. "What does that white man want?" he asked the storekeeper, who had sauntered out on the platform. It was piled at 25 cents. The darky scratched his head in doubt. He hesitated a while. "I'll tell you what I'll do, boss," he said to the white man. "If you'll let me eat it how I want to, I'll eat it. I'll tell you whether I kin eat that milyn. I won't be gone more'n five or ten minutes."

The white man consented, and in about ten minutes the negro returned and announced his readiness to take the melon. He turned to the long, lank darky and said:

"Well, you sure win," said the white man, in admiration for his capacity. "But now I would like to know why you went down to your house."

"I done it for my'n self," said the negro, a little uneasily.

"You certainly have," assured the white man. You have won. But I just want to know from curiosity why you went to the house."

"Well, I'll tell you, boss. You niggers ain't got no money to lose, and I knowed I could eat it, I could eat this one. So I went home and tried it."

The Woman of It. "My wife is keen for a bargain," said the man who talked about his family. "What a peculiar woman!" exclaimed the one who was to listen.

"Yes, sir," went on the other. "I'll just give you an example of how she saves money. Yesterday was her sister's birthday, and her sister lives in the southern part of the state. Well, my wife bought a present to send her, but when I got home last night there was the present all wrapped up but not sent yet."

"Why, you ought to have sent that yesterday," says I. "She'll get it too late for her birthday, now."

"That's all right," says my wife. "I called her up by long distance this morning and asked her to be patient. I told her she'd get it by the 15th. You see the package weighs nineteen pounds, so I can't send it by parcel post. And on the 15th the new ruling goes into effect by which twenty pounds can be mailed. I saw about 22 cents by waiting until the 15th."

"How much did the telephone call cost?" says I. "And my wife got mad!"

A New England Tariff Reformer

Editorial in Houston Post.

The people of New Hampshire, by one of those lucky accidents which sometimes come about in the world of politics, elected not long ago a United States senator who has a head full of brains and a heart full of courage. He gave those senators who are battling against a reduction of an iniquitous protective tariff levied on everything from and between a cradle and a coffin some solar plexus blows a few days ago, and even here in Texas there are some "protection Democrats"—a vile misnomer—who can profitably read what Senator Hollis of New Hampshire had to say:

"As a Democratic senator from New England, born and reared in a hotbed of protectionism, I take my stand squarely upon the Democratic national platform. I decline to separate New England tariff interests from the interests of the nation. The platform that won the confidence of the great West and the solid South is good enough for New England. I have no sympathy with the cry that New England must be coddled or 'protected' against the headwinds of the West, and they had bid him say that what is best for the country at large is best for New England."

It is the truth that the Democrats have long believed: The money the American people have poured into the shape of a tariff on the workmen in New England's cotton mills has been diverted from its purpose and stolen for the pockets of the cotton king. The fact that, while these mills pay enormous dividends, they pay starvation wages to their operatives.

"Women and children work, and the result is exactly what one would expect. The women are sickly and the children are stunted. The death rate for children under ten years of age in all the United States is highest in the textile cities of New England. In one of the most healthful climates in the world. The reason is, the mothers must do double duty as housewives and day laborers; children are neglected; mothers are overworked. Pregnant women must work long hours for a bare living, in a stifling atmosphere amid clattering machinery, and the mother has little strength and little time to bestow on her offspring."

On the other hand, the mill owners talk about protecting labor, yet laws are necessary to compel them to conduct their business on decent lines.

"The tariff is a protection racket. It is a racket to keep a lobby at the capital to resist all such legislation, yet pay the workmen a few cents a week, and we have paid millions upon millions of indirect taxes under the impost."

Count Happiness a Duty

From the Kansas City Times.

Be happy all the time. It is a well established law that mental habits are as readily formed as physical. Happiness is a state of consciousness. What mind may do for the body is incalculable, and what each individual, working along the same line toward happiness as every other individual, could do toward uplifting the human race is also incalculable. Putting this together, with mind gradually lifted above sorrow broodings, and each taking the best view of life, a few generations and the whole plane of thought would be healthier, happier and broader, for progress and happiness—or shall we say the capacity for happiness—are parallel.

Make it a mental habit to see the good in everything. Keep before your mind a mental idea of happiness and harmony. Form the thought that evil exists only for the purpose of being developed into the good and beautiful, and then keep your mind trained to the tune of the good and beautiful. Remember "The Imagining Force is a real creative force, and each of us should be as carefully selected as the menu for dinner." You may choose, and should choose, what you will think of, what you will eat, and let me warn you that just as food you eat affects you physically, so what you think affects you physically, for mind, body, and soul are inter-dependent, and you have only to experiment to prove this to your own satisfaction.

For instance, if at this moment you are suffering from a dull headache, your brain is sluggish and your mood depressed, if the headwinds is a shadow, then your nerves seem "all on edge," and instead of being depressed, in spite of the pain, you feel an exhilaration, a mental glow, a physical force to circulate more quickly and in the direction of the head, and, correspondingly, mental depression retards the circulation, so that it fails to stimulate as it should the various organs through which it flows.

Physiology and psychology are very closely related, after all, and if we could only realize how desirable it is to have the mental and physical forces working harmoniously together we should more enthusiastically and earnestly endeavor to bring them into that state.

Do you think the old, tried saying, "Be good and you will be happy," is merely a sentimentalism? No, it is not. Everything is by comparison, everything is good or bad, lovely or unlovely, productive of good results or bad, and so it follows that if you are in the "good" class all the good things are due you—happiness, beauty, peace, and so on. Some one has said, "Happiness is uncertain, transitory, but I must disagree."

From a Cynic's Note Book.

The evil that men do lives after them. Yes, and a good deed of the evil they never did as well.

We are like billiard balls in a game played by unskilled players, continually being nearly sent into a pocket, but hardly ever getting right into one, except by a fluke.

Life is one long process of getting tired. All progress is based upon a universal innate desire on the part of every organism to live beyond its income.

The world will always be governed by self interest. We should not try to do this, we should try to make it self interest of each a little more coincident with that of decent people.

Is life worth living? This is a question for an embryo, not for a man. All philosophies, if you ride them home, are nonsense; but some are greater nonsense than others.

They say the test of literary power is whether a man can write an inscription. I can say "Can he name a kitten?" And by this test I am condemned, for I cannot.

I sometimes think that never blows so red The Rose as where some buried Caesar bled;

And every Hyacinth the garden wears Dropped in her Lap from some once lovely head.

And this reviving Herb whose tender Fledgling the River Lip on which we lean Ah, lean upon it lightly; for who knows From what once lovely Lip it springs unseen!

And my Beloved, fill the Cup that clears Today of past Regrets and Future Fears; Tomorrow—why, Tomorrow I may Myself with Yesterday's Sev'n Thousand Years.

For some we loved, the loveliest and the best That from the Vintage rolling Time hath past; Have drunk their Cup a Round or two before, And one by one crept silently to rest.

And we, that now make merry in the Room They left, and Summer dresses in new Bloom, Ourselves must be beneath the Couch of Earth Descend—ourselves to make a Couch— for whom?

Ah, make the most of what we yet have left; Spend, spend, Spend! Before we, too, into the Dust descend: Dust to Dust, and under Dust to lie, Sans Wine, sans Songs, sans Slingers—and sans End!

Duluth and The Herald

Requiem and Requiem from the State Press.

A Different Name. Hibbing Mesaba Ore. The Order of Camels has been started in Duluth and one of the principal parts of the obligation is a vow not to buy a drink for a fellow member. In Hibbing we don't call such a man "Camel" but a "lightwad."

Duluth Knows a Good Thing. Hibbing Tribune: The people of Hibbing and the St. Louis county fair are keenly appreciative of the fact that Duluth, since it lost the county fair to Hibbing, has supported it more loyally than ever before. Duluth has attended the fair every year with large delegations and its newspapers have boosted in season and put for the fair.

Good Road Needed. Hibbing Times: There continues considerable newspaper agitation in favor of a concrete road from Duluth to the range, but as yet we have not noticed the plan being indorsed by road builders. And all the talk has been centered about making the improvement on the Miller Trunk road. Why not consider the Vermilion trunk, which does not pass through low, swampy country and is a scenic highway compared with the Miller Trunk road. We believe that a little more activity in favor of the Vermilion trunk would result in its adoption as the main highway between Duluth and the Mesaba range.

Terrible Torture. Walker Pilot: Word from the under regions states that his estate trustee is having lots of fun by compelling his subjects to pin a red ribbon to their skins with the wording "It's cool in Duluth" printed thereon.

Better Than Too Hot. Stillwater Gazette: Pure, heavy wraps and fires were necessary up at Duluth and Superior yesterday, owing to a heavy wind from the lake which sent the mercury down to 51. The fuel men were more busy than the ice men. Too cold for the ball game.

Respects Contract. Aurora News: The strike situation at Duluth was handled in an admirable manner. Lawlessness was tolerated in any particular and the enthusiasm consequently died out quickly. We believe in workingmen's rights to the highest possible wage, but a contract made voluntarily should be lived up to if respect is to be retained.

No Press Agent Needed. Hibbing Mesaba Ore. An Eastern man, who has been visiting in Duluth, suggests the need of a press agent for the Zenith City. With the two excellent papers issued there, both devoting space after page each day to the advantages of their municipality, there is little need of any such department.

"White Slaves" Chicago Tribune: Under this title Harper's Weekly has an editorial this week in reference to the Diggs-Caminetti case which is both intelligent and courageous.

It points out the absurdity of a law which makes Diggs and Caminetti legally "white slaves" and the fact that the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, sprang a big surprise on their friends and relatives yesterday by announcing that they had been quietly married at Superior about two weeks ago.

All Killed. Pearson's Weekly: Father Bernard Vaughan is still telling good stories of his experiences during his recent tour in America.

At St. Louis a boastful American said to him: "Look at our Mississippi and Hudson rivers! Why compared with them, your Mersey and Save and Thames are asleep, sickly streams."

"I think yours are just as sickly as ours," observed Father Vaughan. "How do you make that out?" demanded the other.

"Well, they are all confined to their beds," Father Vaughan replied.

Improving By Practice. From Four Hundred Good Stories: A father, whose looks are not such as to warrant the breaking up of all existing statues of Apollo, tells this on himself.

"My little girl was sitting on my lap facing a mirror. After gazing intently at her reflection for some minutes she said: 'Papa, did God make me?'"

"Certainly, my dear," I told her. "And did God make me too?" taking another look in the mirror.

"Certainly, dear. What makes you ask?"

"Oh, I don't know. Seems to me he's doing better work lately."

About 100 delegates representing fourteen Lutheran churches of the Lake Superior district of Swedish Lutheran churches will be in attendance at the annual conference which will be held at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, Sunday and Monday. Many of the delegates will arrive in the city tomorrow evening.

The convention will open with special services Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Visiting delegates will speak in the afternoon. A session will be held commencing at 2:30 o'clock and in the evening Dr. Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college of Minneapolis will address the gathering.

The business session of the conference will be held on Monday. During the forenoon officers will be elected and action taken on the various recommendations of the committee. A picnic is planned for the afternoon at Lincoln park. A program of entertainment has been planned for this affair. On Monday evening the visiting delegates will be entertained at a concert in the church. Two representatives from each of the Lutheran leagues of the district will take part in this program. The local people who will take part are Daniel Olson, who will give a vocal solo, and Miss Hildegard Miller, who will give a selected reading.

PAVEMENT IS COMPLETED

The paving of Twenty-seventh avenue west was completed yesterday. A concrete pavement has been laid from Michigan to Fifth street, a distance of six blocks. The cost of the job has been about $25,000.

Twenty-seventh avenue is the first street in the city to be given this kind of a pavement for any distance. The thoroughfare is twenty-four feet wide. The curbing is of the same material as the street.

It is proposed to lay a five-foot cement sidewalk on each side of the street for these six blocks. The work will be set eight feet from the curbing and the space between the sidewalk and curbing will be seeded with grass. The paving of the thoroughfare is one of the handsomest in the city.

VANDALS TEAR

DOWN RAILING

Residents in the vicinity of Twenty-sixth avenue west are complaining of vandalism of rowdies who destroyed the railing guarding the walk along Miller's creek just above Second street. Four young men, said to have been in a drunken condition, tore the railing down and threw it into the creek last night.

The railing protected pedestrians from the steep bank at this point leading to the creek bottom. The sides are rocky and would, it is said, probably cause serious injury to any one who might make a mis-step off the sidewalk.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON

PUZZLED BY REPORTS

AS TO LIND'S PLANS

Statement by Gambon.

Mexico City, Aug. 29.—The announcement of the departure of Gen. Lind to Mexico City brought from Senor Gambon, minister of foreign affairs, the declaration that he had agreed to nothing and that Senor Gambon's statement that Senor Lind was the last communication he sent.

It was suggested to the minister that President Wilson's representative was coming to the capital to resume negotiations. Senor Gambon replied that this was not unlikely as he naturally expected a reply to his last note.

Senor Lind would be entirely welcome at the capital and that personally he would be glad to see him.

It was reported late last night from Vera Cruz that Sen. Lind intended to leave there Friday morning, adhering to the general instructions from Washington to avoid any delay, but it is considered possible that developments at Washington may cause postponement or abandonment of his plan to revisit the capital.

Agreement Is Possible.

It is regarded here as possible that further conferences between Senor Gambon and Senor Lind will result in an agreement, unless Washington continues to be a stickler for compliance with the demands of Gen. Huerta's non-candidacy.

Senor Gambon's last note appeared to make it clear that it would be possible for Gen. Huerta to be a candidate for the presidency, under the laws.

Commenting on this, a prominent Mexican explained the point in these words:

"Mexico, in short, does eliminate Huerta from the presidency, not because Washington demands it, but because it is demonstrated by the laws of the country."

For the reason that the other propositions, Mr. Lind says, may be settled later, and since Senor Gambon intimates in his last note conformity with the suggestions he pointed out as probable that the negotiations will be reopened. Senor Gambon intimates that further negotiations along the direct line of the demands would be to forward this at the same time he expressed lively hope of a final settlement.

American Anxiety.

The return of Mr. Lind would do much to reassure some thousands of anxious Americans, many of whom are planning a speedy departure from the capital.

The warning of President Wilson was telegraphed to all consuls who could be reached by wire, and arrangements have been made for couriers to points, such as Durango, which are cut off from telegraphic communication. The warning contained the sentence:

"You convey to the authorities the indication that any maltreatment of Americans would be held to raise the question of intervention."

Regardless of the assurance contained in President Wilson's message that the policy of the administration was one of non-intervention, many Americans in Mexico are skeptical regarding the ability of the United States long to tolerate this situation.

Trains for Vera Cruz were crowded last night, and it is believed that additional sections will be run as more reassuring news is received from Washington.

Cable Warning "Premature."

The Mexican foreign office has not been officially informed of Washington's warning, according to the foreign minister, who said that if it was true, "We must, with all due respect to the president of the United States, say that we think he acted prematurely."

"Do they think we are 'boxers' in Mexico? Have you seen mobs chasing Americans through the streets, or any unfriendly manifestations even by the people of the lower classes? We have four or five hundred thousand Mexicans in the United States. We have made no suggestion to them to return, in the belief that they might be lynched."

"I am told that boats are coming to the ports to take off the Americans. If the Americans are perishing throughout the country, I could see why boats would come to take away their bodies, but I see no reason for them to come now. Even in case of intervention, I think Americans would be safe. During French intervention, Frenchmen came and went at will, and were not molested."

The afternoon papers in the editorial reflect laudatory opinion on the part of the Mexican republic for what is regarded as the noble and patriotic attitude of the Mexican government.

News from points within the republic, received at official quarters, indicates an uninterrupted series of victories on the part of the Federalists. It is announced that through train service between Mexico City and Laredo will be re-established immediately.

Report 3,500 Killed.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 29.—Thirty-five hundred men perished in the seven Constitutionalist attacks on Torreon between July 17 and July 28 and since that time fever has become epidemic.

Food is scarce and no relief has been able to reach the city, according to travelers from the vicinity of Torreon who have reached here. They received information by courier last Monday. Not more than twenty-five Americans remained in the city and all are reported safe.

The Constitutionalist are declared to have lost $500 men, most of them in a disastrous attempt to flood the city by diverting the course of Nazas river from its head gates through the valley. They were caught in a cross-fire from federal machine guns. They later withdrew to Durango. The federal loss was about 500.

Miguel Garza Aldape, brother of a member of Provisional President Huerta's cabinet, commands the federal forces.

Reports also received here were of the burning of the La Belle Union cotton print factory, ten miles from Saltillo, Friday, by a band of rebels. It is said that the rebels first demanded a "loan" of $200,000, which was refused. Maniz reduced his demands to $10,000 and when this was ignored the plant, valued at $500,000, was destroyed. Four hundred men are out of employment as a result. William Purcell, an English banker, is said to be the principal owner of the factory. Other depredations also are charged to the band.

Italy Approves Wilson's Action.

Rome, Italy, Aug. 29.—The energetic and courteous attitude of the United States toward Mexico is warmly judged in Italy, according to Giornale d'Italia in an article today commenting on the Mexican situation. It says: "President Wilson has given proof of political and diplomatic capacity of the first order."

London Papers Critical.

London, Aug. 29.—The London morning papers are critical of the situation between Mexico and the United States. The strongest doubt as to the wisdom of President Wilson's policy is expressed in the London papers.

Berlin Comments Unfriendly.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The evening papers here paid little attention to President Wilson's message on the Mexican situation. What little comment there was, as usual, was in an unfriendly spirit.

The magazine Rundschau, in a leading article entitled "Wilson tries his hand at politics," says: "President Wilson, by his mistaken insistence on the non-recognition of Provisional President Huerta, has made himself responsible for the present situation. It is hard to understand why he should adhere to his old standpoint. President Wilson's assurances of sincere and sympathetic sympathy toward Mexico are in sharpest contrast with the American government's policy," says the paper.

Frenchman Is Critical.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Baron Robert De Caix, foreign editor of the Journal des Debats, in an article today, says: "The excellent intentions of President Wilson, but declares that, in this case, the United States have made of the Mexican crisis only a disquieting imbrolio."

Small Ride on Ranches, Horse Stealing and petty thefts have marked progress of the outbreak so far, although Governor Gomez at Mexico has made every preparation to repel an attack. It is not believed the rebellion will spread to the south, but it is expected that the rebellion will attempt to attack Mexico, naturally a strong position, but will endeavor to take the latter of Mexico outside for a battle.

Bridegroom Becomes Unconscious Shortly After the Ceremony.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With death staring him in the face and so weak that he barely could repeat in whispers the words of the priest, Joseph Vitellone gratified the one desire of his life, to be married to Miss Minnie Fido. The girl he loved. The ceremony was performed last night at the city hospital, where Vitellone is suffering from what is believed to be an incurable disease.

Vitellone yesterday told Miss Fido he would be happy, even though he should die, if only for a few days he could call her his wife. The girl said she, too, would be happy, and then she secured the marriage license. Shortly after the ceremony Vitellone lapsed into unconsciousness and may never speak again to his wife.

Vitellone became ill a few days before the time set for the marriage.

This charming Munich actress will soon be a princess. She is now appearing in opera at the Gartner-Platz theater. She is engaged to be married to Prince Nicholas of Thurn and Taxis, the prince's family objected to the marriage recently and the prince agreed to postpone it until he had begun to make his way in the world. So he has come to this country to get a start. He arrived in New York yesterday and will start soon for Texas, where he has arranged through agents to purchase a large farm. He has renounced his title and rank in the navy and part of his inheritance because he says he believes in labor and prefers to make his own way in life. He has taken the title of Baron von Hochstadt. His brother, Prince Alfred, resigned his title and rank to marry an actress and another brother is a wealthy financier in South Africa. The prince's family founded the postal system of Germany.

And City Stenographers Will Be Able to Spell Amanuensis.

Can you spell clean? If you can't you can't be a health inspector for the city. Neither can you be a stenographer for the city if you can't spell amanuensis and verbatim.

This morning six applicants were examined for health inspector, two for bookkeeper, two for clerk and stenographer and two for telephone operator. There are fourteen applicants being examined this afternoon for the positions of clerk and assistant librarian.

Each applicant is tested on writing, spelling and explaining various features of the city government. There were thirty questions asked each applicant. Several simple mathematical problems were also included.

At this morning's examination the applicants for clerk and stenographer were given the following words, some of which are misspelled, and told to write them all correctly: Separate, infallible, fulfill, travelled, criticize, receipt, memorandum, schedule, promissory, pendlet, acreage, calendar, equitable, applicable, miscellaneous, collusion, acknowledge, attorney, amenensis and verbatim.

The candidates for health inspector were told to spell the following words correctly: Refuse, garbage, notice, cancer, nuisance, manure, notify, inspect, tuberculosis, diarrhea, inspector, sewerage, physician, nurses, hospital, sanitary, collection, disposal and municipal.

The Beckman fur factory at 16 East Superior street will close one of the most successful August fur sales ever known tomorrow. Hundreds have taken advantage of the big discounts offered. It is an offering of an absolutely complete line of the new 1913-1914 styles at the "end of the season" prices, and to relieve the rush of buying which the first cold snap will bring to this store.

WILL DEFEND HOUSING LAW

Mayor Prince Will Appear Before Real Estate Exchange.

Says Code as Whole Is in Interest of Public.

Mayor W. I. Prince will appear before the Real Estate exchange at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday noon at the Commercial club to discuss the housing and building ordinances.

At a meeting early in June the real estate men passed a resolution asking a suspension of the housing ordinance, the consolidation of the building inspector's department with the assessor's office, and the drafting of a complete new building code to cover the entire field.

Mayor Prince will ask the co-operation of the real estate dealers in securing the results desired to be obtained through the housing and building codes. He declares that the protection of the public interests and the general welfare prohibit any suspension of the housing ordinance.

tion of the housing ordinance. He agrees that it may contain some features which ought to be changed but he believes that this can be done through amendments to the present ordinance. In any event he states that the present ordinance would remain in effect until the other had been passed and become operative.

He pointed out that it is now planned to shift the making of all assessments to the office of the assessor, which would give him so much to do that it might not be advisable to also place the building inspector in his department.

The mayor stated that a plan is now being formulated whereby the assessor will come into possession of all information from other city branches which would aid him in determining the value of buildings. Under such a plan the assessor will receive reports from the building inspector, the plumbing inspector, the electrical inspector and any others who have data which would aid in determining building values. By this method the mayor of the city that the assessor will derive all the benefits which would come of having the building inspection under his direction.

STIFF FINE FOR DRUGGISTS

Seven Prisoners Are Found Guilty and Assessed $100 Apiece.

Another Screw Put in the Lid That Covers Duluth.

Every one of the seven druggists who were arrested in the raid on the drug stores of the city last Monday and Tuesday on a charge of selling liquor without a license, and without having a prescription, either pleaded guilty or were convicted before Judge Cutting this morning. They were each fined $100 or sixty days in the county jail.

The courtroom was packed long before Judge Cutting appeared, the cases of the druggists having excited considerable interest throughout the city. There was an array of legal talent rarely seen in the local police court, each defendant having a lawyer to handle his case.

The men tried this morning were: Oscar K. Weinman, proprietor at 1502 East Superior; Benton B. Byers, one of the proprietors of the Byers Bros' drug store at 183 East Superior street; and 925 East Fourth street; William H. Bodish, clerk at 408 East Fourth street; John Toonen, proprietor at 529 West Superior street; H. M. Scott, clerk at 294 West Third street; George Eklund, clerk at 101 West Fourth street; and Harold J. Shaw, clerk at Byers Bros' store, 925 East Fourth street.

Weinman Case First.

The case of Mr. Weinman was tried first, the others being tried in the order named above. William Boland, a new police officer who secured the evidence against most of the druggists by having purchased whiskey from them, was the first witness called by the prosecutor, George Gurnee. He told the court that he called at the drug store and told Mr. Weinman that he wanted a pint of whiskey. The defendant sold it to him, he said, without question.

After Officer Boland had finished, O. W. Anderson, attorney for Mr. Weinman, stepped up to the stand and entered a plea of guilty in behalf of his client. The judge then asked the man $100 or sixty days in the county jail.

In pleading for his client Mr. Anderson declared that the liquor laws have been lax and that the druggists have never informed as to the exact situation and conditions. When the lid was put on, he said, the druggists were all told so and they were thus given an opportunity to stop violating the law. But the druggists were never so informed, he said. He asked that the court suspend sentence, but this Judge Cutting refused to do.

Following Mr. Weinman's case, Mr. Byers and Mr. Bodish stepped up to the stand and changed their pleas to guilty. They were represented by E. M. Morgan and James Wharton. They were also fined $100 each or sixty days.

Asks For Trial.

Ray M. Hughes, attorney for Mr. Scott, asked for a trial and Officer Boland was again called to the stand. He told how he was sold a pint of whiskey without any other question. Mr. Scott $100 or sixty days.

The only case really fought by the defendants was that of Frank M. Toonen, who was represented by Capt. C. C. Teare. The defense introduced W. S. Rider, a friend of Mr. Toonen, who happened to be in the store last Sunday and heard the conversation between Officer Clarence Cavanaugh, who bought the whiskey, and the defendant and heard the defendant say that he was sick and in need of a tonic of some sort. This Officer Cavanaugh denied, declaring that all he told the defendant was that he wanted to buy a pint of whiskey.

The defense tried to prove that the substance sold the officer was not whiskey nor brandy, but that it was a mixture of brandy and ginger, such as used for medicinal purposes. It was sold in a small bottle, unlike the regular bottles used by the other druggists.

Capt. Teare in defending his client following the introduction of testimony, declared that the officer had deliberately lied in securing the evidence. Mr. Toonen took complete command of the case, and gave him the brandy. He asked that the defendant be discharged, but this the court denied and Mr. Toonen was also fined $100 or sixty days. At the request of Capt. Teare, Mr. Toonen was granted a stay of twenty days and was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Life Not Unusual.

In summing up the case of Mr. Toonen, Judge Cutting said that it was usual for a person to lie in securing whiskey when it is against the law to sell it. This is the only case in the court declared, and it is not at all out of the ordinary.

Down in the dry states, Judge Cutting said, it is customary to feign illness just to get whiskey. It is not at all out of the ordinary for a druggist to sell one drop of pepper-mint one drop of lemon and a quart of whiskey for medicinal purposes in the dry states, concluded the judge.

Officer Boland testified also in the cases of George A. Boland and Harold J. Shaw. The defendants were sentenced by Mr. Wharton and Mr. Morgan, respectively. Mr. Shaw changed his plea of guilty, while Eklund was found guilty after a hearing. They were each fined $100 or sixty days. Mr. Eklund was allowed a stay of ten days and was permitted to go on his own recognizance.

The complaint in each case was made by Chief Trover, who declared that the druggists had sold whiskey to either Officer Boland or Officer Cavanaugh without the officers having presented a prescription from a physician, or the druggist having obtained a license from the city council to sell liquor.

WILL BEGIN FALL WORK

Public Affairs Committee Will Hold Meeting Friday Evening.

Membership Campaign Will Be Waged By Commercial Club.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club will hold a meeting next Friday evening, Sept. 6. During the week effort will be made to arouse enthusiasm that will bring to the meeting the full membership of the committee and any other members of the club to start the work of the fall and winter season.

The energy of the club members will first be directed to a membership campaign, and the arrangements for which will be announced at the meeting Friday evening. The members of the membership committee are now laying their plans for a rousing campaign that they hope will materially increase the list of club members. The campaign will open Monday, Sept. 8, and continue for one week.

The city directory and other guides for prospects have been carefully checked over and a list of about 600 men, who by their position in the city's business life should be members of the Commercial club has been obtained. The city will be divided into districts and every prospect will be seen.

The membership hustlers will number forty-five, divided into fifteen teams of three members each. Each team will elect its own captain. Before the campaign opens every member of the club will be furnished with a button showing the club emblem and he will be expected to wear it during the week. Every additional member secured will be similarly designated, so that all may know the civic work being done by the club.

Daily meetings will be held during the campaign and the teams will report progress. Results will be bulletined each day and the contest will be kept rivalry between the teams.

The membership committee of the Commercial club consists of: Chairman, R. R. Forward, Edward Savage, C. H. Molennan, C. W. Kiewetter, Elmer F. Blue, C. D. Folke, A. Laird Goodman and H. S. Sleepack.

Hospital Addition Soon Ready.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The addition to St. Michael's hospital in this city, which has been in course of construction for some time, will be completed and ready for occupancy by Nov. 1. The structure costs about $40,000.

DELAYED ROAD WORK BEGUN

Substitute Highway Near Steel Plant Is Being Constructed.

Eliminates Doubt as to Route for Steel Railway Extension.

Work on the substitute road which was promised the city at the time the council vacated a portion of the present highway to New Duluth and Fond du Lac, is once more under way, according to Mayor Prince.

The mayor accompanied other officials to the western suburbs to view sanitary conditions two days ago and in passing he observed that the substitute roadway is being gravelled.

The resolution vacating a part of the present road, which is opposite the holdings of the Steel company, was passed three years ago largely at the behest of private property owners. The substitute was surveyed and cut through brush and undergrowth, but was not finished. Gravel is now being hauled and spread and it is expected that the long-delayed job will be completed in a reasonably short time.

The officials also noticed that the Steel corporation is preparing to erect a high fence to inclose its property. Concrete posts are being put down, and when the fence is run it will cut out a piece of road which is now being used. Partially for that reason it is deemed essential that the new road be put in shape for travel without further loss of time.

Way Open for Extension.

With the substitute road in condition and being used there will be no further doubt as to which will be the route to New Duluth, eliminating another possible obstacle to the construction of the street car extension to that suburb. Both sides state the route is estimated to be half a mile longer than the present, but the grade is easier.

Rumor still has it that efforts may be made to compromise the pending suit of the city against the street car company to annul its franchise. Although they cannot be positively traced they appear to be fairly well defined. Both sides state that they are proceeding with their preparations for the trial, but naturally officials will not make any public statements that they are anticipating a compromise or a settlement of the suit.

ESCAPE WAS MIRACLOUS

Steel Plant Workman Falls
Sixty-Five Feet and Lives.

Broken Thigh and Broken Arm His Only Injuries.

Charles Johnson, 27 years old, sustained a compound fracture of the thigh, a broken right arm and severe scratches of the face in a fall of sixty-five feet from the steel frame over the stock pit at the steel plant at 9:30 o'clock this morning. He was brought to the Duluth hospital at 10 o'clock and his chances of complete recovery are very good.

His escape from instant death is believed to be nothing short of a miracle. He slipped from the end of a large beam and went straight through a net work of steel beams to the bottom where he landed on the sloping sides of a sand bank. Employees who saw him fall saw that he missed striking a monster beam by barely an inch. This would have caused his instant death.

In falling he struck on his right side. He carried in his clothes and belt on this side a large wrench and several rivets. These are believed to have been instrumental in causing the compound fracture of the thigh.

Workmen rushed almost instantly to the man after the fall. They found only his mangled remains. He was conscious and able to talk when picked up. They took him to the hospital. He is reported to be resting easily and hospital attendants believe that he will fully recover.

Johnson was employed by the Western Steel construction company which has the contract for the new steel frame work for the stock pit. He made his home in a West Duluth boarding house. He had a brother residing in the West end.

VACANT HOUSES ARE VERY SCARCE

West Duluth Has Serious
Housing Problem on Its Hands.

The housing problem in West Duluth is said to be becoming serious. Families coming to the city the heads of which are employed at the steel plant and other new industries in this end of the city, are finding difficulty in securing homes.

Residents and business men of West Duluth are looking to the city for relief in the matter of housing. The city is said to have a number of vacant houses for rent, but they are not being let.

Most of the houses now offered for rent are said to be in dilapidated condition and very few of them with modern conveniences. Something will have to be done soon to provide more homes, they say, or these people will be locating elsewhere.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will listen to a report of its committee on street railway extension this evening. John J. Gray, chairman of the committee, stated this morning that he had figures showing that the city could build the extension and equip the line with rolling stock for $180,000.

He said that the committee suggest that the city issue bonds for this purpose which would be offered to the Duluth public for sale at a public sale. The committee are eager that a representative crowd of Duluth people make the trip on a special train. Many more are expected to go tomorrow in order that Duluth's interest in the fair may be properly shown.

The Third Regiment band, which has been engaged to play for the fair, will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago to attend a conference of the party which will be held there Sunday. The tickets being sold by the committee carry no extra charge, covering only the transportation and admission to the fair grounds.

Duluth people will make Duluth day one of the big days at the fair. Last year about 250 Duluth people made the trip on a special train. Many more are expected to go tomorrow in order that Duluth's interest in the fair may be properly shown.

AIR TO RAISE SUNKEN BOAT

Compressed Air System Will Be Used on Great

Steamer Keystorm Will Be Brought to the Surface.

Work of raising the steamer Keystorm, which lies in deep water near Kingston in the St. Lawrence river, will be started at once with an equipment closely resembling in principle the compressed air systems used in constructing tunnels under water.

The Keystorm lies on her starboard side on a sloping bottom with a pocket beneath the center of the ship. At her bow the water is seventy feet deep and at her stern 122 feet. About 100 feet of the middle of the vessel has ten feet of water under it. She has a hole thirty feet long and four feet wide on her starboard side.

A. J. Lee of Montreal, representing the Compressed Air Salvage company, which has the contract for the raising of the Keystorm, explained the plan his company intends to follow. The entire vessel will be hatched with half-inch steel plating with airlocks for entering over each hold. Each hold also will have valves for air to enter and for air to escape.

When the hatches have been covered by divers, men, experienced in working in deep water, will enter the air locks and repair the breaks in the ship's hull from the inside. As much water as possible will be forced out until each hold is free from water. As soon as repairs are completed, the water will be pumped out with water to prevent the ship rising too rapidly, and the water will be forced out until each hold is free from water.

The Keystorm has only two watertight bulkheads, one between the fore-cabin and No. 1 hold and one between the No. 1 and 2 holds. The No. 1 hold is a common and the No. 2 hold is a common. The No. 1 hold is a common and the No. 2 hold is a common.

WASHINGTON WAITS FOR MEXICO TO ACT—MEXICO WAITS FOR WASHINGTON

Lind Is at Vera Cruz and Will Sail on Next Boat.

Felix Diaz Proclaims He Is Candidate for President.

Many Protests Are Made Against Americans' Leaving.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Indications were today that the Mexican policy for the United States for the next few days will be a waiting one, while strict neutrality is enforced and Americans are urged to leave Mexico. Those who take that view point to President Wilson's declaration to congress in his address that "the actual situation of the authorities in Mexico City will presently be revealed," and that "steady pressure of moral force will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down."

Felix Diaz Is Candidate.
London, Aug. 30.—"I am now definitely a candidate for the presidency of Mexico," Gen. Felix Diaz, told the Associated Press this morning. Diaz is quoted as saying that there had never been any question as to Gen. Huerta's candidacy for president in Mexico.

"When I left Mexico," Gen. Diaz said, "it was with the understanding that a fair and open election would be arranged, and that I would be back in Mexico when it was held. I have the kindest feeling toward the United States."

"My friends in Mexico are working in my behalf," continued Gen. Diaz. "I am not certain that I shall go there. My action will depend upon developments in Mexico."

Gen. Diaz apparently is pleased with the course of events in Mexico. He said the contention that Victoriano Huerta's candidacy for the presidency was barred by the Mexican constitution was quite correct. He declared:

BATTLE ROYAL OVER FASHIONABLE HOME

Three Persons Are Shot and Six Others Hurt in Red Bank, N. J.

Red Bank, N. J., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Frank C. Storck retains possession of her husband's home in the fashionable residential section of Red Bank, after a fight made to dispossess her in which three persons were shot, four injured by blows, an eighth broke his ankle and Mrs. Storck herself was thrown through a window and made unconscious when she landed on her head on the sidewalk.

Storck, a piano dealer, divorced his wife last month. She has since frustrated his efforts to force her to leave his residence here. Last night he organized a raiding party, visiting the house with several employees and four private detectives. Mrs. Storck's brothers and other members of her family came to her assistance and a brisk battle ensued.

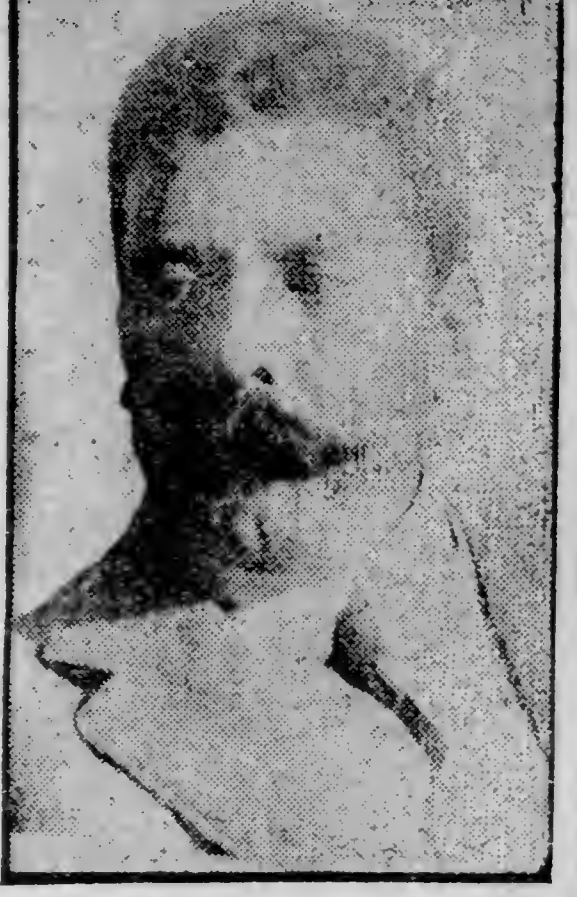

Ernest C. Duvel, employed by Storck, may die from a bullet wound in the head. Samuel Howard, brother of Mrs. Storck, also was shot in the head and Ernest Howard, another brother, through the shoulder.

Mrs. Storck's married daughter later swore out warrants charging Storck and Percy Houghton, a detective, with assault. They were arrested and held to the grand jury.

This afternoon a tour of inspection of the tunnel now being built through Mount Royal was on the program.

Tonight a conference of United States judges will be held, at which the promotion of uniformity of law, with uniformity of decision between all states of the Union, will be considered.

The motion was defeated.

The conference decided that a period of 20 weeks should be the period during which payment should be made by the employer to a totally disabled workman.

FIGHT ON 80 CENT ORE RATE IS BEGUN

Excessiveness and Unreasonableness Alleged By Steel Companies.

Washington, Aug. 30.—A concerted attack upon existing iron ore freight rates, generally known as the 80-cent rate, from lower Great Lake ports to furnaces in the Pittsburgh district, was begun today before the interstate commerce commission. Complaints were filed against various railways, including the Pennsylvania and the Lake Shore, by the Pittsburgh Steel company and the Wheeling Steel and Iron company, declaring that the rates were excessive and unreasonable, and demanding material reductions.

KANSAS CITY VOTES ON FREE TEXT BOOKS.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 30.—Whether the pupils in Kansas City schools shall be provided with free text books was the question placed before the voters of the city at a special election today. A law recently passed by the state legislature provides a fund for supplying text books without cost to school children if the voters of each school district so order. Little opposition has been shown, and it was believed the proposition would carry by a substantial majority.

TARIFF THEME 1,000 DEAD OF SENATORS IN TYPHOON

Administrative Features of the Bill Are Discussed.

Republicans Accuse Democrats of Attacking Civil Service.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Passing over the cotton future tax amendment to the tariff bill until Monday the senate today took up administrative features of the bill.

Republican attack on the tariff bill in the senate yesterday centered about the provision that would permit civil service laws to be disregarded in employing inspectors, deputy collectors and agents to administer the new income tax laws. The Democratic majority was charged with trying to break down the civil service laws and open up jobs to "political favorites."

Senator Hoke Smith, who defended the bill for Democrats, declared it was impossible under the present civil service examinations to get men qualified to administer the income tax law.

"A bright boy out of school could pass the examination," he said, "but men of 40 to 45, equipped with business experience to do such work, probably would fail."

"Do you think the recommendation of a congressman would be better than a civil service examination?" Senator Root demanded.

"I think the judgment of a congressman would be better in the selection of competent men than this examination they have been conducting," Senator Smith replied. "None of the men who have passed these examinations is as fit as the men recommended by deputy collectors of revenue."

Outside Civil Service.
As it was left by the senate, the bill authorizes the collector of internal revenue and the secretary of the treasury to employ men outside the civil service for the first two years after the enactment of the bill.

A letter from the chairman of the civil service commission was read by Senator Sterling, saying the commission could readily fill the new positions.

The Democratic members of the finance committee began sessions last night to readjust the income tax to meet the demands of insurgent Democrats, who have asked for a 10 percent increase in the "additional tax" on large incomes. Other contested subjects also will be disposed of.

It is expected that President Wilson will make changes in the Philippine commission soon.

BRYAN HAS WILD RIDE

Motors Through Terrific Storm to Keep Speaking Date.

Ignores Chauffeur's Pleas to Stop and Seek Shelter.

Philadelphia, Aug. 30.—Secretary of State Bryan had one of the most exciting experiences of his long public career late last night, in a thrilling automobile ride of fifty miles through a terrific thunder storm that leveled trees, fired many buildings in this section and caused much damage to other property.

The secretary lectured at Doylestown, twenty-five miles north of Philadelphia, early in the evening, and was scheduled to speak at Kennett Square, thirty miles west of this city. A train into Philadelphia and out to Kennett Square would not have ended him at his destination in time, so he undertook to go across country in the automobile.

A light rain was falling when Mr. Bryan started, but the storm broke in a short time. The rain continued and lightning was incessant and the rain came down in sheets, making it impossible to drive. The roads became bad, fallen trees were encountered, and the driver of the car, realizing that he was carrying an important public official, decided to seek shelter in a farmhouse. Mr. Bryan refused and urged more speed.

At Westchester the automobile was stopped for slight repairs, and the driver of the car again advised abandoning the trip, but Mr. Bryan again refused, declaring that he would get to Kennett Square if he had to hire another driver.

On their journey from Westchester to Kennett Square lightning played all around, and the driver had to pick his way among fallen trees.

The storm raged all the way to their destination, which the secretary reached without mishap. Mr. Bryan came up to a crowd that had waited several hours in a large tent. The rain continued while he spoke, and there was three inches of water in parts of the tent. After midnight Mr. Bryan motored to Wilmington, Del., and took a train for Washington. He planned to leave Washington today to deliver lectures at Oxford, Pa., and Belair, Md.

WOMEN SPIT UPON GUARDS

Militia Protect Deputies From Attack at Calumet.

Evictions Are Planned for Monday—Trouble Is Feared.

Calumet, Mich., Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Company F of Saginaw, stationed at the Wolverine mine, was called out early today to protect a party of deputies at No. 3 shaft, South Kearney mine, from attack by strikers and women. The women were particularly active, spitting in the faces of the deputies and otherwise defying them.

The soldiers rescued an Alhousie mine fireman who was attacked by strikers while on his way to work. The strikers took him from a street car and were beating him when the militiamen arrived.

Strikers and women sympathizers at the Champion mine resumed their attacks on non-union men, striking them with brooms dipped in kerosene and throwing missiles. One man was badly beaten and three women were arrested.

Another big parade of strikers was held in Calumet today.

Will Evict Strikers.
Serious trouble is anticipated for Monday, as it is said strikers still residing in houses owned by several of the mining companies are to be evicted. The strike is in its fifth week and there have been no evictions to date, and no rent has been paid for the month by both the strikers and others, and the mining companies want the houses for employees.

The strikers have arranged big demonstrations for Sunday and Labor day, with President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners the possible attraction. A parade and mass meeting will be held in Calumet Sunday, on Monday demonstrations will take place both in Calumet and Hancock.

The state military board has decided to reduce next week by half the present force of 1,000 troops, and mount 100 infantrymen for patrol duty, bringing a division of 200 men. A well organized body of deputies will take the place of the engineers sent home.

It is claimed by officials of the Western Federation of Miners that Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor has given assurance of financial support for the strikers and has appealed to every organization affiliated with the federation to levy assessments.

WANT BATTLESHIPS TO USE AS SCHOOLS

Hygienists Adopt Resolution to That End at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The International Congress on School Hygiene met today to meet in Buffalo in 1915. The sectional meetings continued until noon today. Sir James Kerr of London was the chief speaker. His subject was "The Illumination of Class Rooms," and he declared that one-half of the school children in elementary classes have defective vision.

The congress adopted resolutions recommending thorough medical inspection in all public schools, and the use of discarded battleships as open air schools, making the latter a recommendation for 1,500 to receive instruction in the open air. The congress, it is estimated, has already secured the open air school is one of the most powerful agents in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis in childhood.

NINE KILLED WHEN TOW BOAT BLOWS UP

None of Crew of Ohio River Craft Escapes Unscathed.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 30.—Capt. Thomas Flaherty, Pilot Harry Donaldson and six of the crew of the towboat Alice were killed today and six other river men were injured when the vessel's boiler exploded.

Some of the bodies were recovered, and the injured were brought to the marine hospital here by the steamer Harriet, which was near the scene of the accident in the Ohio river at Dam No. 2, at Canopolis, Pa.

Many of the crew were river men of the type whose names are seldom known to their companions or the officers of the boats. Consequently there was difficulty in getting a complete list of the dead.

The Alice belongs to a sand company of Pittsburg and was towing a fleet of barges. She was within 1,000 feet of the lock when the boiler let go. Within ten minutes after the explosion the Alice sank and only her stacks were above water. Of the crew of fourteen men, not one is known to have escaped death in the inferno.

Later in the day the body of Mrs. Mills, a chambermaid, was recovered from the shattered hull of the craft. One of the boilers was located in the sand on Neville Island, fully 1,000 feet from the scene of the explosion.

Rev. Carl Hansen Is Reported Killed By Workman.

New York, Aug. 30.—Advices by cable today to the American Bible society and the Methodist foreign mission board told of the murder of Rev. Carl Hansen, missionary in Chile for the Bible society. The messages, except to say that the killing was at the hands of a workman, gave no details of the tragedy.

Gravel and other members of the committee have been busy for some weeks making preparations for the trip. The fund for taking the band was subscribed privately and many tickets for the excursion were sold. The committee was not as large as the committee had hoped for, but it was large enough to make a good showing for Duluth.

WASHINGTON WAITS FOR MEXICO TO ACT

The fact that he was still an official representative of the Mexican government, President Wilson's message to the Mexican people.

Wants Americans to Stay. New York, Aug. 30.—Senator Sebastian C. Cavanagh, president of the Senate, has sent a telegram to James A. Buchanan, president of the American Mexican Telegraph company, requesting him to protest to President Wilson against the American withdrawal from Mexico. The message, made public here today, declares that the American withdrawal from Mexico is a "disgrace" and that "tremendous damage" will result from its withdrawal.

There is great alarm here," reads the telegram, "over the American government's order for the withdrawal of all citizens of the United States residing here."

You will understand that there is no reason for this order. The American colony of this republic is one of the most numerous of those among us. In its totality, and with very few exceptions, it is satisfied and tranquil, dedicated to its work and attending to the necessities of its life, being respected and esteemed throughout the country. It would be seriously prejudicial in its welfare and its financial interests were it to be abandoned, in which it is considered and esteemed and where it has acquired numerous and cordial relations."

Missionaries Would Stay. Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 30.—Several Southern Methodist missionaries who have been ordered to leave Mexico since President Wilson's message was published Wednesday have wired to the mission board in Nashville asking that they be allowed to remain at their posts. The board has taken no action on these requests today. The Southern Presbyterian mission board has sent no orders to its Mexican missionaries since publication of President Wilson's message.

American Has Disappeared. Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 30.—The disappearance of John G. George, an American mining expert, after his release from a Federal prison at Emporia, Kan., last Sunday, has created anxiety among his friends in Emporia and elsewhere. The Federalists consider George friendly to the Constitutionalists, and it is feared he was rearrested after gaining his liberty.

George is manager of the mercantile department of the Richardson Construction company and is a business associate of John Hays Hammond.

Mexico City, Aug. 30.—The failure of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, to return to the capital from Vera Cruz, has caused to indicate that Washington and Mexico are agreed on one thing at least—that there is no going back to the trip. Mr. Lind is still in Vera Cruz awaiting instructions. The Mexican government has made no further proposal or concession to the United States. It is considered here that the next move must be made by Washington.

Officials here view the situation more brightly because of the flotation of a $2,000,000 peso note, which has been taken by three local banks—the National, the Bank of London and Mexico, and the Banco de Comercio y Fomento. The exodus of Americans from the capital on account of Mr. Wilson's warning to them to leave the country has been greater, but not as great as had been anticipated, as many Americans took the attitude that there was no reason for them to get out unless intervention was a certainty.

Many persons appeared inclined to doubt the judgment of the Washington administration in its statement that the fighting would become sharper as a result of cutting off the supplies of ammunition. These persons seemed to believe that increased difficulty of both sides in obtaining ammunition would result in less active operations and therefore reduce the danger to Americans.

Many Americans have sent private telegrams to friends in Washington.

GET HIS TREATMENT AND GET WELL

Those who have given Dr. Mitchell's treatment a fair trial declare it is most remarkable for the cure of all nervous diseases, rheumatism, neuralgia, blood and kidney troubles, weakness, goiter, tumors, all female weaknesses. His cures are made without the use of drugs or the surgeon's knife.

Mr. Oscar Waden, 3520 West Huron street, Duluth, cured of a tumor by Dr. Mitchell.

Mr. John Barker of Alabaster, Mich., treated for rheumatism and kidney trouble and recommended Dr. Mitchell's treatment.

Mr. George Ryckman, 1423 West Michigan street, Duluth, who was carried upstairs to Dr. Mitchell's office about a year ago suffering from rheumatism and kidney trouble, and has given up hope of being cured, is now working and enjoying good health.

Mr. Albert Rogers, Duluth, Minn., says: "I have just finished a course of Dr. Mitchell's treatment for heart and stomach trouble. Today I am a well man and give Dr. Mitchell the credit."

an effort to get more specific information concerning President Wilson's warning.

A number of large corporations employing Americans in various outlying points in the republic are perplexed as to what instructions they shall deliver to their men, since the carrying out of President Wilson's instructions would mean a cessation of their operations.

Lind Will Not Return. Vera Cruz, Aug. 30.—John Lind has let it be understood that he will not return to Mexico City except on special invitation of President Huerta. He will probably take passage for the United States on the next passenger steamer sailing from this port.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, entertained Mr. Lind at tea on board the battleship Louisiana yesterday afternoon. Eleven American cadets, sailed from Vera Cruz on the City of Tampa for New Orleans.

Methodists Object. New York, Aug. 30.—The Methodist Episcopal board of foreign missions has received a telegram from Dr. John W. Butler, the superintendent of its mission in Mexico City, stating that the American exodus are "much resented" by the American colony and American missionaries of all denominations object to leaving.

was so insistent that I allowed myself to be persuaded.

"On Wednesday, I believe, some men who called themselves immigration authorities called on me. They wanted me to go right to Sherbrooke, give Thaw a hearing and turn him loose. But I couldn't do that. They had the machine waiting, but I didn't go. I had a horse I wanted to sell that afternoon. A while later one of them came back. He wanted me to sign over my rights to another magistrate. But I told him I thought I was capable of dealing with the situation myself. British fair play won't suffer in my hands."

Mrs. Dupuis entered. She is taller than her husband.

"Let me tell you," Mrs. Dupuis said, "I'm for Thaw. I wouldn't hurt him for the world. My husband is not going to do anything hasty."

Appeals to Ottawa. Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 30.—Attorney General Carmichael of New York has petitioned the Canadian government for the return of Harry K. Thaw to the authorities at Matteawan. The petition is based on the fact that Thaw is a resident of New York and is a citizen of the United States.

There is great alarm here," reads the telegram, "over the American government's order for the withdrawal of all citizens of the United States residing here."

You will understand that there is no reason for this order. The American colony of this republic is one of the most numerous of those among us. Holds Thaw is Insane. Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 30.—Judge J. J. Miller and Judge Thomas A. Frimble, in the orphans' court here, today refused immediate consideration of a petition filed by counsel for Harry Thaw and asking that his trustee, the Fidelity Trust & Trust Company of Pittsburgh, be permitted to pay him $10,000 of the $50,000 of his estate.

"This court will take judicial notice that the petitioner is adjudged insane," Judge Miller said, "and we cannot see how we can make any decree in this case in view of his standing in the sister state," said Judge Miller.

The application will be argued before the orphans' bench of the orphans' court next week when the regular list is taken up. George H. Calvert, of counsel for Thaw, made a plain during his action on the case that a part of the funds desired was to be used by Thaw in having the courts of Allegheny county pass upon the question of his sanity, and the remainder to pay the lawyers now working in his behalf in Canada.

ST. CHARLES DEPOT ROBBED; TWO ARRESTS

One Thousand Dollars in Silver Taken From Express Package.

St. Charles, Minn., Aug. 30.—Two men giving their names as J. C. Ball and W. G. McClain, both of Rochester, N. Y., are being detained at the city jail pending an investigation of the theft of $1,000 in silver from the local depot yesterday while the station agent was at dinner. The money was contained in an express package, consigned to a local bank.

A posse captured the men late last week when they were about ten miles from town. They deny all knowledge of the crime and assert they won at gambling nearly $100 in silver found on their persons.

NAVAL STORES BURN IN HARBOR OF CORK

Five Hundred Bluejackets Help Firemen Fight Flames.

Queenstown, Ireland, Aug. 30.—The warehouses and stores of the British navy on the island of Haulbowline, in Cork harbor, caught fire today. Great quantities of oil and thousands of tons of coal are stored on the island. Five hundred bluejackets from the British fleet were sent to assist the firemen in fighting the flames.

The fire was under control at 5 o'clock this afternoon. A large block of buildings was destroyed, including the canteen, the rigging loft, the timber store and the recreation and dining halls.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 30.—Five Chicago suffragists, starting from Milwaukee in an automobile encountered an obstacle near Waukegan which caused them to invade a drug store and almost buy out the perfume supply. The animal had not, and kitty, which proved to be a skunk, caused them to beat a hasty retreat. They were unable to outdistance the smell, however.

ORGANIZATION IS GROWING

Rural Mail Carriers Are Realizing Value of Association.

Fifty-Five Counties in Minnesota Are Now Represented.

The remarkable growth of the Minnesota Rural Mail Carriers' association was brought out at the business session today, held in the assembly room of the Commercial club.

State Organizer J. F. McNally stated that at the present time the state organization of the rural carriers included fifty-five of the counties of Minnesota.

Mr. McNally declared that the growth was chiefly due to the fact that the state association went after the "business," so to speak. In other words the state organizer went after those who were not in the state organization, in many cases advancing money and assisting in the organization of a local.

F. H. Hesselroth, secretary, supplemented the figures given by Mr. McNally by the statement that during the past year the growth of the association has increased with remarkable strides, there being 621 members at the present time against 332 members reported at the last year's convention held at St. Peter.

The figures of the convention of last year showed that there were twenty-three local organizations. Now there are thirty-nine locals. There has been an increase of membership of 290 and an increase of sixteen locals in the work that has been done since the convention of last year.

Mrs. Purdy gave an address upon the problems of providing for the welfare of children, urging the necessity for the carrying of insurance. Before closing the speaker said that the association was an ideal, constitutional body.

During the course of the meeting there was a great deal of routine business transacted, such as the reading of the report of the executive committee, the adding and the constitutional committee.

G. L. Rathbun of Anoka, made a few remarks to the delegates, declaring that he was proud of the growth of the organization, and that he had watched its progress with a good deal of interest.

PASSING OF RESTAURANT

Superior Street May Soon Have Only One Eating Place Giving Service.

Expenses Too High to Compete With the Quick Lunches.

The bachelor and the batchelorette, if that is what they may be called, are about to be struck by the "high cost of living." No longer will the family man need be the only one to kick about the price of the necessities required to keep body and soul together.

The above mentioned single persons, who have taken it easy and comfortable while taking their meals in restaurants about the city, being waited on by pretty waitresses, and in other ways catered to by the management of these places, will have to change their habit. Why? Because at present the high cost of commodities is about to put the restaurants out of business.

It is rumored that at least two of the remaining restaurants in the downtown section of Superior street are about to change their style of service. That is instead of catering to the class which likes to be waited upon, they intend to become quick lunch places where a change of class is being housed now doing business on the street. It will be up to the hungry to wait on themselves or go without.

High rents, expensive waiter service, and high prices of meats and other food stuffs are given as the reason for the proposed changes. The restaurants maintaining waiter service, it is said, are not able to compete with the quick lunch restaurants. Owners of the latter plan to make the change in order to make the people thoroughly realize the "high cost of living" has become higher.

Recently two restaurants, both of which catered to a cheap class of trade, have gone out of business. These were the Oregon, between Fifth and Sixth avenue west, and the St. Paul, between Lake and First avenues east. The latter place was converted to a quick lunch room.

It is persistently rumored that the Delmonico, Fourth and Fifth avenues, is about to undergo this change, and that the Delmonico, between Lake and First avenues east, will also consider this change in the near future.

The change is made it will leave only one first-class restaurant on the street.

Al Wagner, proprietor of the Delmonico was reticent about speaking of the change, but he said the place were not averse to stating that such a change might come any time.

Andrew Haggren, proprietor of the Delmonico, stated that he intended giving table service as at present. All conditions indicate that it would be a big loss. He intimated that the cost might be as high as $1.00 a plate, but if it went any higher or maintained its present standard then it would be a loss.

The prices of meals would have to go up or else the place would have to be changed to a quick lunch restaurant in order to pay expenses.

NEW WHEAT IS ARRIVING

First Heavy Receipts of Grain Reported By Railroads.

holding for months against the market. It is expected that from now on the influx of wheat and other cereals will increase right along and as fast as the new crop is harvested there will be a growing volume of grain coming to the head of the Lakes to the terminal elevators here. This means more business for the grain inspection department, and in preparation therefor, all those who have been called back to work and are now busy in the railroad yards and the inspection offices, passing their judgment on the various kinds of grain.

Yesterday 137 cars of wheat arrived. This was not as strong as a year ago yesterday, but then last year was a grain deluge year. A year ago yesterday 174 cars of wheat came to Duluth. There are reported today 310 cars on track. This, of course, includes all kinds of grain, the lion's share going to the wheat list. Not much flax or any of the coarser grains are arriving as yet.

NURSE WILL BE EMPLOYED

Will Have Charge of the Infant Welfare Work in City.

Will Work in Conjunction With the Health Department.

City officials have definitely decided to employ the services of a visiting nurse, according to an announcement made this morning by Dr. H. E. Webster, health director.

The additional employee will have charge of the infant welfare work during the two or three months of summer, when this is considered essential, and devote the balance of her time to the work now done by the visiting nurse employed by the Associated Charities.

This arrangement will remove this expense from the shoulders of the Associated Charities, while not ceasing the work which has been established in Duluth along that line. She will probably work in conjunction with the health department, as the field is in the health line, but it might also come under the welfare branch, as it may be placed in the class of charitable work.

The health department officials have felt for some time that a visiting nurse should be added to the city's staff of employees. They have come across numerous cases where the services were needed, and the possibilities have been growing.

Infant work has been so successful that it will become one of the established institutions of the city. It was first tried last year and has been continued since with excellent results. Many mothers have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded to secure pure, certified milk at reasonable cost, and have shown an eagerness to obtain advice and information from the nurses who have been visiting them at their homes and from the physician who has conducted weekly clinics at the milk stations.

WILL MEET WITH COMMISSIONERS

Residents of Steel Plant Suburbs Will Tell Needs.

Residents of Gary, Smithville, Norton's Steel Plant division, New Duluth and Fond du Lac will meet with the city commission Tuesday afternoon to confer with the officials relative to the proposed street car extension to New Duluth.

The people in the western suburbs are very anxious that the line be built this year, and will urge that all means be taken to expedite it. They feel that the lack of street service is retarding the growth and development of that part of the city, and want any obstacles which may be in the way eliminated with all possible dispatch.

Brooklyn Girl Says She Gets Better Pay When So Dressed.

New York, Aug. 30.—From a cell in the Raymond Street Jail, Elizabeth Trindle, a Brooklyn girl, appealed today to President Wilson to issue her a permit to dress as a man.

"If I can appear as a man and do a man's work I shall be more respected and better paid," she wrote in her letter to the president. "It is no crime for a woman to wear male attire, yet I am locked up in jail because I have asked a permit from you or some one else to wear the costume I have adopted."

Miss Trindle, arrested for masquerading as a man, is now in the male attire at a bookbinder's. She claimed that because of her dress she received far better wages than the other women, and refused to promise to dress like a woman hereafter.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owe to Those Who Perpetrate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. This tendency to avoid nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 222 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers.

PREPARE MARVELS OF ILLUMINATION AT PANAMA EXPOSITION

Marvels in the development of electrical lighting apparatus and illuminating methods will enable San Francisco to light the buildings of the Panama-Pacific Exposition inside and out in a way that would have been impossible five or six years ago. Perfect reflections of whole buildings will be obtained at night in the lagoons as clearly as in daylight. There will be no glare at night and no dark places.

Fifty thousand dollars have been expended in a single line of experimentation—in the development of cut glass reflectors to be known as "jewels." The splendors of the colonnades and towers will be brought out as clearly and as distinctly as in the light of day. The sculpture will not be shaded, but will have form, life, perspective.

Most exhibitions appear too bright and often the visitor goes away with tired eyes. This won't be true at San Francisco. By use of the new discoveries the world may find with in a few years that daylight actually could be dispensed with.

Expert Ryan is working to bring his lighting plans in accord with the plans of Jules Guerin, director of color. There is to be harmony in hue and the artificial illumination. Great mural paintings upon the walls of the courts will be illuminated in part by concealed lights. The three central courts of the exposition will be illuminated by huge glass fountains of thick white glass that by day will not suggest that they are sources of light.

The batteries of searchlights will be manned by sixty men drilled to handle them with the precision of artillerymen. On clear nights, the shaft of light, radiating like the petals of a great lily, will be visible in the heavens forty or fifty miles. The hills of Oakland and Berkeley will stand out as if in daylight.

In place of incandescent lamps, cut glass disks, technically known as jewels, will be employed. These will be used to produce the special effects that have usually been made out of incandescent lamps in silhouettes of lights. When viewed under the reflected batteries of searchlight, they will sparkle like great stars.

In the harbor will be great batteries of searchlights mounted upon piers, and batteries of searchlights will be located upon the roofs of exhibit palaces, behind the columns of the colonnades that encircle the courts and in recesses of tower domes and minarets.

Indirect or reflected lighting will not be seen, but the searchlights will be cast upon the stately murals, decorations and facades of the buildings. In the courts and throughout the grounds will be radiant groups of statuary.

NO BLAME ON BANK FOR EXCESSIVE LOAN.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Charles Stark, national bank examiner, New York, reported today that no culpability attached to the National City bank in connection with the excessive loan of $44,500,000 to the street railway companies of Chicago last spring.

The report states that in making the loan, which was in the nature of a syndicate transaction to purchase securities, the bank merely committed an act beyond its corporate powers, as many other banks are said to have done in similar cases.

PLEADS GUILTY TO DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Although arrested with three men on a charge of disorderly conduct at 1:30 o'clock this morning, Emma Star, told Judge Culling that she had not met the men before and that she had stopped her while she was on her way to meet her husband.

When arraigned early this morning she pleaded not guilty, but shortly before noon changed her plea and she was committed to the city jail.

Oscar Anderson, Charles Lake and John Koski were arrested with her, while the four were causing a disturbance on the Lake avenue viaduct. The Star woman declared that the men stopped her and insisted that she take a drink. She refused, she said, and for this reason the men took her by the throat. It was this scuffle that attracted the attention of Officer D. Olson, who made the arrest.

The three men pleaded not guilty when arraigned this morning and their cases were set for 2 o'clock this afternoon, but in each case being fixed at $15.

HARBOR IN DANGER OF THE "MOVIES" CONGESTION

Motion Pictures of Marine Scenes Will Advertise the City.

Coal Docks at Head of Lakes Piled High With Fuel.

Films Taken Under Direction of State Immigration Department.

Receipts Have Shown Increase and Shipments a Decrease.

Danger of serious congestion on the coal docks of the Duluth-Superior harbor is facing officials of transportation companies at the head of the lakes.

The outgoing coal receipts for the first seven months of the year are 3,669 carloads behind the figures for 1912, while in the same period 747,656 tons more have arrived at the docks than in 1912.

August is considered a dull month in outgoing shipments and although the docks have just been completed by R. H. Salter, Duluth representative for the Western weighing and inspection bureau:

1912. Number of Cars. 1913. Number of Cars.
January ... 31,062 January ... 22,717
February ... 22,326 February ... 20,267
March ... 22,512 March ... 19,903
April ... 13,523 April ... 17,046
May ... 11,476 May ... 16,909
June ... 12,706 June ... 14,794
July ... 16,745 July ... 16,055

Total ... 120,360 Total ... 127,691
The average number of tons in a car is thirty, leaving 109,070 tons less than the movement of last year, while the increase of 747,656 tons coming up the lakes makes the difference now on the docks 856,726.

Mr. Salter predicted that the coal business would be heavy, starting the first of the week. He said the coal shipments were always heavy in September, October and November and that the big spur would take place about the first of the week and continue until Christmas.

Railroads are urging coal buyers in the Western territory to take their consignments now so that the freight cars would be available for the grain movement. If the country buyers order right away and unload their cars promptly it will be a great help to the farmers and the railroads, in the opinion of transportation men.

Garrison in Chicago. Chicago, Aug. 30.—Secretary Garrison arrived here today from St. Paul to inspect the military barracks and grounds at Fort Sheridan. He planned to hold a conference late in the afternoon with Mayor Harrison on the subject of the proposed new harbor. The secretary expects to depart at midnight for St. Louis.

NOW A SUBMARINE WIRELESS. Scientific American: The navy department has adopted a "submarine violin" for the transmission of messages between submarines, torpedoes, boats and shore stations of other vessels. Exhaustive tests of the apparatus have been made on many vessels. The mechanism is explained to be an adaptation of the violin project two steel staves. From the ends of these is stretched a piano wire. Touching the wire is the roughened rim of a wheel which, when it revolves, sets up vibrations in the wire. The wheel is controlled by a motor inside the hull of the submarine, and the motor, in turn, is controlled by a Morse key.

When the key is pressed the motor begins to revolve, the exterior wheel scraping the wire precisely as a bow scrapes a violin string. The hull of the submarine acts as a sounding board. The key is used precisely as an ordinary Morse key, and the dots and dashes are hummed on the wire as the key is depressed and released. About eight words a minute is the best speed so far attained. The receiving apparatus is the ordinary telephone receiver. The sound under water may be connected by insulated wires to a fort, shore station or another vessel.

The experiments at Hampton Roads showed that the vibrations may be heard clearly at a distance of five miles. Naval officers believe that the device can be perfected so that the range of the mechanism may be greatly extended. Christian Berger, an Austrian, is the inventor of the submarine violin. He attempted to get the Austrian government to make tests of it, but failed. Coming States, he succeeded in convincing navy department officials of the practicability of the scheme.

THE POOR MAN'S COURT. Chicago Post: Kansas has a new "debtors' court" which promises to be a model for the country. It is as well as it promises to succeed in reducing the cost of justice to poor people.

In this court no claim is entertained which amounts to more than $20. The plaintiff is not permitted to have a lawyer. Instead, he or she must come in simply and tell the judge "all about it." The judge will ask questions. He may reach out after the defendant and may even summon witnesses. More than that, he may adjourn court, put on his hat and go out and investigate the situation in person. A peripatetic court with no technicalities whatever.

Similar courts are in successful operation in Germany, and they ought to work here. There is a vast deal of petty injustice in the world which arises from the fact that there is no machinery for collecting small accounts and settling petty, but important, obligations.

IDEAL SUMMER VACATION ENJOYED BY MEMBERS OF THE Y. M. C. A. BOYS' DEPARTMENT AT STURGEON LAKE

Camp Miller, the boys' department Y. M. C. A. camp, closed its sixteenth season last Saturday.

The camp was the largest ever held, there being eighty-nine in the party. The boys returned in a private car, and a happier and more enthusiastic crowd would be hard to find.

Sturgeon lake, the new camp site, proved ideal in every particular and the fifty-four acres that the club owns provided ample opportunity for the study of the woods and woodcraft.

Henry Jensen discovered forty-one different wild flowers; John Fee, nineteen different kinds of trees; and Marcus Smith, ten kinds of birds. Ten 12 by 14 tents housed the campers and there was keen competition as to which could make their tent and property the most attractive. The honors were awarded to tent No. 2, in charge of Ralph Dunning, with the following members: Norman Sweeney, Willard Thorpe, Stephen McGiffert, Neil Upham, Henry Jensen, Donald Gallagher, Warren Moore and Russell Duncan.

They were awarded Y. M. C. A. pins. The big clubhouse proved an added feature of Camp Miller. It is a building 20 feet by 40 feet, with a 12-foot porch screened in. A big fire place on one end, the gift of J. D. Stryker, added to the cozy appearance of the club. The grounds were formally dedicated to the boys of Duluth last Saturday, appropriate speeches being made.

Swimming as usual was very popular and every boy in camp was able to swim when he left with but one exception. He was troubled with earache and was not able to go into the water. On Friday night a banquet was served. This was followed by the giving out of the awards won during the two weeks. The last night at camp closed with a huge bonfire and marshmallow roast.

There was keen competition during the whole camp for the honor of winning the P. A. Patrick cup which was to be awarded to the boy getting the most points. This honor went to John Fee who got a total of 287 points. Henry Jensen came next with 332, and Willard Thorpe, third, with 332.

GAMINETTI DEFENSE BEGINS TO APPEAR

Passive Acquiescence Instead of Active Part in Plans Alleged.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30.—The trial of P. Drew Caminetti has moved swiftly in the pathway provided for it by the trial immediately preceding of Maury I. Diggs, convicted of the same charges, violation of the federal white slave law. The witnesses and the evidence of the government are, with few exceptions, the same, the testimony is almost the same, and, far as can yet be judged, the tactics of the defense are the same.

Marsha Warrington had the stand for the greater part of yesterday, and her testimony went to show that Caminetti was guilty of assisting in transporting to Reno, in violation of the Mann act, and that he enticed them to go. The effort of the defense was to prove that Caminetti had played a passive part. One passage of the cross-examination is representative of the whole trend.

Agreed to Everything. "At the meeting between Diggs, Caminetti, Miss Norris and yourself on the Saturday before you left for Reno," the meeting at which you two girls agreed to go—Diggs did all the talking and Caminetti sat by and agreed to everything by keeping quiet. Is that the way you wish to be understood?"

"But he agreed passively, did he not?" Here the court interrupted. "Is it your theory, Mr. Howe," Judge Van Fleet asked, "that Caminetti was taken along also?"

"Our theory is, your honor, that Caminetti had nothing to do with taking these girls to Reno. The party went and he went along with it. We don't hold that, because of certain circumstances, number of complaints have been issued, necessary to leave Sacramento without delay and took the first train, without regard to its destination."

Girls' Story Different. Against this contention was the testimony of Miss Warrington that Caminetti had furnished the money for the trip and that he had given 120 to Lola Norris, out of which she should have her passage. In this statement, and in her repeated affirmations that Caminetti had agreed to everything Diggs proposed, the witness was not shaken.

On the whole, the story drawn from her went less into detail than when she told it the first time. Counsel for the government was more insistent, and when a brief re-direct examination shall have been finished next Tuesday, the girls' ordeal will be over. Lola Norris will follow her on the stand. Today there is no session of court.

PANTALOONS HAVE RETURNED

Chaste Garment Used by Stately Dames of Civil War Times, Revived to Cover Shortcomings of the Shameless Slit Skirt.

HOW IT IS.

The stately dames of the Civil War days would turn over in their graves if they only knew what the young women of today are doing with one of their favorite articles of dress, the pantaloons.

In the days of the hoop-skirt the gentlewomen of the country wore flowing pantaloons, gathered at the ankles so they would stay down when the bell shaped dresses billowed with the breeze.

Now the girls who wear the tight fitting dresses, adorned by the women of the early days, have adopted the pantaloons as part of the much undressed dress of today. And this is the reason: With the tight skirt the young women are restrained in their stride and on boarding a street car, or going up other steps, there is not room enough to take the long stride unless the skirt slides up toward the knee. That being the case varying lengths of the person of the young woman getting on the car are exposed to the weather.

The sagacious dress architect has discovered that the pantaloons of the early days is just the thing to overcome this disadvantage. Now the girls wear them and they are protected from exposure and the young men are protected from the hot blushes that they may experience when boarding a car behind some fair young fashion model.

HOW IT USED TO BE.

HOW IT IS GOING TO BE.

GERMANY LIKELY TO BE A FACTOR IN THE 1916 OLYMPIAD

"Beware of Germany," is the warning which is being sent to this country by every one who has made a close and intellectual study of the systematic way the Kaiser's athletic officials are going about the business of getting together a team which will properly represent their country in the sixth Olympiad, which is to be staged in Berlin in July, 1916.

Most persons do not realize the extent to which Germany is planning to break up American monopoly of Olympic championships. A little unwritten history will probably illustrate this. In 1908, the year the games were held in London, the International Olympic council offered Germany the games in 1912. The Germans refused, after a careful study of the local situation, to take them. For several years previously their athletic officials had been planning to enter the athletes in 1912. To that end they had secured a place for the location of the stadium and had had it ready for 1912 had the not decided after a careful canvass that in the track and field events they had not been sufficiently aroused to enable Germany to do better than the United States.

But in the meantime Germany went vigorously to work to prepare a team which would make Germany a factor in the showing at Stockholm. Its predecessors had done so in London in 1908. On the foundation of the German team has been built ever since, and now has an athletic system which its sponsors feel will make Germany a factor in the showing at Stockholm.

Presumably, however, that capital will be willing to risk such a considerable sum of money on the development of a team which would give a very strong showing at the 1916 Olympiad. The club presidents of the various universities and colleges are being urged to contribute to the fund. The club presidents of the various universities and colleges are being urged to contribute to the fund.

Following Yankee System. Germany makes no secret of the fact that the ideal system for the development of athletic teams is that followed in the United States. To that end they have adopted American methods wherever possible since 1908, and have been successful in securing several American athletes living in Germany, notably James Lightbody, a three time Olympic champion in 1904. Lightbody was very keen to make the German team, and he has a position created much like that of Ernest Flanagan in Sweden.

German authorities apparently had other ideas, not being ready at that time to entrust the development of the athletic system in force at all of our large universities and colleges to a German. They decided to send a commission to the United States to make a most exhaustive study of the athletic system in force at all of our large universities and colleges.

An Ideal Man for Job. There is no doubt that Kraenzlein would make an ideal man for the position. He is a German by birth and has been in Germany several times and is well acquainted with the German system. He has been in Germany several times and is well acquainted with the German system.

Definition of Amateurs. Another point which everybody hopes will be cleared up is a uniform definition for an amateur. Every team which competed at Stockholm last year contained men who, according to the definition of an amateur in track and field athletics, was an amateur.

Whatever the convention accomplishes will be due largely to the United States. This country has been insisting for a long time upon the necessity of such action. The international council has not acted on these suggestions, but has let it be known that the present conference has its approval and if its findings are approved they will probably be made part of the Olympic code.

LATEST HAPPENINGS AND WORLD

NOTHING DONE ON HIGHWAY

Another Year Must Come Before Twin City Road Is Improved.

New Models in Automobiles Are Being Shown in Duluth.

Much has been written about the roads between Duluth and the Twin Cities and much more could be. Some autoists could be arrested for what they think of this road and yet a jury might return a verdict of "justifiable expression" were they to say just what they harbor in their thoughts. That road, be it stated, is something fierce, for it is the road to the north, or "English as she is spoke" these days.

One of the most recent to come over the road and say things about it is James D. Keough of St. Paul. He motored to Duluth during the week and "got his," especially at the end of the line. He says that the road as a whole is bad enough, but when one approaches Duluth it is enough to test the proverbial patience of Job. The various interests which have the advancement of Duluth—commercial and as a transient center—must have waited patiently all summer for the county commissioners to do something to the road, or if they have not the power, to make some attempt to have those that have the power do something. And yet "the harvest is past, the summer is ended and we are not saved." Another year at least must be gone through before anything is done and in the interim tourists have come and tourists have gone, but that road goes on forever like Tennessee's. The quality, in fact, is a thing about it and about Duluth, for Duluth will be blamed for its approach.

And now comes Mr. Keough with his testimony, which is substantially the same as that furnished by others who have traversed the road before. Really and truly something should be done about this alloted thoroughfare. The only people who benefit by its present condition are garages at each end of the line which fix the chains that have gone over it and dentists who replace or readjust dislocated front teeth.

Dr. A. E. Eberhart and family of Mason City, Iowa, are in Duluth. They came up in a model No. 10 Buick this week. The doctor is a big fellow, a big fellow and thinks that this is about the best climate he ever encountered. During the sneezing season he is very much enamored of Duluth. He is one of the few who do not complain bitterly of the roads; but he is not bragging about it.

Len McNamara, local agent for the Studebaker car, has received the following from the home office, which contains considerable matter of interest to auto users and prospective purchasers. Mr. McNamara has some of the regular models on hand and is demonstrating them with considerable success these days. There will be more Studebaker cars in Duluth than there are now if indications mean anything. Following is the communication:

Amazing as have been some of the American automobile values, when an advent in the export market of the modern American light six.

In Europe, Australia, South America and South Africa, as well as the Orient, "Sixes" have formerly been regarded as the prerogative of the extremely wealthy. In European countries, "Sixes" have been the vehicle of royalty and have been almost exclusive in price.

"We have received some amusing letters from our dealers abroad, following their receipt of their first shipments of 'Sixes,'" writes Foreign Sales Manager Benson of the Studebaker corporation. "Many of them are, too, from dealers to whom the 'Six' was well known in specification and technical details. Apparently we have knocked the props from under all their established ideas of automobile possibilities."

"Our distributors in Peru made use of their first 'Six' in playing a rather cruel practical joke on their competitors in Lima, most of whom represent lines of European manufacture. They removed the name plate and hub caps from the car and placed it in solitary majesty on their floor. Then they invited the other dealers in, and let them go over the car thoroughly inside and out."

"What do you think of it?" asked Signor Pancarvo, our representative. "They all talked it over and agreed that, with its electric lights, starter and horn, its large tires, immaculate finish, six-passenger body and six-cylinder motor, the car was the best anywhere around 1,500 lbs., $4,500. "When the jury had handed down this decision, Signor Pancarvo produced the hub caps and name plate, and put them into place. This opened the eyes of several of the wiser ones who knew of the Studebaker 'Six' and had heard of its virtue in the states. "When they realized that they had been stung into putting so high a figure on a car which they knew Pancarvo Bros. would sell at a price below most of the 'Tours' they themselves were handling, some of them broke into loud lamentations, while others covered their confusion by heading a thrifty procession to the nearest 'Posada.'"

The sales of the Michelin tires grows merrily. It is rather remarkable about this tire. Speak to a man who uses the Michelin and he will simply praise it. Speak disparagingly of it, if you have the courage, and he is going to have trouble with his hands at once. The Michelin used on your car is no press agent stuff either—it has the habit of coming back to the users more pleased this year than usual for the reason, it is claimed, that the experiment in other times of pulling down the price, with a consequent pulling down the quality, has been a distinct failure; while with the Michelin whose price has been maintained, and its quality unimpaired, satisfaction is still uninterrupted.

The Kleyn Auto company at 529 East Superior street, are agents for the Buick and the Hudson cars and the Federal trucks, and with this combination they have a line to brag about; which they are not doing. The Buick, among the cheaper cars has a wonderful record, and the Hudson, among the medium priced cars is also playing a stellar role in motordom. Fred Kleyn is one who can demonstrate a car to the best advantage and is enjoying a lot of success with both of these cars this season.

"I've heard of many different kinds of 'trunk sales,'" said Charles G. Obermeyer, Duluth agent for the Carter car, "but one of our agents reported that he had had a 'trunk sale' and does take the prize. He actually sold a car to one of his competitors. Here's how he did it."

"They had been waging a pretty stiff campaign, so it seemed, and one day the competitor happened to be in the Carter car garage. They got to talking about what the car would do, when the competitor made the remark that if the Carter car was such a good hill climber he would like to see it go up the Jones hill, one of the well known inclines of the city. Our agent said that he could drive the Carter car up the hill any time and would back his faith with the amount of money."

"Well, I don't want to bet," said the competitor, "but I'll tell you what I'll do, I'll write you a check for the car and stand at the foot of the hill and if you can drive up to me and get it, then the car is mine. How does that strike you?"

"You're on," replied our agent, and proceeded to make the easiest sale of his entire career as a Carter car representative, to use his own words."

"The latest series of Kissel Kars was offered to the city, but that they would be received with speedy favor and that belief has been more than verified. The Kissel Kars, Jr., of the Inter-State Auto company, is a car which is everywhere in the country where the points of these up-to-the minute cars have been made known. The Kissel Kars is a car of refinement, convenience and mechanical attribute entering into the design of the most luxurious automobiles. The two 'Sixes,' the 48 and 60-horse power models, and the 40 and 44-horse power models, are equipped as no other cars at the price could ever boast before. Road-worthiness and completeness stickles out all over these splendid vehicles."

The Best Advertising.

L. A. Van Patten of the Lozier company, has written a most interesting article on "Automobile Ads in Newspapers," which appeared in the latest issue of the Fourth Estate. In it Mr. Van Patten says:

"The use of the newspaper as an advertising medium, particularly for automobiles, has five special advantages, as follows:

"It offers quick action. "It always precipitates results on the part of the prospective buyer. "Its wide, large page gives excellent opportunity for variety and power of display."

"It offers concentration in particular cities and zones. "It pays attention to the automobile as a news feature. "There are times in the automobile business when quickness of action on the part of the manufacturer's advertising department is imperative. The automobile as a product, built as it is in year models, almost as perishable as fruit, and something like fruit, it must be moved quickly."

"A suggestive suggestion season requires an advertising tonic and the means is the quickest means, hence the newspaper. That is one

Michigan's Withdrawal Robs Western Football of Interest
--Badger Club's Card Postponed--Mathewson a Prophet--Elmer Miller Starring in Field.

(BY BRUCE.)

WITH Alonzo A. Stagg back on the job and Papa Williams returned from pursuits variously identified with pleasure and the chase of dull care, one begins to think of the pastime of the gridiron and speculate vaguely upon the impending events of the fall. Yea, verily, the call of the pigskin reacheth forth and grasps the youth of the land by the nape of the neck.

It looks as if the same old plans were set up in the same old precedent worn alley. Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago will be the contenders of the West, with nary a stifling struggle from the other teams--for, as you very well know, Michigan is out of it.

It's a bally shame that the interest has to be taken out of the greatest of all fall sports because of the narrow difference of opinion of a very few men whom some of us are inclined to believe possess little knowledge of the game or little real grasp of the needs of football in general out here in the wild and enthusiastic section of the country.

Illinois is at best but a speculation as to one team. In various years that have added their length to the interminable procession of the ages, the Illini have been figured once or twice as regular guys in the settling of the Western championship. Then the bubble would burst as a rule, and the high hopes of the Urbana chaps would flee like the iridescent dreams of the builder of castles in the vicinity of Seville.

Northwestern is to the football of the West what the jester was in the days of old to the courts of merry monarchs. Small colleges play the Methodists and often tie or defeat the purple people and drag the ancient banners in the mud.

There was a time when Nebraska came into the arena of Western football with palpable senses and the belief born of victory once over Minnesota, that the Cornhuskers were destined to clean the teams of the conference and assume one of the seats of power.

This was in the departed days of "Bummy" Booth, that strident and handsome giant from the gridiron honor roll of Princeton. Nebraska found the task too tremendous; one requiring too high a class year in and year out, and with the passing of several seasons the Nebraska team was found back in the stiff tryout game class.

Iowa flourished once--aye, for four glorious and never to be forgotten years under the brilliant tutelage of Dr. Knipe, who in the days of fame of old Pennsylvania formed one of the greatest backfields ever assembled with Brook, Osgood and Williams.

But as in the case of Nebraska the fame and glory of Iowa was short lived. Like the others the Hawkeyes cannot be seriously considered with Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago. And it should be also thoroughly understood that the record of Chicago since the withdrawal of Michigan from the conference has been anything but consistent.

There was a big four in the West, as there has been for years, aye, decades, in the efforts East. The withdrawal of Michigan has disintegrated this combination and has, moreover, robbed Minnesota of her great annual game.

Starting back in 1890 the Minnesota-Wisconsin game remained the one big football feast of the West, speaking generally from all points of view, and particularly from the viewpoint of the students and graduates of the Gopher institution. But starting in 1902 the athletic entente with Michigan was started. And the annual game with the Wolverines, furnishing some of the greatest gridiron struggles East or West, came to take the place of the game with Wisconsin and to give to the West its one eagerly awaited contest.

Jealousy upon the part of some of the athletic officials of the University of Chicago, aided and abetted by some of the faculty members of other of the Western schools, caused Minnesota to break off her athletic relations with Michigan, and now we look forward to the opening of the football season game in these parts, when we hope the Chicago is difficult to dope. Minnesota should be stronger than last year--and for the rest, as has been stated before, they can't be seriously counted upon.

Flight Card Postponed.

OFFICIALS of the newly organized Badger Athletic club stated yesterday that the flight card between "Spike" Kelly and Tommy Sheehan and Johnny Tillman and Jimmy McGovern would be postponed for a week. The exact date will be announced within a day or two. Accorded to the statement made yesterday the original card will be rescheduled and the boys will be held to their original contracts. It is probable that Kelly will come here and train during the coming week.

The Prophetic Christpher.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON is almost as dexterous with a pen as he is with the little baseball. He writes of the Giants, occasionally of some other team. Just the other day the subject under discussion was the proud pitcher was the Philadelphia Athletics.

Mathewson has been calling attention to some weaknesses in the team that two years ago gave the haughty Giants one fine young drubbing. Schang, the youthful and brilliant catcher of the White Elephants, is one of the weak spots of Uncle Connie Mack's team, according to the trend of the dope as gathered by the venerable Christpher.

If our memory serves us faithfully, there were many predictions some two years ago as to the way the Giants would run the bases wild on Lapp and Thomas. Let us call attention to the fact of the turning back of nearly all of the venturesome members of the Giants who attempted to speed their way to second base.

If we are all willing to concede that the penants have been won by the Giants and Athletics, this column is willing to climb the mast of prediction at this highly propitious time, and wave a red flag for the Athletics.

Mack has the hitters and he has, moreover, one of the smartest teams in either league. This is not precisely the case with McGraw. The little Napoleon of baseball, if we are to believe some of the things we read and others that are brought to us by travelers from the world afar, does most of the thinking for his team. There is the old saying regarding two heads being better than one well endowed dome.

New York may have the shade in pitchers, and undoubtedly it has. But in all around excellence it does seem to us at least as if the Athletics are the stronger combination, and with Bender and Plank groomed for the pitchers of the Giants who will beat the Athletics.

Elmer Miller Doing Well.

IT SEEMS quite natural to pick up a paper and hear that Elmer Miller, the grand personage of the minors, is making sensational catches. The Nashville Banner, not a flag but a newspaper, lies before us and tells in glowing and well rounded sentences of the wonderful catch made by our Elmer in the game between Mobile and Birmingham.

Fielding has ever been the forte of this chap. Since joining the Mobile team he has bourgeoned forth as one of the nifty fly collectors of the Southern circuit. It was the catch of Miller's in the Mobile-Birmingham tango that saved the game, and doubtless by this time the genial Doc will be firmly entrenched in the good graces of the soft spoken fans down below the Mas and Dix line.

INITIATIVE FOR ANTI-FIGHT LAW

Church Federation of Los Angeles Waves Aside Protests.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30.--Initiative petitions toward a state law prohibiting long duration boxing exhibitions, or those professionalized either by state receipts or prize awards, will be circulated immediately throughout California. This was decided on late yesterday by the civil righteousness committee of the Los Angeles Church Federation, which waved aside protests of those interested in boxing as an athletic sport.

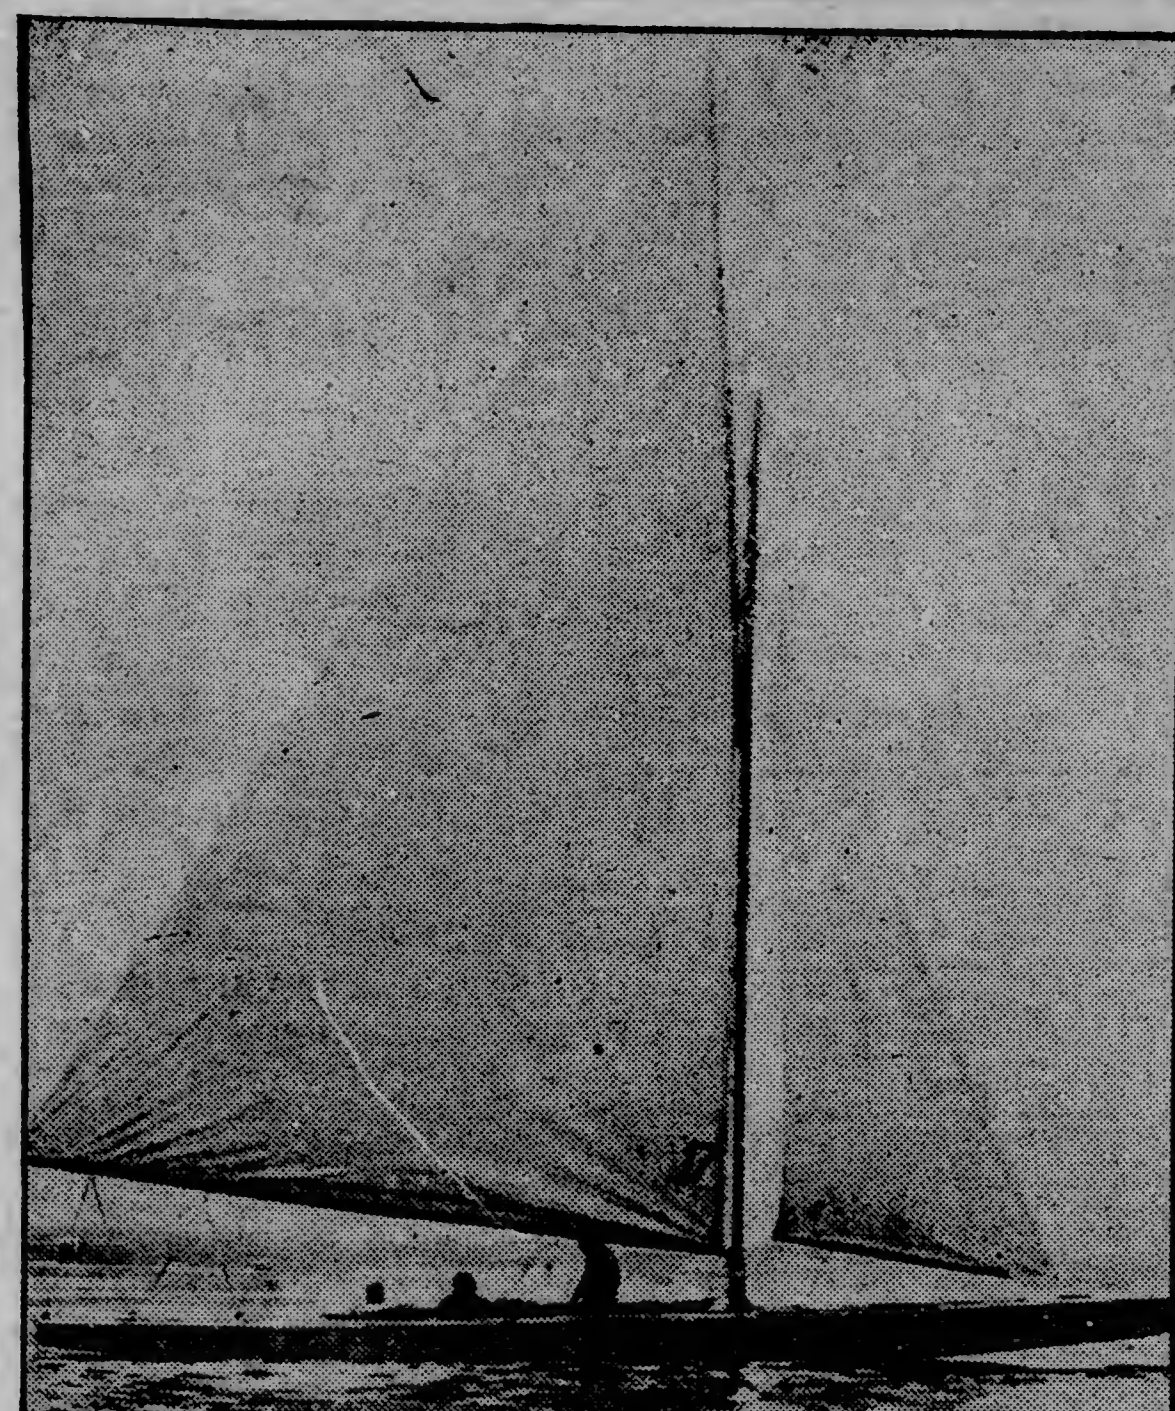

While the boxing enthusiasts and churchmen argued over the question of long duration boxing exhibitions, the recent death of John Young, was being given preliminary hearing before Justice Summerfield of Vernon. After numerous witnesses of the fatal bout had testified, the hearing was adjourned until Tuesday.

BLUME IS BACK FROM MEETING

Duluth President Says Northern Will Be Strong Next Season.

President H. A. Blume of the Duluth Baseball association has returned from the meeting of the club owners of the Northern league, which was held in Minneapolis during the present week. According to the statement of President Blume, Minneapolis will be a member of the league next season if such is the desire of the other club owners.

Mike Cantillon gave the other club owners his word that he was satisfied with the showing made by his club in its first year in the Northern. He further stated that he was perfectly willing to go through another season, if his club was desired in the league. Whether the club owners want Minneapolis in another year is a matter that has not been decided at the present time.

According to President Blume it is likely that Port Arthur and Fort Williams will come into the league. It is not likely that either La Crosse or St. Paul will be in the league, and the Twin Cities of the Canadian league will take the place of one of the teams that will be dropped. This move, it is understood, is practically decided upon.

Those attending the Minneapolis meeting are of the opinion that the league will be stronger during the coming season than it was during the one just completed, and it is stated that President Blume will be busily engaged during the winter making strenuous efforts to line up a real staff of umpires. It may be that will be down town park in Winnipeg before the start of the 1914 season.

FOURTEEN IN ELGIN RACE

Big Field of Star Drivers Entered in Big Automobile Event.

De Palma and Joe Dawson Divide Honors in Cur-tain Raiser.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 30.--Fourteen cars got away this morning in the annual 80-mile grind over the eight-mile course here for the Elgin national trophy. The larger field and larger machines than appeared in yesterday's race added to the interest in the long. Fierce contest and a crowd, exceeding in number that which broke through the lines of the militia at the start Friday afternoon was on hand to cheer the starters.

Bill Endicott, in a Case, was first man away, and in the order of their names the following took up their pursuit at intervals of thirty seconds.

Car—Ed. Rickenbacher, Driver Mason..... R. K. Mulford Mercer..... Spencer Wishart Stutz..... Gil Anderson Marmon..... Joe Dawson Keaton..... Sam Haugh Nyberg..... Harry Madden Nyberg..... Bob Burnham Velle..... Otto Honning Mercer..... Ralph De Palma Erwin Special..... Erwin Bergdoll

The greater throng attracted, perhaps, by the added elements of danger. Five men who drove their racing demons at mile-a-minute speed for nearly five hours yesterday, started out to repeat their performance. Their hands were blistered from holding the flying machines to the road in the rough spots, they felt the effects of the journey in every muscle and their nervous systems were in bad condition. This was especially true in the case of Harry Endicott, who fainted while on the thirty-third lap.

De Palma, who felt the effects of the race much better after a good sleep and that he expected to finish better than third, the position he was in yesterday when he succumbed to the strain, Ralph De Palma, who was bleeding at the nose when he finished, had put cushions in the driver's seat to relieve the jar on his head.

The Delta car, which Dawson piloted into second place Friday, was withdrawn. One of the wheels has a cracked hub and buckled rims from running on fenders.

Dawson, De Palma, Grant and Anderson were the favorites with the crowd and the race was a heavy cheer as they shot past the grandstand.

De Palma is Winner. Two veteran drivers shared the honors of yesterday's race, for the Elgin trophy--Ralph De Palma and Joe Dawson. The former won the 302 miles grind in 4:33.38, but De Palma was only slightly behind, negotiating the distance in 4:39.32.

De Palma drove a Mercer, while Dawson piloted a Delta, a new car. The counts are approximately 835 miles, requiring thirty-six laps, complete. Williams Chandler had driven his Marmon car thirty-three laps, when he was withdrawn because of a broken axle.

De Palma's average, 66.8 miles per hour is slightly better than the previous record for this event, which is an annual curtain-raiser to the Elgin trophy. The other five drivers who entered the race were disposed of as follows:

He Endicott went out after 253 miles, after twice breaking his water pipe and his car catching fire. E. V. Rickenbacher, pilot of a Marmon, was in his twenty-eighth lap when the race was called off. Spencer Wishart lasted 192 miles when a broken spring sent him to the side lines. C. N. Luttrell lasted 138 miles, when he quit with a burnt-out connecting rod.

Ralph Mulford, another Marmon pilot, was out in the tenth lap, after leading the field, with his crank shaft broken. There were no accidents of a serious nature, although Endicott was exhausted when his machine quit.

He recuperated in the field hospital. The weather was fair and while the track was a bit faster than a year ago, it was rougher than those that had been working on it had expected. Ten thousand persons saw the race.

MANY CHANGES FOR BALL PLAYERS

List of Trades and Purchases By Major Leagues Announced.

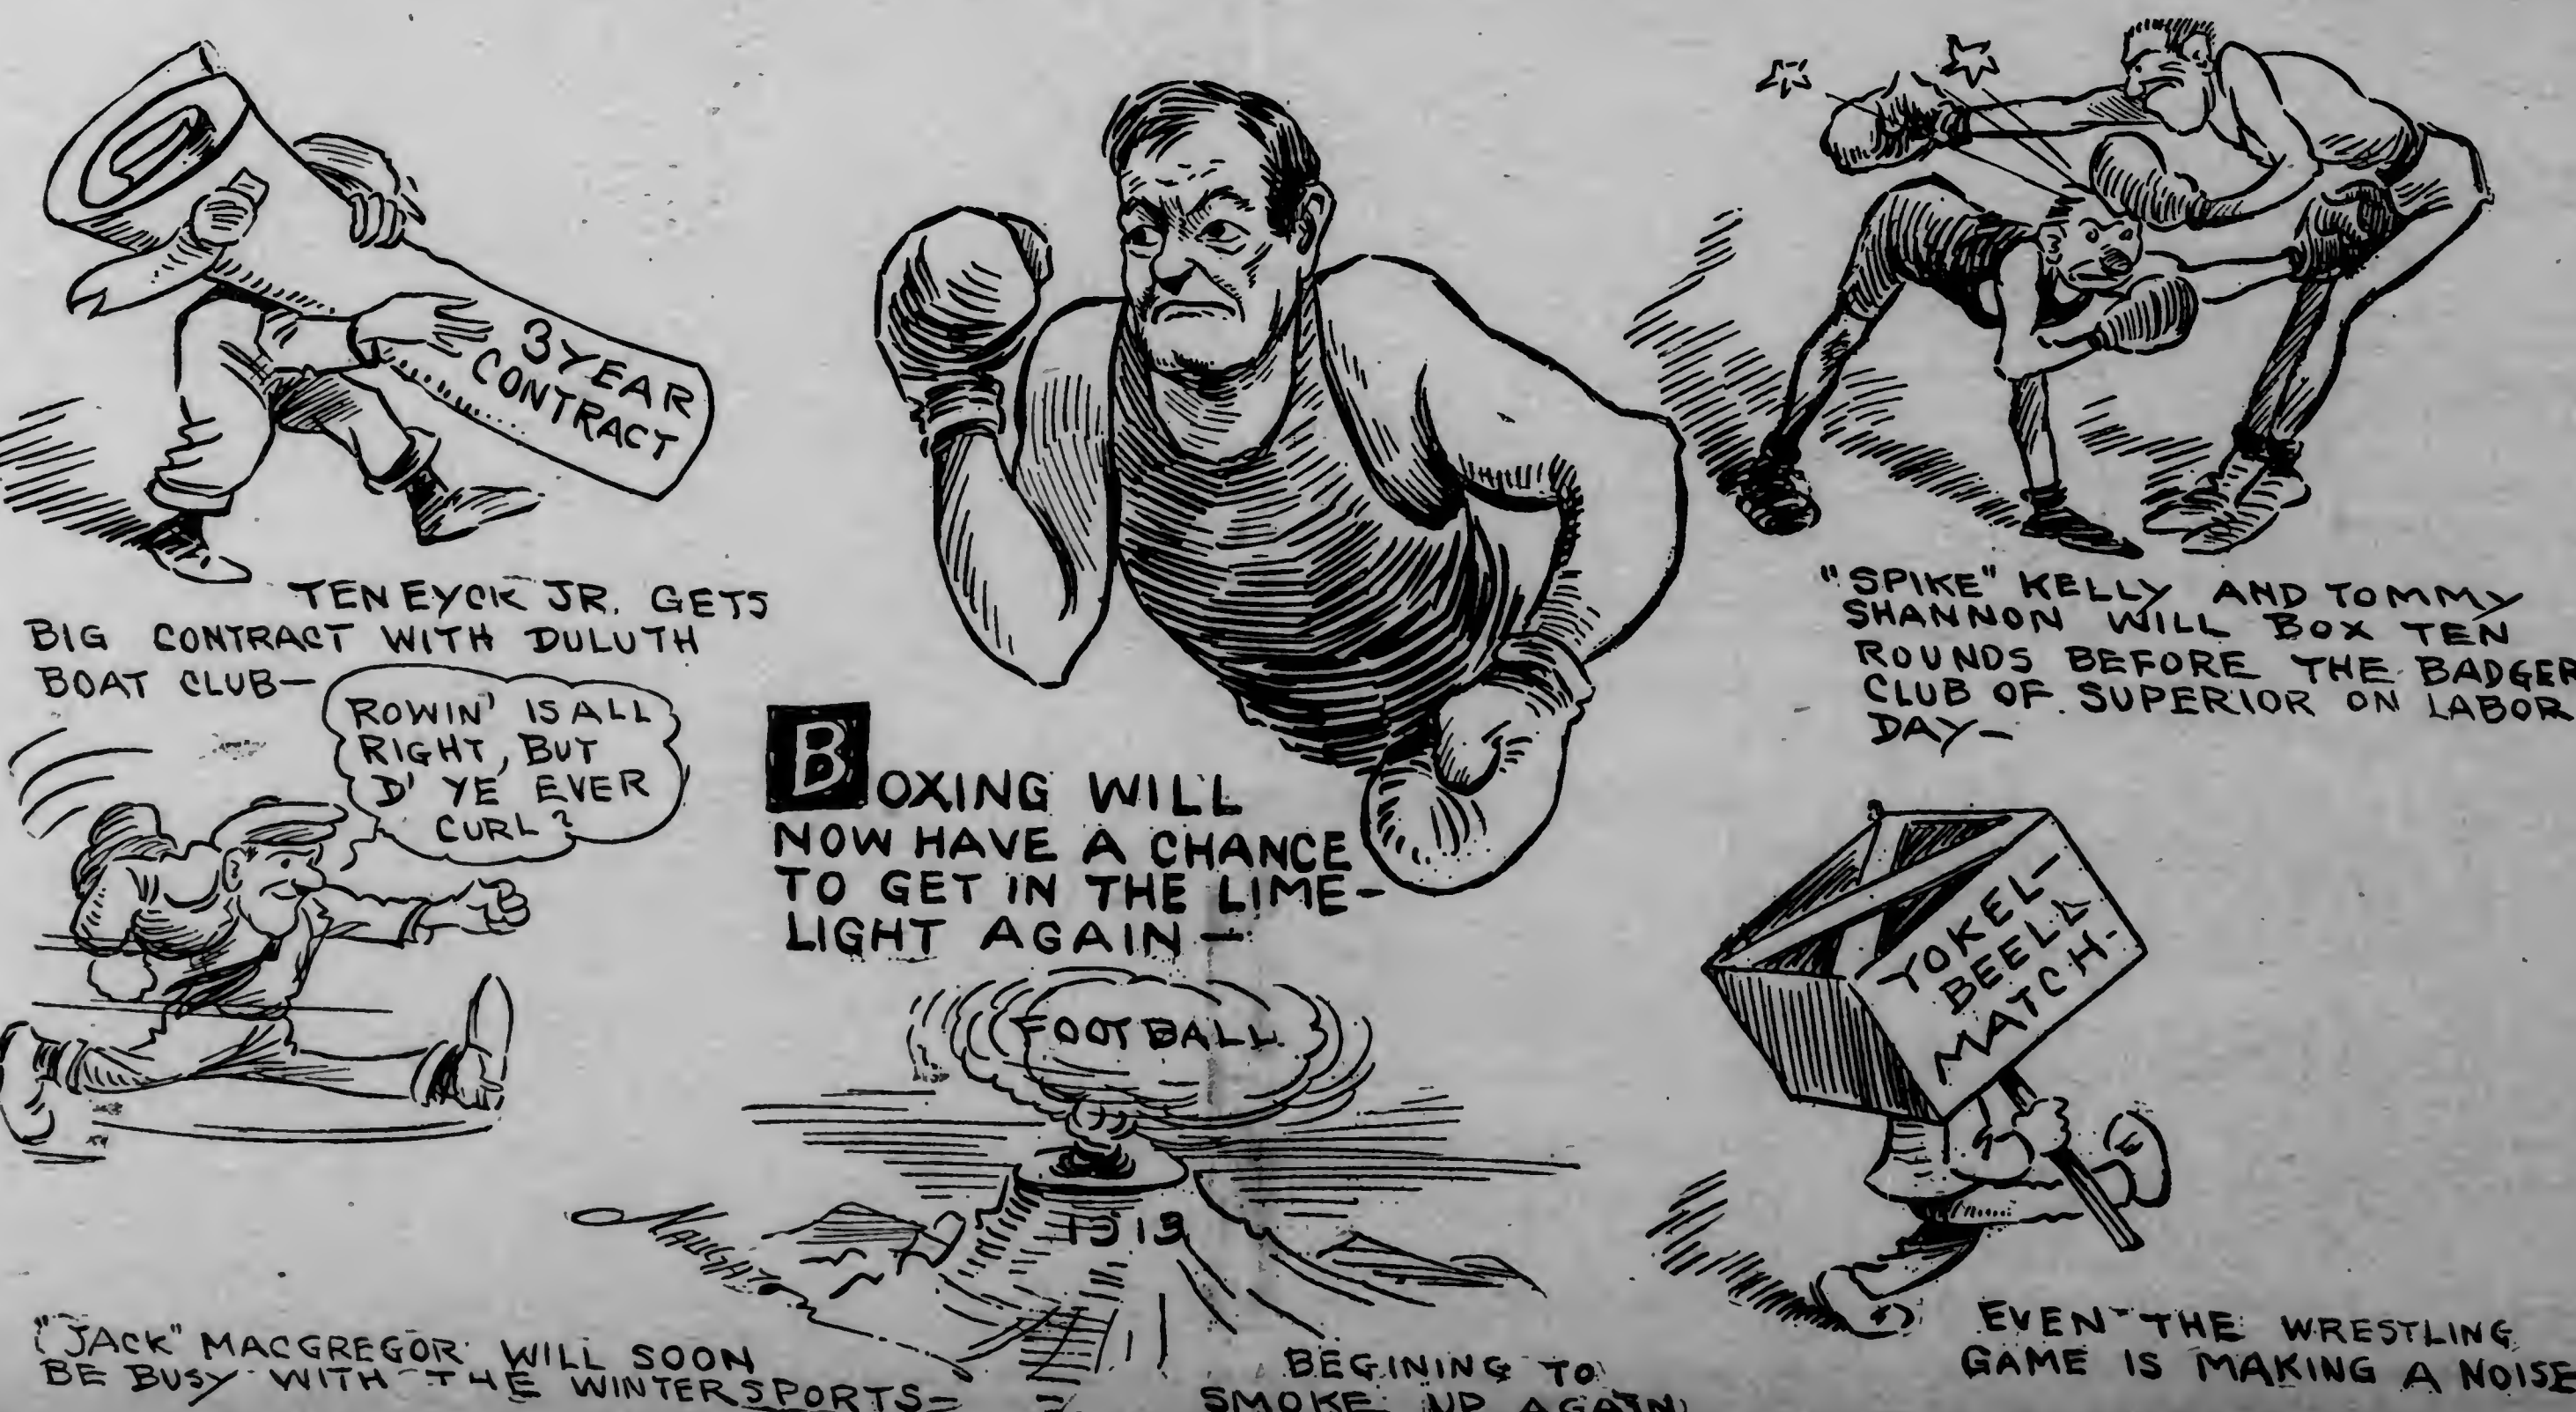

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 30.--Exclusive of those players obtained by major league clubs from minor league teams through optional agreements, 302 players have either been traded or purchased by major league clubs from each other, or from minor league teams, during the last year, according to a list handed down by the national baseball commission. A large majority of these represent purchases from the minor leagues, some of these players not yet having reported to their teams. All trades or sales from Aug. 20, 1912, to date, are included.

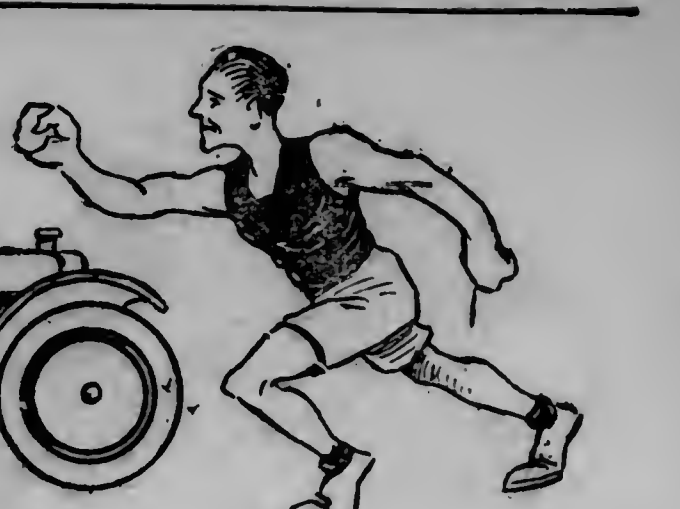

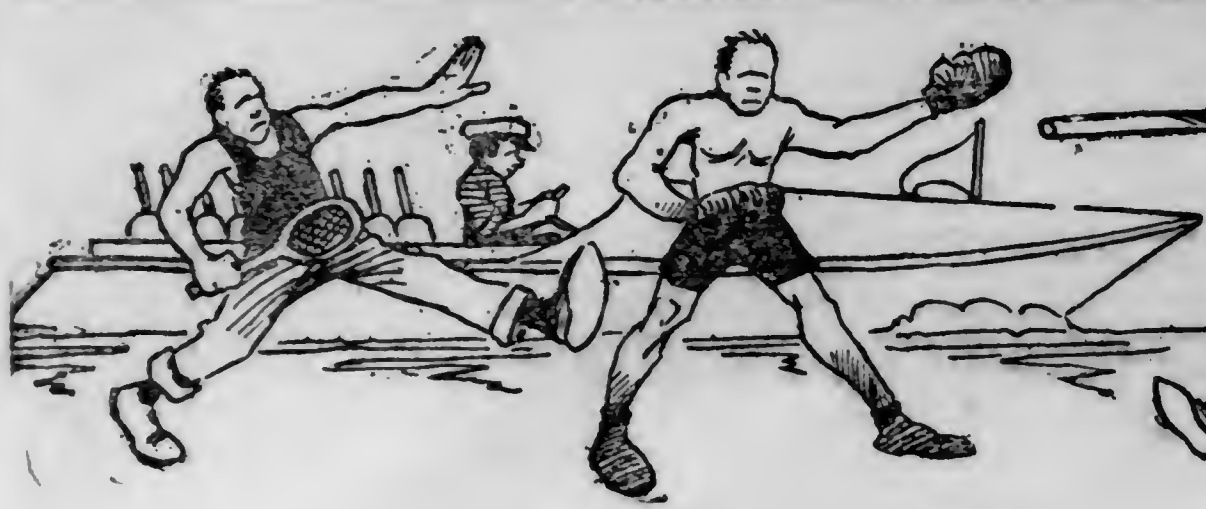

The American league teams carried off the honors, 161 players coming to them during the last year, while an even 100 either entered the ranks of the National league, or will when the deals or trades have been consummated.

The Boston Nationals lead in men obtained. Twenty-three players, new to the Boston National team, have been contracted for during the last mentioned period. Cincinnati comes next with twenty-one. Detroit is third with nineteen.

The commission also instructed the Nashville club of the Southern league to pay the Pittsburgh club $1,500 within three days for Player Arthur Hoffman. The commission allowed the claims of the St. Louis American league club against Player E. Walker for $27.25, and against Player C. E. Wares for $27.50. The players are now with the Montgomery club.

GOVERNMENT TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Up Question of Football Game.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—It took Secretary Daniels and Acting Secretary of War Breckinridge very few minutes to decide after they got in conference yesterday, to take a hand in the settlement of the question as to whether there is to be an Army-Navy football game this fall. After a very brief conference they announced they would ask the directors of the respective academy athletic associations to come to Washington Wednesday to discuss the situation.

Both Army and Navy officers have expressed the opinion that the game would be played as usual.

Secretary Daniels received a telegram from Secretary Garrison approving the proposed conference.

Navy's Attitude.
Annapolis, Md., Aug. 30.—A statement regarding the cancellation of the annual Army-Navy football game was issued yesterday afternoon by the executive committee of the Navy Athletic Association.

"The navy's attitude throughout," according to the statement, "has been a willingness to play the game at any point approximately midway between August 15 and September 15, and a reasonable number of seats could be provided. Franklin field came nearest to fulfilling the desire."

The Navy reply to the Army's suggestion that the game be played at the Polo Grounds, New York, was that "there seemed no justification for asking the midshipmen to spend sixteen hours en route during the day when the West Point cadets would spend only about four hours."

FAN DENIES THAT KEEWATIN WAS BEATEN

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald: I notice that Nashua has claimed the game played on their grounds last Sunday with Kewatin, by a score of 8 to 11. This I want to deny and set the truth before the fans.

The game was marred by much wrangling throughout, but it was not until the ninth inning that Nashua deemed it wise to start a dispute to save themselves from defeat. When Kewatin came to bat in the ninth the score was 8 to 11 in favor of Nashua. A man on second, two runs, and a hit for two bases along the third base line, the outcome of an attempt to catch the ball in fair territory, but it hit his glove and bounded foul. The umpire called a fair, which we held was so. Then the manager of the Nashua team, started to wrangle, so as to keep the home field he assumed that he had a right to word the umpire out with saying a word to the captain of the Kewatin team, and put in one

FOOTBALL COACH NOW SUPREME

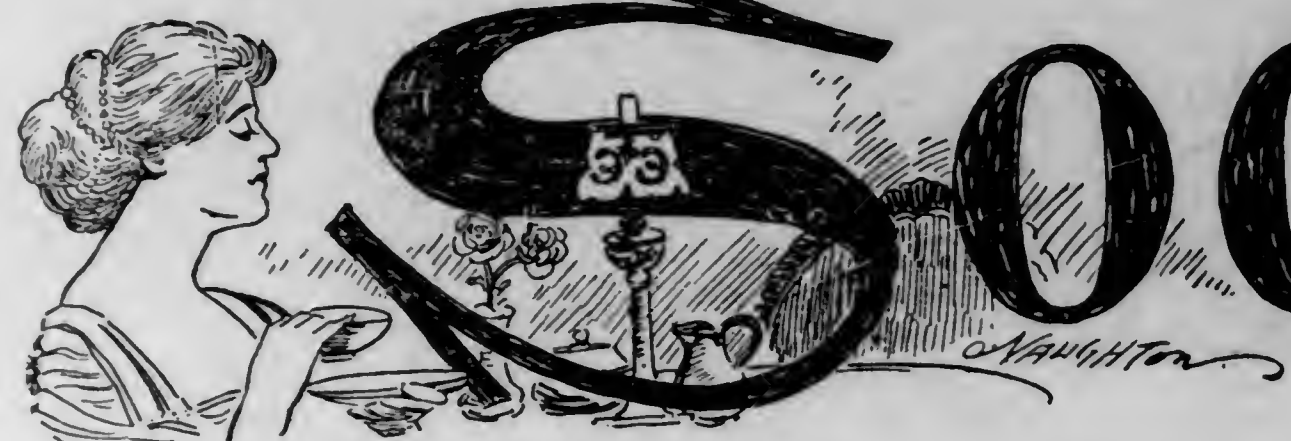

Position Not One in Which All Is Acclaim and Glory—
Serious and Hard Work to Develop Winning Team.

New York, Aug. 30.—During the next three months the football coach will rule supreme in the college campus and the gridiron. To the candidates for places on the eleven his word will be law, and to the non-playing student he will be the one person in whose hand rests the future of the university.

The position of football coach is not one in which all is acclaim and glory. The task of developing a winning team calls for serious and hard work, even under the most favorable conditions. Even with an abundance of satisfactory material the judgment and thought that must be given to the selection of just the right combination is but a small portion of the work. The first and foremost duty must be carefully drilled and trained in the end, if defeat comes in the final and the game of the season, the coach reaps all the blame. If the reverse is true his share of the glory is small and fleeting.

Without the football coach, however, football would fall far short of the scientific game that it is today. Every college and university has either an alumni coaching system, or an alumni of some other institution teaching the young men how to tackle, dodge, fall on the ball and the numberless other individual and combination secrets that go to make a winning team. The education of the player. Of the several hundred colleges in various parts of the United States less than a dozen are to play football with the coach left out. Even the leading high schools and preparatory academies have their paid coaches.

Fashion Reigns

The fashion of the present day demands that the complexion of the well-dressed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. To possess this necessary requirement invest at once in a bottle of and enjoy the charms that are so admired in a fashionable woman. GOURAUD'S Oriental Cream is a liquid powder far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whiten, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease, and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

GOURAUD'S Oriental Cream has been in actual use for nearly three-quarters of a century. This is the surest guarantee of its superiority. If you will use it regularly, you will know why it has been popular for so many years. At Druggists and Department Stores.

GUESS AGAIN, MR. VICE PRESIDENT

Vice President Marshall, whose fertile mind sprouts epigrams as a second field yields grain, said recently that "the trouble with Americans is that they squeeze the dollar too tightly."

Franklin P. Adams in the Chicago Evening Post very properly makes reply to this amazing statement, as follows: "One of the troubles with Americans is that they are ashamed to let anybody, from waiters up, think that they care anything whatever about a dollar or any of its multiples."

That's a shot in the clout, F. P. A. For once the vice president, with all his wisdom and vigorous thought, is absurdly wrong.

If there is anything the average American does not know how to do it is how to squeeze a dollar.

While the thrifty folk of Belgium, France, Germany and Britain keep the eagle on the dollar in a constant outcry of pain, the pressure of the average American on his coin is so light that the eagle keeps constantly in flight, and lives a life of joyous freedom.

It is a stupendous folly, too, and has more than a little to do with the much complained of high cost of living. It was no fair answer to the bitter appeal of the disinherited multitude to say that the cost of high living is more responsible for the trouble than the high cost of living; yet it bore much truth, this statement. The American comes by this habit naturally enough. It comes from the tradition that one American is as good as another, and better than anybody else. It roots, too, in the idea which prevailed when the continent was being raped of its riches by a few, that there was no end to the natural wealth of the country.

Hence it is that the nine-hundred-dollar clerk must live like the fifteen-hundred-dollar bookkeeper, and the fifteen-hundred-dollar bookkeeper must strive to emulate the five-thousand-dollar manager.

Hence it is that so many live as far beyond their incomes as tradesmen will allow, shutting their eyes to the Lord-knows-what that is to be visited upon them when their earning capacity ceases, suddenly or in the due course of nature.

Hence it is that no matter how much he may inwardly writhe, outwardly the true American on a thousand dollars a year must tip the porter and the waiter and the chauffeur as royally as though he were a golden prince of fortune.

Thrift is an offense. Providence is out of fashion. Saving is a vice. They are all grouped with parsimony in the category of solecisms.

The average American would be vastly better off, and so would the country, if he would learn how to squeeze the dollar a little more tightly, or would put a little rosin on his fingers to make the dollar stick better.

For his lack of squeezing dollars, the lack of dollars some time is going to squeeze the average American mighty hard.

But even so, it's a little early to begin studying Spanish as preparation for service in Mexico.

BROWN SUGAR AGAIN, PERHAPS.
Do you remember, when you were a lad, how you used to rush into the house during the forenoon, hungry from play, and beg mother for a lunch? And do you remember how she used to take a large, fat slice of bread, spread it liberally with butter, and sit over it and work into the butter a fine, soft brown sugar that made it a delicacy fit for the gods?

Of course you remember. But have you seen any of that toothsome brown sugar in recent years? When your lad comes in hungry and begs a "piece" does he get any such royal providence as you used to get? He does not.

The brown sugar of your youthful days has disappeared from the household.

Its going was due to the "Dutch standard," and to the machinations of the sugar trust, working through a complacent and obedient Republican government.

One of the features of the new tariff law that is about to be is that it abolishes the Dutch standard; and unless young people have lost the taste for it, presently they can have their bread and brown sugar and butter again.

The Dutch standard is simply a grading of sugar according to color, from the darkest to the whitest in sixteen shades. Several of the darker grades are suitable for household uses, and the reason your mother used to have them in the home was that they were cheaper and could be used for cooking. The fine white sugar was kept for the tea and coffee, though in many homes the brown sugars served all purposes.

The sugar trust is interested chiefly in refining. It cut into its business to have the cheaper brown sugars competing in the home with its highly refined white sugars. So by a clever manipulation of the Dutch standard, the Republican party and the government, the sugar trust had the tariff duties arranged so that one kind of sugar cost about as much to the consumer as another. As the brown sugars were no longer cheaper, because of this device, it was not profitable to import them any more; so boyhood lost its favorite delicacy.

And now it is to come back. Also, the household once more is to have the privilege, if it wishes to use it, of having several grades of sugar in the home—white sugar for finer uses, and brown sugar for cooking and to mix with rich butter on top of fat slices of bread for the youngsters.

If today's boyhood has the same discriminating appetite that boyhood had when you were a boy, the boyhood of today ought to be pretty strongly Democratic when it grows up.

It will owe its bread with brown sugar and butter to the Democratic party.

Kissing having been officially condoned by the Chicago health department, probably there will be less tendency toward indulging in that city. It is ever the forbidden fruit that is the most tempting.

JOHN LIND.
By the way, at the other end of the line in this Mexican negotiation stands a stalwart figure that is as notably admirable and efficient, in its humbler sphere, as the splendid figure of President Wilson at this end.

The figure is that of John Lind, Minnesota's first citizen, and the president did well to accord him warm praise for his work in the message to Congress which placed before the world the full story of this country's attempt to help its sister republic out of the coil into which it has unhappily entangled itself.

Lest it be said that our praise for the dignified and able work of our fellow-citizen is prompted by local pride, in lieu of further comment of our own we append this fitting word of praise from the Chicago Journal:

"Lind's handling of his difficult mission has been a masterpiece of quiet efficiency. The proposals he brought were rejected by Huerta, but Lind so managed that the whole civilized world knows and admits that Huerta is in the wrong."

"Lind refused either to bully or be bullied. He upheld his country's dignity without giving offense to the sensibilities of any rational citizen of Mexico. He made the thinking people of that unfortunate land understand that the great Republic of the north is their friend, and never more truly friendly than in refusing to acknowledge the blood-stained dictator who seeks to maintain himself in power by sheer terror."

"It was John Lind's work to repair so far as might be the damage done by the mischievous meddling and flamboyant folly of H. L. Wilson. That work has been done."

And well done.

From the way some of the crowd acted at Sherbrooke the other day, maybe John Lind won't necessarily be out of a job even when Mexico has quieted down.

UNIFORM COURT PRACTICES.
Federal and state judges from every state in the Union are conferring in Montreal today, at the meeting of the American Bar association, to form plans for a complete reform of the rules of pleading and practice on the law side of the supreme court of the United States, and all Federal district courts, for the purpose eventually of making uniform the practice in all the courts of the United States.

The aim, of course, is to simplify litigation and to reduce cost and delay to a minimum. And this is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

The legal profession, sad to say, has been the least progressive of all professions in this country, and it has permitted the accumulation of a mass of red tape and precedents that has often made courts of justice places where injustice is inevitable, and where those who win often lose as surely as those who lose.

The judges and the lawyers of this country could hardly be engaged in a better business than this.

The Krupps have offered $15,000,000 for the exclusive right to sell cannon in China, which indicates that the influence of the Carnegie Palace of Peace has not yet become overwhelming in all quarters.

THE KAISER JOINS THE BLUE RIBBON BAND.
The German emperor has quit drinking for good.

He is no reformed drunkard, for there is no evidence that he ever drank to excess. But like most of his people he was fond of the famous beers and light wines of the Fatherland, and, probably, he had the German habit of drinking without abusing the practice.

In passing, it might be said that all things considered, the American people are the most foolish drinkers on earth, and the Germans the wisest.

But hereafter, not even in moderation, will there be any touch of intoxicants in the Kaiser's drinks. His favorite tipple these days, the cable reports, is lemonade with a dash of orange juice; though he has not carried his reform so far as Mr. Bryan, and still serves his guests what they prefer.

The case is striking, not only because of the eminence of its subject, but because of the wisdom and soundness of the emperor's reason for abandoning the use of alcohol in any form.

As The Herald said the other day in a passing reference to the Kaiser's "reform," he quit drinking because he found that drink, even in moderate quantities, affected his efficiency as a human being, and therefore as the great ruler of a greater people.

"Some time ago," says the cable report, "the Kaiser demanded the latest alcoholic statistics as to suicides, accidents and crimes which resulted from immoderate drinking. After a study of these statistics he experimented on himself and found that even small quantities of liquor lessened his energy and capacity for work. Whereupon, with characteristic impulsiveness, he cut out alcohol entirely. He never misses an opportunity to decant on the value of temperance, and the result is that the members of his suite who like their wine touch it lightly when dining in his presence."

The Kaiser's experiments and his deduction are in entire accord with modern knowledge. Psychologists are familiar with similar experiments. For instance, there are recorded experiments where healthy men put through a course of sprouts with and without alcohol. It was conclusively demonstrated that even so moderate a dram as a single glass of beer caused a marked change. There was a loss of judgment, a dulling of the faculties and a loss of keenness and quickness of perception that was too marked to be overlooked.

The effect of so small a dose is, of course, temporary. So are the effects of larger doses. But it is pretty well established by experience that even though it is so slight as not to be discoverable at the time, there is a decided permanent effect which, augmented by habitual drinking even in moderate daily quantities, in time makes chronic these acute results of alcohol on the human system.

The Kaiser preaches by his example a pretty good temperance lesson. Nobody ever was the better for liquor. Millions have been made worse by it.

Those who let it severely alone adopt the wisest policy.

It doesn't seem possible that some congressman's objection to finishing both the currency and tariff matters this session is due to a fear that there will be nothing to do at the next.

THE PHILIPPINE PROBLEM.
Dean Worcester's report that there is not only slavery in the Philippines but that it is prevalent will be used as an argument, doubtless, by those who openly advocate a "leave-it-alone" policy as to the Philippines, with more or less disguised approval of the folly of permanent occupation.

The purpose of this nation is—or should be—to free the Philippines as soon as it can be done in honor and decency.

These island possessions are not only a profitless expense, but an actual peril. Our interest there brings this country into a dangerous area, and exposes it constantly to the menace of Eastern complications the end of which no man can see.

To Philippine freedom this country is pledged as emphatically as it could possibly be. Permanent occupation, which is what most of those desire who oppose early severance of the tie, is unthinkable because it is not only undesirable, but dishonorable.

The only question fit to be discussed is how soon the Philippines can safely be set free. The fact of slavery is important only as indicating the present failure of the Filipinos to measure up to our standards.

But if this country must wait until civilization in the islands has risen to our standards, how long a wait will it be? Decades, certainly; centuries not improbably.

It is time for the statesmanship of this country to apply itself to the problem of how to get rid of the Philippines. That is the actual problem, though it will not be expressed that way in the language of statesmanship. The pending bill provides for freedom in 1920. Perhaps that's too soon. Perhaps, if treaties could be arranged that would insure a hands-off policy in all other nations, it could be done sooner, but the Philippines are an awkward possession, and our ownership of them in trust is a charge from which we should free ourselves at the earliest possible moment. Only the dictates of humanity, and never those of greed, should bring about a single day's delay.

Edward Payson Weston having bought a farm in Minnesota, the rest of the country can say goodbye to him. He'll never be willing to get far enough away from there to walk across the continent again.

MISSOURI'S ROAD DAYS.
Through the efforts of Governor Major of Missouri, during two days lately a host of men all over the state turned out and worked on the roads. Unquestionably these men showed a fine public spirit. Unquestionably they worked up a wholesome sweat, got blisters on their hands that will do them no harm, and worked up splendid appetites for supper and sleep.

The value of the work they did on the roads is another question. We should imagine, on the whole, that it would not be great.

Governor Major, enthusiastic over the success of this celebration, wants all the states to take it up. He hopes to make the observance of Road Days next year as sure in all the states as Thanksgiving or Christmas.

It will do no harm if he succeeds in making the movement a national one, and doubtless much good.

But the good will not come from the road work thus accomplished. It must come through awakening public interest in the subject of good roads; and in this way the Major movement may achieve much.

There has already been too much amateur road work throughout the country. There is no more economy in amateur road-building of this sort than there would be in amateur house-building.

If Duluth should turn out its people for a couple of days and set them to building a city hall, it would get some kind of a building out of it, and perhaps it would be one that could be used for a little while.

But it would be the work of amateurs, and of amateurs improperly directed; and labor of that kind is of precious little value.

If Duluth needs a city hall—which goodness knows it does—the thing for it to do is to find the money to pay for it, an architect to design it, and a skilled constructor to build it.

The present good roads impulse is almost entirely toward increasing appropriations for roads, and that's wise and helpful.

But under amateur management and haphazard methods, such as those which prevail almost universally, money put into roadwork brings an average of something like fifteen cents' worth of road for each dollar spent.

If the efficiency of these expenditures could be doubled by expert workers, obviously the gain would be as great as if the expenditures were doubled.

In other words, it is as fruitful to get thirty cents' worth of roads for the taxpayers' dollar instead of only fifteen cents' worth as it is to spend two dollars instead of one; and plainly it is vastly more economical.

We applaud Governor Major for his effort to awaken public interest in good roads in Missouri and the nation. But we urge upon him less admiration for amateur road-building, and greater consideration for the need of making each dollar of the taxpayer's money bring a dollar's worth of roads.

Increased efficiency in road-making will not only bring greater results for the same expenditure, but it will encourage the taxpayers to let loose of still more money for roads when they know that it is to be fairly and effectively spent.

Honest, now, how would you like to be looking forward to going back to school next Tuesday?

A PRINCIPLE THAT AMOUNTS TO A LAW.
"In ten years," said G. E. Dickson of Chicago before the accident underwriters' meeting in that city, "private insurance companies will be a memory and the government will be doing the business, unless the underwriters wake up and meet the demands of the people."

To set an actual time for the accomplishment of such a change as that borders on a venture into the field of prophecy. But there can be no denying that Mr. Dickson has voiced a principle of public service that amounts to a law of nature.

History is full of instances of the operation of that principle. Even the forcing from King John of the Magna Charta was only the application of what Mr. Dickson has stated in more modern terms. The American Revolution was another example of it, for when those in authority in the affairs of the colonies overstepped the bounds of reason in their exercise of that authority, the colonists took matters into their own hands.

It has been the same in countless cities in this country where municipal ownership has taken the place of private monopoly and arrogance. It was that principle which led to the establishment in this country of the parcel post. And it is that principle which is operating to bring about government ownership and operation of railroads in Alaska and sooner or later throughout the country.

The lesson is one that public service managers, in many instances, have been slow to learn, and that some even yet refuse to recognize. But the principle is as old as society itself. Mr. Dickson's words may have startled the underwriters, but if it did it was only because they have kept themselves blind and deaf to the teachings of the past, and even of recent years. The difference is that today the principle is recognized and applied where heretofore it was only vaguely felt and blindly groped after.

Fifteen barrels of sauer kraut and over a thousand pounds of wieners were served at a picnic in Iowa the other day. And the chances are that there were some small boys who didn't get enough.

THE OPEN COURT
(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 50 words, and the editor reserves the right to write on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A MEAN QUESTION.
To the Editor of The Herald:
I would like to know through your Open Court column if you have heard anything from the West about another who went up the St. Louis river to get that nice big mess of fish and to let the fish eat themselves. I have been waiting to see the picture of them in The Herald for over a month.

A DANGEROUS SPOT.
To the Editor of The Herald:
I would like to call the attention of the people of Duluth to a dangerous spot that exists on Second avenue west, on the west side of the avenue, between the city hall and the post office. It is a very dangerous spot, and it is a very easy matter to get hurt at this place, and only a few days ago an elderly woman, well known in the city, stepped off the walk there and has been laid up ever since. It is probably not a very easy matter to regulate the construction of the sidewalk at this point, but it can be lighted so that pedestrians may guide their footsteps. The place is extremely dangerous for elderly people and for younger ones as well. I would suggest that a gas lamp be placed at the alleyway between the two streets, on the west side, so that the dangerous points may be seen at night.

PEDESTRIAN.
Duluth, Aug. 28.
When the Last Child Leaves.
For half your life you've labored with "the children" in your mind. Sometimes a little step ahead, sometimes a mile behind. And many a night you've pondered on the whiteness of the snow. But you did it, yes, you did it; raised 'em one and all, and now—

Lordy, but it's lonely when the last child leaves; The year is at the autumn and the very weather grieves; The skies are gloomed and raining, The whipped trees are complaining, And there's sobbing in the chimney and a weeping at the eaves. For oh! it's lonely, lonely, when the last child leaves.

There's a good deal of that feeling when the baby went to school, Or the big boy went to work (as independent as a mule). Or the girl went off to college, with her baggage and her trunk. But always there were comings-back. It never was like this!

So, oh, it's lonely, lonely, when the last child's left, The living room has suffered loss, the bedroom cries of theft, And the cheerful dining room becomes a sad, repining room. For every room is lonely when the whole house is hurt. So, oh, it's lonely, lonely, when the last child's left.

You cannot change the universe, you wouldn't if you could; Your link is in the chain of life, and somehow that is good. But you were first to them so long, in all their joys and cares, And now the last one's left you to remembrance—and prayers.

So, oh, it's lonely, lonely, when the last child's gone, Seems most like waste of time just living on and on. With no one left to do for, No one to love and adore, And you know the dusk around you is the twilight, not the dawn. So, oh, it's lonely, lonely, when the last child's gone.

Woodrow Wilson as Party Leader

From the Springfield Republican.

Such sensational manifestations of political anarchy as the Springfield many war remind one that the Democratic party came into power with a reputation for disorderliness and lack of discipline and unity which was obliged to live down in order to win permanently the confidence of the people. Divisive elements are still active within it; the feudist spirit is not dead; party ties hang loose in many states; personal ambitions and vanities here and there rival personal hates in obstructing the party's success as a governing organization. It isn't the disgraceful Tammany-Sulzer vendetta alone that tends to shake confidence; when we see the governor of Alabama deliberately imperiling the Democratic legislative program in the United States senate by making a temporary appointment to that body without unquestioned authority, in order to promote some friendly senatorial candidacy—heedless of all the appeals from the senate leaders—we again realize what a tremendous task President Wilson has assumed in taking over the national leadership of the party now in power.

To an unparalleled degree, the success of a political party in its great undertaking of governing the country seems to depend upon the ability, the insight, the determination and the power of a single man. The success of the Wilson administration in national affairs would make up for many failures of Democratic administration in state affairs; while Democratic discipline and unity would undoubtedly be promoted in all parts of the country in proportion as the Democratic president gained in the prestige of a triumphant leadership. The sum of it all is that the Democratic party sinks or swims with Woodrow Wilson.

The character and tendency of the president's leadership are becoming increasingly interesting and significant. That he is a man who measures up to the immense burdens and difficulties of his position is more widely believed today, doubtless, than six months ago when he was about to take office. His leadership of Congress has thus far afforded, perhaps, the severest test of the president's capacity. It may be said that, on the legislative side, the work is only begun. Not even the tariff bill has yet become law. The banking and currency bill is still in its formative stage in the Democratic caucus. Yet a surprising amount of prestige has already been won by Mr. Wilson because of the directing part he has played in the working out of the legislative program.

It is much to the credit of the president that thus far during the present session he has shown every moment of his own energy and ability in the control of his own congress, and to hold his party followers as strongly as possible to their task.

There can be no sort of doubt that this kind of leadership which presides at the passage of the tariff bill in the senate to delay indefinitely by state debate the passage of that measure moves him no more than protests against currency legislation at this session meet with the reply that it is the business of the Democrats to control their own congress to the end that they may pass bills through it. Having the whip hand, the president is not afraid to make a power play, and to hold his party followers as strongly as possible to their task.

Human trees there are that withered and one died. The power of God to see them. The zest, the delight of life has departed. Disillusionment is written on the faces of many weary folk who have made the full trial of what the world has to offer. They wear the expression the French call passé. They have drained the cup of human pleasures only to make way for faces at last over the dreary frown in the bottom.

There's ever more melancholy confession penned than that of Lord Byron at 37.
My days are in the yellow leaf
The flowers and fruits of love are gone;
The warm, the canker, and the grief
Are mine alone.

Am I wrong in declaring satiety and disgust to be the portion of the majority of those who spend life in carnal pleasure-seeking? My own observation at least points solidly to these conclusions. It is the sinners rather than the saints who are jaded in the end. A career of physical delights is more than likely to issue in acid disgust and self-loathing.

The impotence of mere things to satisfy is clearly enough proclaimed by the average face. The young man at the fair, Ennui, which has been described as "the want of a want and the complaint of those who have nothing to do," is the most common of the idle and the selfish. All the high flavors grow stale finally. The passing show becomes but vanity and vexation of spirit.

One may become wearied and blasé as he grows older—but he is under no necessity of becoming so. Life ought to be sweeter and fresher as the years pass. Enthusiasm should increase and not diminish. The best work, the mature judgment, the most selfless spirit, should come later rather than earlier. Spring is beautiful and summer is vivid but nature yields her finest fruitage in autumn.

A gray head still active and interested and enthusiastic is a better find than that of a bank note, to borrow Stevenson's comparison. Nothing betters us more than the testimony of a pilgrim who, having been over long stretches of the road, pronounces it good. Grandfathers and grandmothers retaining their delight in simple things, sensible to the beauty in nature, with kindly sentiment toward the world they live in, and doing something for its welfare—these are because of hope to the young generation. Their way shined more and more into the perfect day. They have entered into the increasing joy and peace that make the peculiar inheritance of righteous lives.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Trees Full of Sap.

The Psalter is a choice manual of devotion not merely for its spiritual insight but for the richness of its imagery. It is full of telling figures about the Almighty that bring home to the reader the fullness of His vocabulary, so refresh his soul as at this pure well of English undefiled.

"The trees full of sap," declares the Psalmist in happy phrase. He means that God is a good provider. There is nothing meager about the Almighty's provision for the world that he has made. He opens his hand lavishly to satisfy the desire of every living thing.

Elsewhere the good man is likened to a tree nourished by the bounty of God. "He shall be like a tree planted by the river of the Lord," which bringeth forth his fruit in his season, whose leaf also shall not wither. The trees and the God nourishes are juicy with sap and the men that are like them are fresh and vivid to the end of life.

Human trees there are that withered and one died. The power of God to see them. The zest, the delight of life has departed. Disillusionment is written on the faces of many weary folk who have made the full trial of what the world has to offer. They wear the expression the French call passé. THE ELUSIVE PARAMOUNT

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald).—It is a pathetic spectacle—the plier to whose strains the company will no longer dance, and doleful is the exhibition when the country will no longer hearken to issues presented by a political party. There is Jim Mann, minority leader of the national house of representatives, running up and down the earth in pursuit of a paramount. He reminds of the little plager who daily visited the Carnegie library and always called for the same volume. When handed to him he took the book to his seat and opened it at a certain page that displayed a royal Bengal tiger rampant chasing a pick-aniny in terrified flight. In gratified surprise the reader gazed a moment on the picture, and in gleeful satisfaction exclaimed, "Gosh, he ain't catch him yet!"

And Jim Mann has been chasing an issue ever since March 4 and hasn't "caught it yet." In the California case he sought to put the calendar in issue, but the country only smiled. The ghost of protection was invoked and it proved elusive as an issue. The agricultural schedule of the tariff was swept over by the benches of monopoly and the farmers only laughed, and now the Hon. Mann seeks a paramount in a private opinion Secretary McAdoo expressed not at all complimentary to Wall street. It is next. Nobody but a Republican ever defended Wall street in either house of the American congress.

And speaking of the agricultural schedule, it has been urged by some senators like McCumber that this phase of the tariff is sectional and that Southern products of the soil are treated better than Northern. There is not one word of truth in this. Cotton is the chief Southern agricultural product. It is on the free list, always has been on the free list. Corn is the leading product of the soil at the North. It is in the tariff in the present law and on the free list in the proposed law. Mark you, there is a great deal of corn produced at the North, and yearly the yield of that cereal at the South increases in quantity. The time is not very distant when Texas will grow more corn than Iowa.

Now, let us see how a tariff on corn and on cotton would operate. In 1911 the country imported 55,775,112 pounds of cotton valued at $2,939,575, and no duty was paid on it at the custom house. How about corn? That year we imported of corn 62,295 bushels, valued at $2,344,000. It paid a tariff of $7.344. At the same rate of duty that corn paid—over 20 per cent ad valorem—the cotton imported would have yielded a revenue of $587,915.

Thus you see that cotton can be protected by a tariff in far greater degree than corn. We imported only $250,974 worth of what in 1911 and then wheat for we import more of cotton in value than we do of both corn and wheat—more than six times as much. But the knaves will keep on charging and the fools believing that it is a sectional measure.

Asah, sugar cane is exclusively a Southern product. Under the proposed tariff that goes on the free list in 1915. Rice is exclusively a Southern product, barley is almost exclusively a Northern product. Under the proposed Democratic tariff the duties on both these articles are cut precisely in two.

Here are the three great Southern products—cotton, sugar, rice. The first absolutely on the free list, the second on the free list after 1916, and on the third the duty reduced one-half.

The Payne-Aldrich tariff is chock full of sectionalism. There is a duty on corn; there is no protection for cotton. The Northern farmer gets his binding twine free; the Southern farmer is heavily taxed on cotton ties. Why? Because the grain growers of the North were then in the inveterate habit of voting the Republican ticket while the cotton planters at the South voted the Democratic ticket. Let me tell you—it is no more certain that the sun will rise in the East tomorrow morning than that cotton would have a tariff "protection" and cotton ties be on the free list, today, if Mississippi and Arkansas had been as reliably Republican states when the Dingley and Payne tariffs were enacted as Iowa and Minnesota then were.

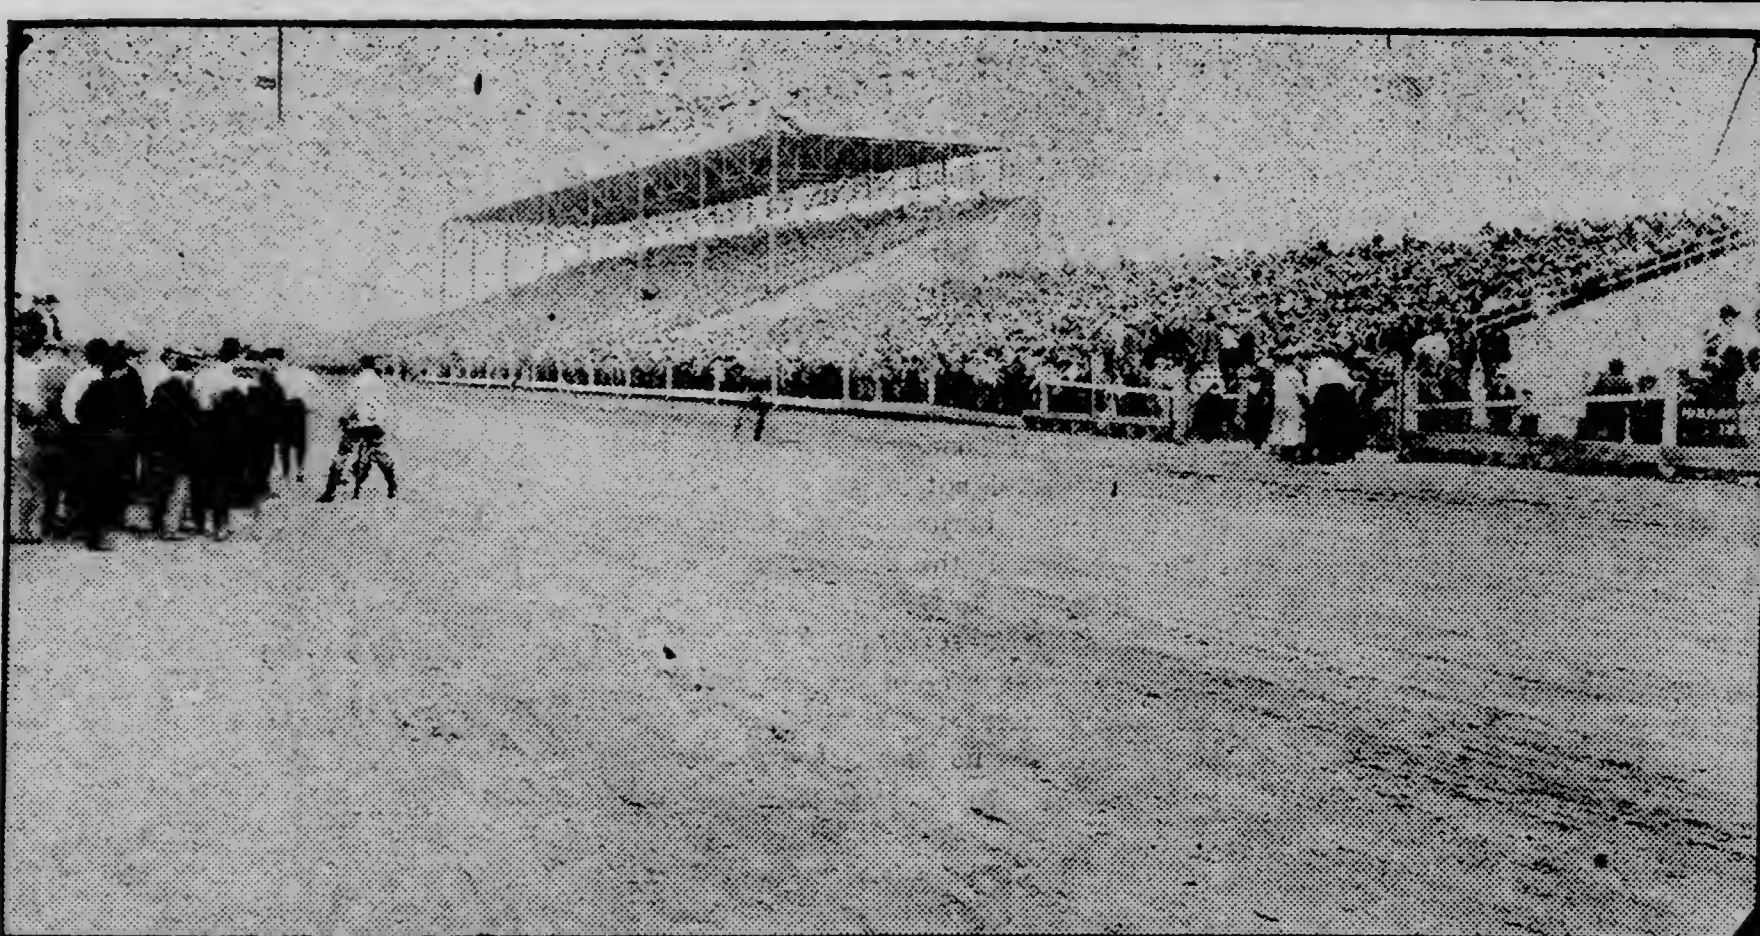

But what's the use of talking about it? Only the knave will say and only the fool will believe that you can, in factually "protect" cotton, or corn, or wheat, by a tariff. We produce a surplus of all those products, and the price is fixed in the market at Liverpool. We have to sell at whatever price the market will bear.

You can increase the value of the Kentucky mammoth cave by a tariff on the pauper caves of Europe as easily as you can increase the value of American cotton, or corn, or wheat, by a tariff on these articles.

The country has voted for tariff reform. The president has urged it. The house of representatives has voted it and we will get it as soon as the standpatters and the progressives of the United States senate will allow it. At present their motto is "the public be damned!"

But the country will get tariff reform. The people intend to see that it shall have a fair trial. In the philosophy of Penrose, Lodge, Gallinger and the other standpatters business is devilishly unpatriotic in not fostering a financial panic and industrial depression on the country.

MINNESOTA'S STATE FAIR OPENS MONDAY

CROWD IN MAMMOTH FIREPROOF GRANDSTAND.

Many people in the Northwest know that the fair held annually at Hamline is a big, helpful institution. Very few, however, know that the Minnesota State fair is unquestionably the greatest annual exposition held annually anywhere in the world. This is true, not only as far as gate receipts and attendance is concerned, but also in the matter of size and quality of instructive, educational exhibits and the number and quality of its amusement features.

A modern state fair is a celebration, a festival, a vacation, a recreation. This declaration was made by one of the best known authorities on the modern state fair, and is approved by the small army of men working to build up state fairs in various parts of the United States. The managers of the Minnesota institution believe in and are emphasizing this twentieth century spirit. They have proceeded on the theory that the fair must be the people's playground as well as the people's school, and by most liberal offering of premiums they have attracted from all parts of the country the best results in every line of industry. This they have placed in the most effective setting and have made all provisions for attracting people to it by unusual entertainment offerings. The whole is pervaded by a spirit of joyousness.

Exceeds Other State Fairs.
In its size and comprehensiveness, Minnesota exceeds the country's other state fairs. So is it better equipped in its facilities for entertaining great crowds. The grounds are situated midway between Minneapolis and St. Paul on land donated to the state by Ramsey county, and formerly used as the Ramsey county poor farm. There are 300 acres inside the fences and some forty acres outside, used for croquet, loading platforms, etc. These grounds are directly connected with the Minnesota Transfer and in this way have the best possible freight transportation. They are reached by street car from either city for 5 cents, and practically 600,000 people live within a 5-cent carfare radius.

On the 300 acres of land inside the fair grounds fences there are 106 buildings, large and small, that are used from year to year in addition to this there are always a large number of temporary buildings erected for state fair week, and hundreds of tents house exhibits, eating places and other concessions.

Of the principal buildings, the one that probably entertains the largest number of people during the week, is the grand stand building, erected at a cost of $240,000 five years ago. This structure seats 11,000 people in full view of the races and other entertainment features, making a total seating capacity of 25,000. In addition to the amphitheater the grand stand contains two show rooms of immense floor space. On the first floor of the building is housed the automobile exhibit, and on the second is the liberal arts display.

At the Coliseum.
The live stock pavilion, or coliseum, in the day time is the center of interest for those who come to exhibit or study cattle and horses. All of the judging in these departments is carried on in the show ring. At night the building is given over to the society horse show where the best known breeds of show horses from all over the United States take part in an entertainment which nightly attracts many thousands of people.

Other fireproof buildings on the grounds are the steel and machinery building, the largest unit of the world's greatest display of farm implements and inventions; the poultry building and the dairy building. The other large buildings, including the "big dome" building, the home of agriculture, and the horticultural building, although not fireproof, are carefully protected and are visited by several hundred thousand people during fair week.

The land occupied by the Minnesota State fair is valued at $238,127. The appraised value of the buildings is $751,500. The electrical equipment has a valuation of $23,475.94. Personal property on the grounds is valued at $24,132.22, making a total valuation of the plant and equipment of $1,718,125.94.

The upkeep of this immense plant is naturally expensive. Although no building has been burned in this year, the managers have expended $45,000 in small improvements and repairs and in the beautification of the grounds. In addition to this they have expended or contracted to expend practically

FATHER JAEGER'S BEES' NEST.

NEW HEADQUARTERS OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF AMERICAN YEOMEN.

$200,000 in preparation for the 1915 fair. For premiums and purses they have offered $51,000. They have secured the country for the best entertainment attractions. They have arranged for a number of startling new educational exhibits. In fact, they have spared no expense or work to make the 1915 fair the last word in expositions, and everything is now in readiness for the entertainment of 400,000 people during the week.

This Year's Features.
A few of the 1913 features are: Twelve great exhibition departments crowded with men and women's masterpieces. A short course of moving pictures in the beautiful building. Women's special entertainments and social gatherings at Rest cottage and women's headquarters. A state-wide baby health contest. A society horse show in the Coliseum.

Twenty-seven thousand five hundred dollars worth of horse races with Union, 1913, the world champion trotter, starting against the state record on Tuesday afternoon, as a headliner. Famous Frontier Days' show every night in front of the grand stand, concluded by magnificent fireworks. World's champion automobile drivers in fastest dirt track cars on Saturday afternoon.

Children's day on Monday with free exhibition by Twin City playground pupils in Coliseum. Stock judging, parades, ten bands and orchestras, free vaudeville acts, etc. This is what the Minnesota State fair has grown into. The greatest single educational and entertainment agency in the world. Is it surprising that even the men who fought for it in its infancy would be astonished at its size and popularity today?

The Work of Years.
It is easy to understand that this giant institution has not been built up in a year, or in a few years, and that it could not have grown to its present size unless it had been founded on right principles and supported by earnest men of broad vision.

The Minnesota Territorial Agricultural society, the progenitor of the present Minnesota State Agricultural society, was organized in 1853; held its first fair in 1855. Since that time, fair of increasing size and value have been held each year, with but few exceptions. For thirty years the institution had no permanent home, but held its annual exhibitions in different cities, including St. Paul, Minneapolis, Red Wing, Rochester, Winona, Owatonna and Fort Snelling. In 1885 Ramsey county donated the present site to the state and on Sept. 7-15 was held the first fair on the present grounds. This fair marks the beginning of a period of prosperity and greatness not equaled by any similar organization in the world. The popularity of the institution culminated last year, when 372,806 people passed through the turnstiles in six days. The managers expect 400,000 this year.

WHAT TO DO FOR RINGING IN THE EARS

"An anxious reader" from Buffalo has written:

"About ten months ago one of my ears commenced to have a ringing sound in it. It has continued ever since. There is no pain, but just this unpleasant ringing sound. I had a doctor examine it to see if any wax had collected on the ear drum. He said 'no,' that the drum looked all right. This noise creates a confusion in my head, and I am afraid it will grow worse and make me deaf. Will you please advise me as to what I shall do?"

The examination which your doctor made of your ear reveals that the outer ear canal is all right. That is, the wax is not present in any abnormal amount, and the surface of your ear drum is in good condition. If the outer surface of your ear drum is in good condition, your doctor would have found many particles of dried-up scales, scabs, and accumulations of wax mixed with a moist discharge. The ear drum, after he had cleaned out the ear canal, would have been inflamed. As he found none of these conditions, you can eliminate any ear trouble as existing in the outer ear canal. The ear is divided into three canals.

Now for the next step. The very fact that you can hear with your ears shows that the internal ear, to which the nerve of hearing is attached, is working. If it wasn't, you couldn't hear. With these two separate divisions of your ear not affected, therefore, the trouble points to your middle ear canal. In this there are three tiny ear bones which connect the drum membrane with the nerve of hearing. This middle portion of your ear has a canal about the thickness of a small goose quill that joins the ear with the throat. This is called the Eustachian Tube. It permits the air to circulate freely between the space in your middle ear and the outside air as you breathe.

From your letter, there has most likely been developed an irritation at the end of this canal, at its throat exit. This has resulted in considerable inflammation and discharge, which like at the throat, and then on up into the ear. When such a condition occurs it does not take nature many days to absorb the quantity of air within the middle ear cavity, which leaves a vacuum. This latter pulls and draws the ear drum in, whereas the ordinary healthy ear pushes the ear drum equally from both within and without, keeping the membrane nicely attuned.

It is when such a stopped-up condition develops in the Eustachian Tube that a marked ringing in the ears occurs. There may be some nasal trouble which would set up the irritation back in your throat, and thence on up into the ear. Sometimes a patient came to me complaining of earache and ringing which had lasted several years. He had been dropping Sweet Oil in the outer ear canal of the ear. On examination, after I had cleaned out the affected ear, I found the drum all right. I discovered that the nostril on the outer canal and the patient had been using a cherry-stemmed tumor. This had existed since childhood, any benefit. I discovered, after questioning, that when a child he had been hit with a baseball on that side of his nose, since which time his nostril was closed.

Free breathing was brought about at once. A nasal spray of Dobell's Solution, with Dobell's Solution, after questioning, that when a child he had been hit with a baseball on that side of his nose, since which time his nostril was closed. Free breathing was brought about at once. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FARMERS ARE SEEKING MEN

Anxious for Help to Man Red River Valley Threshing Machines.

Good Wages Offered But Idle Men in Crookston Are Particular.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—With scores of idle men here, farmers are having serious difficulty in hiring men enough to man the threshing risks. Nearly all of the machines are running short-handed, and men are refusing to go out for $3 per day. The men are independent, and before they can be induced to go out at all they catechise the farmers regarding the quality of the board, showing quarters, how many bundles of hay they have, the number of picnics in the field, etc., and then refuse to stir unless they can get just a little more than the farmers offer. The police are doing all they can do, and citizens are indignant.

Major Not in Sympathy.

There is a few in W. W. distillers doing a little quiet work and head this way because they know Crookston has a socialist mayor, but that official is not in sympathy with their tactics in inducing men to refuse to work, and the police are doing all they can to relieve the situation. If a laboring man has money to pay his board and stays sober, there is no way of compelling him to work if he does not want to. The police grab every one of the loafers who show any signs of drink, and drive many of them to the country on that pretext. The lack of men is seriously hampering work, and the situation is aggravated because the weather is ideal for threshing, and it is deplorable that men enough cannot be secured to save one of the best crops raised in years. The recent trouble at Minot has made many of the men ugly.

STRAY BULLET HITS BOY AT CROOKSTON

Its Origin Unknown and It Is Feared Boy Will Die.

Crookston, Minn., Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Late yesterday afternoon, while playing near his home, Elmer Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Larson, was probably fatally injured by a rifle bullet which entered the left side of his back, at the side of the shoulder blade. The physician called thinks it inadvisable to probe for the bullet, so the caliber is not known, and it is believed to be a .22. Where the bullet came from is a mystery.

Two Boys Suspected.

Chief Cook investigated and discovered that two boys, one nearly a man, had been shooting at a telegraph pole west of the Great Northern tracks, but it was impossible to learn their identity. The Great Northern pump man near the sawmill heard three boys whizz by in close succession. One struck the Larson house and another struck the boy. His condition is critical, and the incident has aroused public sentiment, as there has been previous complaint since the approach of the hunting season of boys practicing within the city limits.

PLEASANTER LIFE FOR WOMEN ON FARM

MISS MILDRED VEITCH.

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new plan of work is being proposed by the North Dakota Better Farming association in the establishment of a branch devoted to the welfare of the farm women. Some time Thomas Cooper, director of the association, has had this activity in mind, and Miss Mildred Veitch is to handle the work when arrangements for it are finally completed. In this department of work a plan will be adopted intended to place the rural women in touch with the same things that make city life pleasant. Miss Veitch is a Grand Forks high school and University of North Dakota graduate, and is well prepared for the work contemplated.

located in the east half of township 50-19, and the tracts are in sections 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 34, 35 and 36. On Wednesday the settlers who were interested in the proposition met with two of Mr. Culbertson's representatives at Peter Mattson's place in section 23, and the options were signed and executed.

Those Giving Options.

Among those giving options on their places were: John Jauppi, George Christensen, Isaac Lauri, Henry Machi, John Maki, Peter Mattson, Albert Mattson, Ernest and Samuel Spilk, John Karki, John Saari, John Jaakola, Mike Winlund and John Koskela.

According to the terms of the agreements, exploration work is to commence within ninety days and continue without interruption or the options being forfeited. There are no indications of iron in that territory, but it remains to be seen whether or not it is there in paying quantities, and it will require extensive drilling to show up the real value and extent of the ore bodies.

Young Italian Expected to Find It and Take It Home.

Would Furnish Means to Scoffs at Lombroso Theory of Definite Type of Criminal.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 30.—For trying to die like an ancient Roman, Salustio Venturini, native of Siena, Italy, is now on his way back to his homeland, after being confined in the Kings county jail.

Young Venturini is now 19 years old. Ever since he has been able to remember he has heard fabulous tales of the wealth to be found in America, the land where every Italian peasant hopes to make money. He made enough money to enable him to buy a little garden in Italy where he may spend his declining years. He saved all the money he could year after year, hoping that he, too, might some day be able to go to the land across the sea, where there was gold in abundance for those who would go to lift it from the streets. Bred in Siena, the province where the Italian language is spoken in its greatest purity, he was a reader and a dreamer, and every tale of the wonderful wealth in America found in him an eager listener.

Saved Money For Passage.
A few months ago he found he had saved up just enough money for his passage on a steamer, but practically nothing for expenses when he reached America. He took a few articles of clothing—not much, for he expected soon to return—and bade goodby to his parents, whom he made almost as enthusiastic as he was over the venture. Soon, he was on the boat, and never would have to labor any more.

A week later he stood on the deck of the ship as it entered New York harbor. There was a vast expanse of water, and he was young and vigorous and clean and he did not keep him there. With a number of other immigrants they put him on a ferry and brought him to the mainland. As soon as the boat touched the dock he jumped out and ran up the street. His baggage was behind him, but what of that? He wouldn't be long enough picking up his fortune to need it. Through one street after another he ran, trying to find the gold. It was not to be. Exhausted, his run dropped to a walk, and, as evening wore on, he was with great effort, he could drag one foot after another. He made his way over the Brooklyn bridge and finally found himself in the Italian colony. He asked for lodgings and was admitted.

His Ideal Shattered.
Early the next morning he was up again and out looking for his fortune with no better success than the first day. The third day and the fourth it was the same. His ideal was shattered. It seemed as if always his parents would have to live in poverty and work with their hands till the end of their days. He was a failure. The only thing left to do, he felt, was to die. But he could die nobly. On July 29, the fifth day after his arrival in the country, he stood up in his little room and bared his left forearm. Taking a sharp razor he drew three thin lines across his arm, severing his arteries. The blood spurted from the three gashes, but still he kept his feet. It was the way his ancestors in ancient times had died when they took their own lives. His knees trembled more and more—he was sinking to the floor.

A policeman—James Gallagher—saw him through the window and rushed in to him. He tied a handkerchief about Venturini's arm above the elbow, stopping the flow of blood. Then he called a physician, and the man was taken to the hospital.

Told His Story.
The facts were presented by the district attorney's office to the grand jury, and an indictment was returned against him for the crime of attempted suicide. Still weak and with his arm bandaged, he was arraigned before county judge Dike. He made no attempt to deny what he had done, but pleaded guilty. His wild, improbable tale was found to be true, upon investigation, and he was sentenced to prison—this time for sentence.

There was no case for him to go to, where he would be taken care of. If someone could be found to pay his passage back to Italy he would surrender practically upon the spot. Deportation society, of which Court Interpreter Giambalvo is an officer, took up the case. The Italian consul became interested and funds were raised to buy a ticket back to Italy. He was taken to Manhattan by the county detective, who has had charge of his case, and put upon a vessel bound for Naples.

DIRECTORS OF TRAFFIC IN THE DULUTH HARBOR WHERE THOUSANDS OF TONS ARE HANDLED DAILY

(1) Lookout Tower of Tug Office on Bay Front, Showing Tugs Lined Up Ready for Action. (2) Capt. George H. Vroman, Superintendent of the Union Towing & Wrecking Company in Duluth. (3) George W. Johnson, Day Dispatcher at Tug Office. (4) Tugs Taking a Barge Out Through the Duluth Ship Canal. (5) Capt. H. C. Inman, Harbormaster and Cashier at Tug Office. (6) Tugs Record and America Breaking Ice and Towing the Peavey Into the Harbor.

It might take a squad of policemen to direct the traffic on Superior street during busy times of the day, but three or four men, housed in a little tower on the bay front, direct the immense volume of traffic moving about in the Duluth-Superior harbor.

These men, by a simple word through a megaphone, change the course of a boat moving through the harbor. They know what docks are idle and what are busy, and they transmit their knowledge to the captains of the incoming boats, that the boats would be kept on the best side of the harbor.

The tug office, at the foot of Seventh avenue west, is the center about which harbor activity swings. In front of the office are lined up the powerful tugboats that "snake" the big freighters in and out of difficult places.

These minute men of the harbor are on the job all the time, and they are sent to the foot of the big boats that "snake" the big freighters in and out of difficult places. The tug office is the only place where they can get news of the harbor.

Not only do the tug men summer months do the tug work, but they are the last boats to tie up in the winter and the first to break through the ice in the spring. They make it possible for the larger boats to get through the ice when they are stopped at the entrance to the harbor, and they free the boats inside that have been held.

PAUL REVERE WON FAME BY HALF AN HOUR

He said to his friend, "If the British march by land or sea from the town tonight, hang a lantern aloft in the belfry arch of the North Church tower as a signal. One if by land and two if by sea."

Kansas City Times: Of course you remember what made that classic remark—certainly, it was Paul Revere. And then he was always seated under a rainbow and Mary and John interceding (made out of all manner of kinds of confect and sugar) and ever so many more, all very large and very appetizing to look at. At least a dozen of the lesser tables. These ornaments were finally distributed to the morning guests.

The feast was probably the most remarkable ever occurred in Barchina. We are further informed that there were 2,500 women persons, nobility and high burgers, and during the four days, and 1,880 horses foddered.

An Exciting Boat Trip.
That trip by boat across the river must have been exciting enough; the moon was out, and Revere and his friends knew that any minute a musket ball from the warship might lay one of them low. Swiftly and with muffled oars, dipping the water as they might and seeking the shadows, they crossed the river and landed safely. Friends were waiting to meet them and they told Revere two lanterns had been displayed in the North Church tower. Then a horse was procured and he rode away to Lexington and Concord, making the great day.

It is not generally known that Paul Revere had an understanding on this midnight ride, a certain William Dawes had been dispatched, also on horseback, to ride by land across the "neck," and up to Lexington and Concord. Warren, who sent Revere and Dawes, gave both men the same errand because he feared one of them would almost certainly be captured by the British. Neither one was. Revere arrived in Concord a half hour before the British forces had ridden just as hard and ridden a greater distance, was immediately forgotten, while Paul Revere had made for himself a niche in the hall of fame.

CENSUS OF THE INDIANS

Attorneys Will Make Roll of the White Earth Allotments.

Brother of Secretary Daniels in Charge of Indian Cases.

Gordon Cain, an attorney in the department of justice of the United States, and R. J. Powell of Minneapolis, attorney for defendants in the White Earth Indian land cases, will make a roll of the Indians allotted within the White Earth reservation, in accordance with an act of congress adopted at the last session.

The appointments were made today by Judge Page Morris of the United States district court, acting on recommendations presented by G. S. Daniels, attorney for the government in charge of White Earth Indian matters.

Mr. Powell appeared with Mr. Daniels. Under the terms of the act of congress a roll is to be made of all the Indians on the White Earth reservation, with special reference to age and blood status. The two commissioners are to agree on the age and blood status in all cases possible and cases of Indians on whom they are unable to agree will be submitted to the court for determination.

Permanent Record. After the roll is completed it will be adopted as a permanent record of all Indians on the reservation. It is expressly provided that the roll shall not be accepted as evidence or brought into evidence in any court, but it will be invaluable in future cases of the same kind. The roll will be the investigation of the commissioners will undoubtedly have an indirect bearing on the cases now in court.

Mr. Cain and Mr. Powell were selected by the commissioners to make a large fund of information in regard to Indian affairs that they have already collected. Cain has been working on the Indian cases for the department of justice for some time and has already collected much of the information necessary for the roll. Mr. Powell has been conducting similar work on behalf of the defendants in the land cases and he and Mr. Cain will be able to agree on the age and blood status of many residents of the reservation without further investigation.

The court comments on that phase of the matter in the order of appointment. Thereupon the said C. S. Daniels stated in open court that his work on behalf of the government in the White Earth Indian cases is exceptionally well qualified for the duties to be performed by him. He said that he has been working on the Indian cases for some time and that he has been able to collect much of the information necessary for the roll.

Mr. Daniels, who is a brother of Judge Morris, has succeeded Judge M. C. Burch in charge of the Indian cases. He says he is able to do the work expeditiously and thoroughly and he has no doubt that the cases will be pushed to trial as soon as the preliminaries are disposed of.

Awaiting Decision. "Just now we are waiting for the decision of the court of appeals on the case of Judge Morris," said Mr. Daniels. "The decision of the court of appeals is expected today. The appeal was argued last January, and a decision has not yet been obtained. That decision will dispose of a large number of the cases pending before the court."

"In the meantime we are picking up the odds and ends. We are going over the docket, checking up on the cases and preparing for trial. As soon as the decision of the court of appeals is obtained we will be ready to go ahead with the trial of the cases."

There are about 1,500 of the Indian land cases on the docket of the United States district court at Fergus Falls. Three of the cases were tried and decided as test cases and appeals were taken to the court of appeals. Judge Morris held in his decision that one-eighth white blood or more constituted mixed blood. Obviously, under his decision, an Indian of less than one-eighth white blood is considered a full blood under the law. The court of appeals has been called upon to pass on Judge Morris' decision in that respect.

TO SEEL FIRE KILLED TREES

Uncle Sam Will Offer Timber on Burnt Over Lands.

S. J. Colter, chief of the field division of the United States land office, with headquarters at Duluth, has received instructions from the department of the Interior at Washington relative to the sale of fire-killed or damaged timber on the public domain outside of national forests, as authorized by the act of congress passed March 4 of this year.

The act passed by congress on March 4 permits the sale of all timber killed or seriously damaged by fire on lands outside of national forests, which the department of the Interior has jurisdiction. The law is applicable to all of the public lands in the states and the territory of Alaska.

Under the rule and regulations set down by the department of the Interior, which have been sent to Mr. Colter for his guidance, the following:

"The chief of the general land office, under the supervision of the chief of field divisions, shall at once make a reconnaissance cruise of the above-described timber, upon lands not within unperfected claims and unperfected selections and grants, in order to obtain an approximate scale of timber for the purpose of sale. They shall also blaze the outside corners of the area to be cut over or otherwise mark the outboundaries, so that they may be readily distinguishable on the ground."

After an approximate estimate of the timber to be sold and the cost of disposing of the debris has been obtained, the chief of field divisions shall then offer the same for sale, under sealed bids, by advertisement for a period of not less than thirty (30) days.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check for at least 25 per cent of the amount bid, said certified check to be made payable to the chief of the general land office, and shall be retained by the chief of field division until the bond required, or better insofar provided, shall be filed, and a contract of sale entered into.

"Immediately upon notification of the approval of a sale by the secretary of the interior, the work on division will cause an agent to go over the area from which the timber is to be cut and with the agent or his representative, and designate the timber to be cut under the act, and shall also point out the boundaries of the land as blazed or otherwise marked by the timber cruisers, made the appraisal. Cutting may then be commenced."

The purchaser shall keep a record of the amount in board feet of timber cut and shall submit monthly report to the chief of field division.

GOVERNORS INSPECT WORK OF CONVICTS

Close Meeting in Colorado With Utilities Law Discussion.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 20.—Governors from twenty-five states who have been attending the conference of the governors which was held here yesterday, devoted the last few hours of their stay in the city to studying the convict system of road building, which is being considered by many states at present. Following the closing of the conference, the governors were taken on an automobile tour over several miles of highway constructed by the convicts. They were the Governor E. M. Emmons of Colorado and Governor E. F. Dwyer of Kansas.

This morning the governors left for Denver to be entertained by the chamber of commerce.

Dinner on Utilities. The feature of the last session of the conference was an address by Governor Edward F. Dwyer of Illinois, who spoke on the "Growth of the Public Utility Industry." His address was an extensive treatise on the development of the plan in the various states, more particularly since 1905.

"The tendency is plainly in the direction of the control of public utilities," he said. "The movement is advancing by leaps and bounds and I believe that in a few years there will not be a state in the Union which has not a public utility commission, empowered by law to control the service and rates of the corporations of the state."

Where Comfortable Farms Can Be Rented for

Life is cheap within the boundaries of the colony. Comfortable farmhouses, with gardens and barn-studios, may be rented for $50 a year, and there is an abundance of land for sale. The Etapes at which the gossip of the French and English colonies meet, and Le Touquet gather many persons of wealth and fashion, and there is golf and tennis, and the most brilliant of the annual summer picture exhibitions, which began six years ago in the parish room of the Protestant church at Paris Plage, is now one of the most famous shows in the French provinces.

Duluth realty showed substantial improvement during the week just passed according to local operators, who report that a good sized volume of sales were put through. Building lots and moderate priced houses in all sections of the city were in demand and the movement in acre-tracts was also fairly heavy.

Houses are still scarce. Not only the moderate priced house is scarce but the even better class of residences is very much in demand. The demand for houses has been particularly strong," said John A. Stephenson yesterday. "The rental business has been very good and the same is true of the loan business."

While the real estate market has not been a particularly active one during the past few days, it has shown many encouraging signs of improvement. For instance the own-your-own-home idea seems to have taken a firm hold of those who have been paying rent for years and many are now planning homes for next season. Outside purchasers of property have also stated their intention of making Duluth their permanent abode.

West Duluth property is showing some activity these days. Dealers in that end of the city advise that building lots in the desirable residence section of the suburb are commanding a good figure. The $50,000 parochial school which will be built at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elmer street this fall will enhance the value of the property in that neighborhood.

Among the sales of the week in residence properties were the following:

From Charles M. Magnuson to Ray G. Fisher, frontage of fifty feet on the lower side of London road, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east. Consideration $1,200.

From Frances S. Coulter to Stark Jacobson, residence and 50-foot lot at 1121 East Second street. Consideration not given.

From Alfred Fournier to John Miller, house and frontage of thirty-six feet on the west side of Elmer street, east between Seventh and Eighth streets. Consideration $1,600.

From John M. Johnson to Gustaf A. Erickson, property fronting thirty-five feet on the east side of Seventh avenue east between Seventh and Eighth streets. Consideration $550.

From the Western Land association to Emil H. W. North, frontage of 100 feet at the southeast corner of Sixteenth avenue east and Eighth street. Consideration $1,200.

From Ole Haugsted to Charles Abel, house and frontage of thirty-five feet on the east side of Twenty-first avenue west between First and Second streets. Consideration not given.

From Ernest W. Day to George W. Morgan, frontage of 100 feet at the northwest corner of Vista street and Fay avenue in the normal school district. Consideration $1,200.

From Dr. J. B. Weston to F. F. Bolton, through Pulford-How & Co., residence at Twenty-second avenue east and Superior street. Consideration not given but understood to be about $10,000.

From Margaret D. Edwards to Henry H. Nesbitt, house and 50-foot lot on the lower side of Seventh street between Second and Third avenues east. Consideration not given. Elbert Walker & McKnight company represented the seller and A. A. Fidler the purchaser.

Wilson G. Crosby, an attorney of this city, has purchased a large number of lots in Superior and several parcels of land in the Superior city limits. About 410 acres of Douglas county land is included in the deal.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR WEEK SHOW GOOD GAIN

Signs of Activity Predicted for Fall Season Appear.

Architects Are Working on Sketches for Important Work Contemplated.

Building permits for the week showed a substantial increase over the figures for the preceding week. During the present week, thirty-eight permits were taken out for improvements estimated to cost $40,391.

Architects who have been taking their annual summer vacations are now back on the job and are now busy getting out sketches and plans for new construction. Several good sized projects are understood to be under way at the present time.

Building men are optimistic with regard to the local situation this fall. Duluth has experienced a quiet summer in the building trades and with the advent of the cooler weather and the passing of the annual summer lull in business, some interesting developments are expected.

Building permits will not be taken out for the houses which the Minnesota Steel company will build on the model townsite for its workmen near Spirit Lake as a result of a ruling by the city. In August, 1910, the steel corporation took out a permit for the construction of the plant. The steel company now contends that the big permit covers the houses and has refused to take out individual permits. The city attorney concurs with the steel company in the matter and has notified the building inspector that all the plans of such type of houses it purports to erect and on what lots.

Holstead & Sullivan, architects, have plans out for figures this week for a $60,000 brick parochial school building for the St. James Catholic parish to be erected on the northwest corner of Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elmer street. The building will be a two-story affair with basement. It will contain twelve rooms, including a large auditorium and gymnasium. The building will be erected in the same block with the James church and parochial residence.

Improvements at the union station for which contracts were let this week will cost in the neighborhood of $9,000. One contract was let for $4,000 for putting a wire mesh over the roof of the main shed. An additional $5,000 will be spent in bettering the drainage facilities and in redecorating work about the station.

Northern Pacific railroad construction crews are at work building yards just east of Fifty-sixth avenue west and near the Zenith Furnace company's plant, and in doing track and relaying terminal tracks along the West Duluth bay front. On the north side of the tracks leading to Grassy Point, about 400 men are employed.

W. P. Hill of Superior was this week awarded the contract for the construction of a $10,000 warehouse and boiler room for the Galena Signal Oil company of Kansas City, which will be erected on Winter street, near Hillon baseball park and the Northern Pacific tracks. The structure will be 33 by 60 feet, with a boiler room, 20 by 30.

Announcement was made this week that William Abrahamson, manager of the Empress and Savoy theaters, had secured a site for a new moving picture theater at 311 West Superior street, to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The theater will front on the north side of West Superior street and will have an elaborately decorated front. Work will be started in the near future.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railroad company will build a brick veneered engine house between Birch and Nelson avenues, Rice's Point. A permit authorizing the construction of the building was issued this week by the city building inspector. The cost will be about $8,200.

W. P. Alfred, Jr., architect, has prepared plans for a number of cottages to be built in the west end and this fall for the Duluth Building & Loan company.

The Duluth Realty company has taken the contract for the erection of a $4,000 house on Woodland avenue in the normal school district for F. A. Schulte.
